Safe-Driving Day Fatalities Mount Slowly

Maryland's Record Unmarred As Death Count Reaches 38

[By The Associated Press]

Safe-driving Day entered its final phase Thursday night with a toll of at least 38 traffic deaths. Sponsors of the nationwide experiment in traffic safety said the figure produced no "cause for elation."

The National Safety Council issued an official list of 33 dead between midnight Wednesday night and 9:30 p.m. EST Thursday.

But The Associated Press survey showed that in the same period of time there were at least 38 traffic fatalities.

No Deaths In Maryland

The Associated Press survey showed the following state-by-state toll:

Alabama 1, California 3, Florida 1, Idaho 1, Illinois 2, Indiana 3, Kansas 1, Louisiana 2, Michigan 2, Minnesota 1, Missouri 3, New York 2, North Carolina 1, Ohio 6, Pennsylvania 2, Tennessee, 4, Washington 1, West Virginia 1, Wisconsin 1.

A spokesman for the safety council said though the figures appeared to be low as S-D Day moved into its final phase, there was need for caution in expressing optimism that there would be an appreciable drop from the daily average in deaths on streets and highways. He said the threat of bad weather and the normal hazards of nighttime driving still could change the figure substantially.

51 Died On First S-D Day

The President's Committee for Traffic Safety designated today as S-D Day to dramatize the idea that careful driving and walking can save lives.

Civic authorities throughout the nation were cooperating.

For comparative purposes The Associated Press counted the traffic fatalities for Thursday, Nov. 17. The 24-hour total was 69.

An average of 101 persons died in traffic deaths daily during the first 10 months of 1955. The one-day effort is intended to show that the casualty toll can be cut if everyone makes an extra effort.

On the first S-D Day—last Dec. 15—51 persons were killed in traffic accidents.

French Radical Socialists Vote To Expel Faure

PARIS, Dec. 1 (AP)—Radical Socialist party leaders today voted to expel Premier Edgar Faure because his government's decision to dissolve the National Assembly flouted party policy.

The move will make no change in the dissolution procedure, nor will it require Faure to give up his place as premier.

In the forthcoming election—for which no date has yet been set—Faure will be able to run under the same party label as he did in 1951. At that time he was listed as a member of the Rally of the Republican Left (RGR), a loose alliance of Radical Socialists—who actually are moderates—and smaller parties.

Mendes-France Leads Move

Faure is president of the RGR and its leaders are resisting efforts of the Radical Socialists, under the leadership of ex-Premier Pierre Mendes-France, to dictate its policies.

Faure's ouster was announced in a communique issued after a meeting of the Radical Socialist Steering Committee. Accusing him of "persistent indiscipline," it charged Faure had led "the maneuvers destined to provoke slapdash elections with an obscure and unpopular election system."

The order takes effect immediately but must be ratified later by a two-thirds majority of the party's 36-member Executive Committee.

Election Controversy

Mendes-France has been warring openly with Faure since the Premier recently proposed holding general elections in December instead of waiting unti. the Assembly's regular five-year term expires next midyear.

Opposition to this proposal led to Faure's defeat on an Assembly vote of confidence Tuesday night. But instead of resigning, as is customary, the Premier's Cabinet decided to order dissolution of the Assembly and force its members to seek re-election.

Navy Diver Trapped Nine Hours Rescued

SOLOMONS, Md., Dec. 1 (AP)—Numb with cold, a 35-year-old Navy diver in the Patuxent River tonight after being submerged nearly nine hours on what was to have been an 18-minute dive.

Fifteen other Navy Divers, working in relay teams of three each, finally disentangled Joseph R. Tallarico's snarled lines from a sunken anchor and he was hoisted slowly to the surface.

Tallarico, whose chief complaint during the long rescue operation was that, "It's cold as hell down here," was placed in a decompression chamber at the Navy's diving school here to ward off the "bends."

Limp When Brought Up

Although he appeared limp when hoisted aboard a 40-foot diving launch and stripped of his heavy gear, Tallarico soon sat up and smiled. Shortly after he was placed in the decompression chamber reporters, peeking through a porthole, observed him sipping hot coffee and talking with a doctor.

The black-haired chief metalsmith, a Navy test diver with 10 years experience, only recently recovered from minor surgery and his wife, Carmela, told reporters:

"This was Joe's first dive since his operation about a month ago. I didn't want him to go down today but he said he was going to dive.

"I'm sure glad he's all right."

Conscious Entire Time

Boatswains Mate Gerald Church of Messick, Va., who directed the rescue, said Tallarico was "conscious all the time—I talked to him all the time over the phone."

Church told reporters that Tallarico descended into the river at 10:20 a.m. EST to recover a test mine more than a hundred feet below the surface. The scene was a quarter-mile off Point Patient, about 70 miles southeast of Washington, D. C.

"I got a call at 12:15 for divers to help in the rescue," Church said. "We brought him to the surface still tangled up with the mine. We gave him part of his decompression time in the water.

"We brought him up the last 30 feet sooner than we ordinarily would due to the extreme cold and exposure."

Kefauver To Dust Off Coonskin Hat If He Enters Race

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 1 (AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn) said today if he becomes a presidential candidate again next year he will probably bring out the coonskin cap which he made famous in his 1952 campaign.

"Davy Crockett makes a pretty good running mate," he told newsmen who brought up the subject.

Children's interest in the legendary Tennessee pioneer during the last few years has also publicized the coonskin cap.

Detroit Papers Halted By Strike

DETROIT, Dec. 1 (AP)—Detroit's first newspaper strike—by 120 AFL stereotypers — stopped publication tonight of the third and last metropolitan daily, the Free Press.

Like the afternoon Detroit News and Detroit Times, the Free Press made no attempt to publish after stereotypers picketed its plant and members of other printing craft unions refused to cross picket lines.

The picket lines went up at 4:50 a.m. at all three newspapers after the Free Press had finished its Thursday run. Within 12 hours employes in other departments of the Times and Free Press were told they were being laid off without pay.

The three papers have a combined circulation of 1,300,000 daily.

The stereotypers—the men who mold metal semi-circular plates that roll out the news on the big presses—are among 4,500 employes on the three newspapers.

Bishop Lifts Ban Against Women

LAFAYETTE, La., Dec. 1 (AP)—Bishop Jules Jeanmard of Lafayette today lifted his excommunication decree against two Erath women accused of beating a Roman Catholic teacher who instructed Negro and white children in the same catechism classroom.

In a statement issued by the bishops secretary, the prelate said the women "have indicated to their pastor their repentance." Bishop Jeanmard imposed the excommunication on Sunday at Our Lady of Lourdes Church in Erath, a small southwest Louisiana community, 15 miles south of Lafayette.

Excommunication is the severest punishment that the Roman Catholic Church can impose upon its members. Under the ban, the excommunicated person can not receive the sacraments, including confession, Communion and last rites.

In his excommunication decree and the statement lifting the order, Bishop Jeanmard did not identify the women who beat Mrs. Lula B. Ortemond Nov. 16 on her way to say the rosary. Mrs. Ortemond has filed assault and battery charges against two sisters, Mrs. Etta B. Romero and Mrs. Lota B. Menard.

Two 'Bama Newspapers Sold In $18,700,000 Deal

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Dec. 1 (AP)—In a record $18,700,000 deal, Publisher S. I. Newhouse today added two Alabama dailies to his growing group of newspaper properties.

He also acquired a television station and three radio stations.

The one-time $2 a week office boy bought the Birmingham News, Alabama's largest paper, and the Huntsville Times, the only daily in that North Alabama city.

He paid 16½ million dollars and assumed liabilities of $2,200,000.

Editor and Publisher, newspaper trade magazine, termed it the biggest transaction in American newspaper history. The magazine said the previous high was 18 million dollars which Cyrus Curtis paid in 1930 to buy the Philadelphia Inquirer.

The Alabama dailies became the 12th and 13th papers in the Newhouse group, which spans the continent.

Newhouse added TV station WABT and radio stations WAPI and WAFM in Birmingham, and WHBS in Huntsville to his properties.

The Alabama news, TV and radio interests were owned by the family of the late Victor H. Hanson. Clarence B. Hanson Jr., will remain as president and publisher under the new ownership. All other executives also will remain.

The Birmingham News has an afternoon circulation of 187,000 and a Sunday circulation of 230,000. The Huntsville Times has 20,000 circulation.

Yugo Leader Heads For Ethiopia, Egypt

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Dec. 1 (AP)—President Tito left Belgrade tonight en route to Ethiopia and Egypt for state visits. He will be absent from his country more than a month.

All Yugoslavia's top leaders attended the going-away ceremony at the railroad station, where Tito boarded the presidential train for Rijeka (Fiume). He is to sail from that Adriatic port tomorrow aboard the naval training ship Galeb for Ethiopia.

The President is to spend about two weeks in Addis Ababa, capital of Ethiopia, returning the visit to Yugoslavia last summer of Emperor Haile Selassie.

On his way home, Tito will stop in Egypt.

H-Test Ban Talks Asked

Ike Planning To Take Hand In Campaign

Statement Raises GOP Hopes He Will Seek Second Term

CHICAGO, Dec. 1 (AP)—President Eisenhower's plan to take a hand in the 1956 election campaign today raised Republican hopes that he will run for a second term.

Reaction of GOP leaders to the President's announcement ranged from uncertainty about the role he will play to a firm belief that he will be a candidate.

The President's message to the Republican National Committee contained this key paragraph:

"You have a splendid record to submit to the voters in 1956. I personally am proud of Republican achievements for the peace and the prosperity and security of the American people. I shall do everything in my power next year to help you report the record accurately and fully to the country."

Hall Reads Telegram

The telegram was read by Chairman Leonard W. Hall at a meeting of the National Committee. Members rose to their feet and applauded. Some of them cheered.

The Associated Press asked committee members for their interpretation of the President's announcement that he will join in the Republican battle to keep possession of the White House and regain control of Congress.

"I think he will take an active part in the campaign for his own re-election," said Morton H. Holingsworth, Illinois state chairman. "I think he will be a candidate."

McKeldin Optimistic

Harry Darby, committeeman for Kansas, put it this way:

"I think he will be a candidate and will be re-elected."

Ralph F. Gates, Indiana's committeeman, suggested it is "too early" to say just what part the President will play. But he added:

"If he continues his recovery (from a Sept. 24 heart attack), he will be the candidate."

Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin of Maryland said he believes the President will do all he can to "report" and "continue" the record of this administration.

"I believe," he went on, "that if he is convinced he is the man to continue that record, he will be the candidate."

President, NSC Discuss Defense

THURMONT, Md., Dec. 1 (AP) — President Eisenhower reviewed the nation's defenses today in a top-secret session of the National Security Council. The meeting took place in a rustic lodge at Camp David, six miles up the Catoctin Mountains from here.

Five helicopters, swinging up from the Pentagon in Washington and landing in an athletic field the President's heavily guarded hideaway, brought in most of the high-ranking military and diplomatic advisers.

The President, setting an example for the nation in observance of Safe-Driving Day, made the 22-mile drive from his Gettysburg, Pa., farmhouse in 35 minutes, seldom going more than 45-50 miles an hour. His Secret Service agent-driver, Dick Flohr, stayed behind a big truck most of the way.

Interest in the top secret meeting was heightened by speculation the President is approaching a decision on the size of the military budget he will submit to Congress in January. The Defense Department budget for this year was 34 billion dollars.

Air Force Insists Jet Plans Unchanged

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 (AP) — The Air Force insisted today "there has been no change in the intent to supply the Air Force 137 wing program with the most modern equipment." The statement was obviously directed at recent criticism by Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo).

The Air Force issued a brief statement by Asst. Secretary Dudley C. Sharp.

Sharp reaffirmed the plans for modern equipment.

Symington said Monday he had received reports the administration was dropping plans to step up production of two new types of jet fighters — the F101 long range jet and the F104, the latest type of day fighter.

Symington said these plans are essential to meet what he described as Russian superiority in jet fighters and light bombers.

Caudle And Two Others Indicted For Tax Fraud

Former Truman Aide Is Accused

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 1 (AP)—Matthew J. Connelly and Theron Lamar Caudle, who held high positions in the Truman administration, were indicted today on a charge of conspiring to defraud the government.

Connelly, 48, now a public relations man in New York City, was appointments secretary to the President when Truman was in the White House.

Caudle, 51, who has been in private law practice at Wadesboro, N.C., was head of the Justice Department's Tax Division until he was fired by Truman for having outside interests incompatible with his government duties.

Charged with them in the joint, single-count indictment returned by a federal grand jury was Harry I. Schwimmer, former Kansas City lawyer indicted by the grand jury two weeks ago on a perjury charge.

Two Others Mentioned

Ellis N. Slack, former assistant to Caudle in the Tax Division, and Irving Sachs, St. Louis shoe manufacturer, were mentioned in the indictment as co-conspirators but not as defendants.

In Washington, Atty. Gen. Brownell announced Slack was relieved of his duties yesterday as an attorney in the appellate section of the Justice Department's Tax Division.

"The grand jury's investigation is continuing," Brownell said.

Truman, in St. Louis to address a Catholic youth group, refused to comment on the indictment.

The alleged conspiracy was outlined in a list of 24 overt acts in the indictment.

$1,650 Payoff Charged

Connelly was accused of accepting $1,650 paid by Schwimmer, an attorney for Sachs, in Washington on or about Jan. 14, 1952. The one-time White House aide also was charged with accepting in 1949 or 1950, as transferee, an oil royalty interest in Oklahoma.

The indictment covered the period from November 1945 up to the present time. The list of overt acts made no mention of Caudle receiving money.

But the indictment said that, as part of the conspiracy, Schwimmer, Sachs and the shoe business

U. S. Rejects Soviet Claim

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 (AP)—The United States today rejected a Soviet claim that the four-power occupation of East Berlin is over.

Britain and France also protested the Russian contention which held that East Berlin henceforth is to be regarded as part of the East German Communist Republic. Although the Western Allies sent notes simultaneously they were not identical, the State Department said.

The United States protest also dealt with the detention of four Americans, including two congressmen, in East Berlin last Sunday. The United States called this incident "unwarranted" and "grossly discourteous."

The American note delivered today to Georgi Pushkin, Russian ambassador to East Germany, declared the United States continues to hold Russia responsible for the welfare of all U.S. citizens traveling in East Germany.

The statement to Pushkin was delivered by U.S. Ambassador James B. Conant. The State Department made it public tonight.

Conant's action followed the four-hour detention in East Berlin of two American congressmen, the wife of one of them and their military escort. Protests by U.S. military officials were rejected by the Soviet commandant in East Berlin.

School Help On Need Basis Only Favored

Conference Divided On Using U.S. Funds For Teachers' Pay

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 (AP)— The White House conference on education was recorded tonight as favoring increased federal aid to schools, and an administration spokesman predicted early action.

Secretary of Welfare Folsom said:

"I am confident that in the weeks ahead this administration will present to the Congress a broadened and improved program of federal assistance to help erase the classroom deficit."

Folsom, who had talked earlier in the day with President Eisenhower at Gettysburg, made the prediction in a speech prepared for the closing session of the four-day White House conference. He gave no details.

One of the final actions of the conference, attended by 1,800 delegates, was the submission of a report saying the delegates were 2-1 in favor of increased federal aid to schools.

Aid On Need Basis

The report said a majority of the delegates, however, believed federal funds should go to states "only on a basis of demonstrated needs."

The summary conference report, which was sifted out of the views of the participating delegates, concluded that the federal government "should increase its financial participation in public education."

Of those backing the idea of federal aid to education, it said, an "overwhelming majority" approved the use of federal tax money to help build schools.

On the question of using federal money to operate schools—involving such things as paying teacher salaries and buying textbooks—the report said the delegates "divided almost evenly."

Eisenhower himself called the conference and Congress approved its being held. The next step is for a 34-member White House Committee on Education to report to the President in January or February on what it thinks should be done.

Committee To Weigh Reports

This committee will reach its own conclusions after studying its own research work, the reports of this conference and similar reports from all 48 states and 5 territories.

Conference Chairman Neil McElroy told reporters earlier this week that the committee would "feel free," if it desired, to differ with the conclusions reached at this conference.

In the past a major obstacle to federal aid for schools has been on the racial segregation issue. Another issue has been whether any tax money should go for benefits to church or other nonpublic schools.

Tonight's conference report said one delegate group in ten recommended that federal aid should not go to any schools practicing segregation. It said the large majority of delegates who participated opposed federal aid to nonpublic schools.

Egypt-Israeli Clash Reported

JERUSALEM, Dec. 1 (AP)—Heavy shooting developed on the Gaza frontier today. Egyptian and Israel troops exchanged fire in the Kissufim area in a battle lasting until nightfall.

Each side blamed the other.

Israeli officials said Egyptian troops within the Gaza strip started it by opening up on Israeli outposts.

The time of the outbreak was not specified.

In Cairo, an Egyptian spokesman said the Israelis began the fight by blasting at two Egyptian posts near Deir el Balah, south of Gaza town, with mortars and automatic weapons. He reported two Egyptian soldiers were wounded seriously.

There was no announcement of Israeli casualties.

Egypt lodged a strong complaint with the Egyptian-Israeli Armistice Commission.

U.N. observers headed to the scene to investigate.

AFL Convention Votes Merger

NEW YORK, Dec. 1 (AP)—Merger of the AFL and CIO became practically an accomplished fact today. The AFL voted its final unanimous approval and the CIO is due to ratify the merger tomorrow.

The consolidation brings together unions of the American Federation of Labor and those of the Congress of Industrial Organizations to form a single 16-million-member union group.

The new organization will be known formally as the American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organizations (AFL-CIO).

George Meany, one-time New York plumber who heads the AFL and is due to become president of the merged AFL-CIO, pledged in a speech to AFL convention delegates that the new organization would be devoted to improving the lot of workers in the nation as a whole.

CIO President Walter Reuther told a separate CIO convention, meanwhile, that his organization during its brief history has helped win "a full measure of human dignity for the worker."

Reuther said the merged organization must not rely on power alone but most operate with "a sense of dedication and social responsibility."

South Will Have Louder Voice At GOP Convention

CHICAGO, Dec. 1 (AP)—The South will have a bigger voice next year in selecting the Republican nominees for president and vice president.

The GOP National Committee adopted an apportionment plan today boosting the total of delegates to the 1956 convention from the 1,206 in 1952 to 1,323.

Of the 117 net gain, 13 Southern and border states picked up a total of 96 delegates.

Texas, which went for President Eisenhower in 1952, had its delegation increased from 38 to 54. The Southern state now is topped in delegate strength only by California, Illinois, New York, Ohio and Pennsylvania.

The rules for determining the number of 1956 delegates and the same number of alternates were adopted by the 1952 convention. Among other conditions, they provided for "bonus" delegates if a state went Republican for president or elected a GOP senator or governor or gave strong support to a GOP congressman.

Sixteen states, Alaska and Hawaii get bigger delegations under the apportionment announced today. The states, the size of their 1956 delegations and the 1952 figure include:

Tennessee 28-20; and Virginia 30-23.

The other states and territories maintained their 1952 delegation strength including:

Maryland 24; West Virginia 16; District of Columbia 6.

LAFAYETTE, La., Dec. 1 (AP)—Bishop Jules Jeanmard of Lafayette today lifted his excommunication decree against two Erath women accused of beating a Roman Catholic teacher who instructed Negro and white children in the same catechism classroom.

In a statement issued by the bishops secretary, the prelate said the women "have indicated to their pastor their repentance." Bishop Jeanmard imposed the excommunication on Sunday at Our Lady of Lourdes Church in Erath, a small southwest Louisiana community, 15 miles south of Lafayette.

Excommunication is the severest punishment that the Roman Catholic Church can impose upon its members. Under the ban, the excommunicated person can not receive the sacraments, including confession, Communion and last rites.

In his excommunication decree and the statement lifting the order, Bishop Jeanmard did not identify the women who beat Mrs. Lula B. Ortemond Nov. 16 on her way to say the rosary. Mrs. Ortemond has filed assault and battery charges against two sisters, Mrs. Etta B. Romero and Mrs. Lota B. Menard.

Two 'Bama Newspapers Sold In $18,700,000 Deal

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Dec. 1 (AP)—In a record $18,700,000 deal, Publisher S. I. Newhouse today added two Alabama dailies to his growing group of newspaper properties.

He also acquired a television station and three radio stations.

The one-time $2 a week office boy bought the Birmingham News, Alabama's largest paper, and the Huntsville Times, the only daily in that North Alabama city.

He paid 16½ million dollars and assumed liabilities of $2,200,000.

Editor and Publisher, newspaper trade magazine, termed it the biggest transaction in American newspaper history. The magazine said the previous high was 18 million dollars which Cyrus Curtis paid in 1930 to buy the Philadelphia Inquirer.

The Alabama dailies became the 12th and 13th papers in the Newhouse group, which spans the continent.

Newhouse added TV station WABT and radio stations WAPI and WAFM in Birmingham, and WHBS in Huntsville to his properties.

The Alabama news, TV and radio interests were owned by the family of the late Victor H. Hanson. Clarence B. Hanson Jr., will remain as president and publisher under the new ownership. All other executives also will remain.

The Birmingham News has an afternoon circulation of 187,000 and a Sunday circulation of 230,000. The Huntsville Times has 20,000 circulation.

Ike Planning To Take Hand In Campaign

Statement Raises GOP Hopes He Will Seek Second Term

CHICAGO, Dec. 1 (AP)—President Eisenhower's plan to take a hand in the 1956 election campaign today raised Republican hopes that he will run for a second term.

Reaction of GOP leaders to the President's announcement ranged from uncertainty about the role he will play to a firm belief that he will be a candidate.

The President's message to the Republican National Committee contained this key paragraph:

"You have a splendid record to submit to the voters in 1956. I personally am proud of Republican achievements for the peace and the prosperity and security of the American people. I shall do everything in my power next year to help you report the record accurately and fully to the country."

Hall Reads Telegram

The telegram was read by Chairman Leonard W. Hall at a meeting of the National Committee. Members rose to their feet and applauded. Some of them cheered.

The Associated Press asked committee members for their interpretation of the President's announcement that he will join in the Republican battle to keep possession of the White House and regain control of Congress.

"I think he will take an active part in the campaign for his own re-election," said Morton H. Holingsworth, Illinois state chairman. "I think he will be a candidate."

McKeldin Optimistic

Harry Darby, committeeman for Kansas, put it this way:

"I think he will be a candidate and will be re-elected."

Ralph F. Gates, Indiana's committeeman, suggested it is "too early" to say just what part the President will play. But he added:

"If he continues his recovery (from a Sept. 24 heart attack), he will be the candidate."

Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin of Maryland said he believes the President will do all he can to "report" and "continue" the record of this administration.

"I believe," he went on, "that if he is convinced he is the man to continue that record, he will be the candidate."

President, NSC Discuss Defense

THURMONT, Md., Dec. 1 (AP)—President Eisenhower reviewed the nation's defenses today in a top-secret session of the National Security Council. The meeting took place in a rustic lodge at Camp David, six miles up the Catoctin Mountains from here.

Five helicopters, swinging up from the Pentagon in Washington and landing in an athletic field the President's heavily guarded hideaway, brought in most of the high-ranking military and diplomatic advisers.

The President, setting an example for the nation in observance of Safe-Driving Day, made the 22-mile drive from his Gettysburg, Pa., farmhouse in 35 minutes, seldom going more than 45-50 miles an hour. His Secret Service agent-driver, Dick Flohr, stayed behind a big truck most of the way.

Interest in the top secret meeting was heightened by speculation the President is approaching a decision on the size of the military budget he will submit to Congress in January. The Defense Department budget for this year was 34 billion dollars.

Yugo Leader Heads For Ethiopia, Egypt

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Dec. 1 (AP)—President Tito left Belgrade tonight en route to Ethiopia and Egypt for state visits. He will be absent from his country more than a month.

All Yugoslavia's top leaders attended the going-away ceremony at the railroad station, where Tito boarded the presidential train for Rijeka (Fiume). He is to sail from that Adriatic port tomorrow aboard the naval training ship Galeb for Ethiopia.

The President is to spend about two weeks in Addis Ababa, capital of Ethiopia, returning the visit to Yugoslavia last summer of Emperor Haile Selassie.

On his way home, Tito will stop in Egypt.

H-Test Ban Talks Asked

LONDON, Dec. 1 (AP)—Former Prime Minister Clement Attlee tonight introduced a motion in Parliament urging the government to open talks with the United States and Russia on halting H-bomb tests. The opposition Labor party chief's motion likely will be debated within the next two weeks.

Air Force Insists Jet Plans Unchanged

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 (AP)—The Air Force insisted today "there has been no change in the intent to supply the Air Force 137 wing program with the most modern equipment." The statement was obviously directed at recent criticism by Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo).

The Air Force issued a brief statement by Asst. Secretary Dudley C. Sharp.

Sharp reaffirmed the plans for modern equipment.

Symington said Monday he had received reports the administration was dropping plans to step up production of two new types of jet fighters — the F101 long range jet and the F104, the latest type of day fighter.

Symington said these plans are essential to meet what he described as Russian superiority in jet fighters and light bombers.

Caudle And Two Others Indicted For Tax Fraud

Former Truman Aide Is Accused

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 1 (AP)—Matthew J. Connelly and Theron Lamar Caudle, who held high positions in the Truman administration, were indicted today on a charge of conspiring to defraud the government.

Connelly, 48, now a public relations man in New York City, was appointments secretary to the President when Truman was in the White House.

Caudle, 51, who has been in private law practice at Wadesboro, N.C., was head of the Justice Department's Tax Division until he was fired by Truman for having outside interests incompatible with his government duties.

Charged with them in the joint, single-count indictment returned by a federal grand jury was Harry I. Schwimmer, former Kansas City lawyer indicted by the grand jury two weeks ago on a perjury charge.

Two Others Mentioned

Ellis N. Slack, former assistant to Caudle in the Tax Division, and Irving Sachs, St. Louis shoe manufacturer, were mentioned in the indictment as co-conspirators but not as defendants.

In Washington, Atty. Gen. Brownell announced Slack was relieved of his duties yesterday as an attorney in the appellate section of the Justice Department's Tax Division.

"The grand jury's investigation is continuing," Brownell said.

Truman, in St. Louis to address a Catholic youth group, refused to comment on the indictment.

$1,650 Payoff Charged

Conneily was accused of accepting $1,650 paid by Schwimmer, an attorney for Sachs, in Washington on or about Jan. 14, 1952. The one-time White House aide also was charged with accepting in 1949 or 1950, as transferee, an oil royalty interest in Oklahoma.

The indictment covered the period from November 1945 up to the present time. The list of overt acts made no mention of Caudle receiving money.

But the indictment said that, as part of the conspiracy, Schwimmer, Sachs and the shoe business

U. S. Rejects Soviet Claim

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 (AP)—The United States today rejected a Soviet claim that the four-power occupation of East Berlin is over.

Britain and France also protested the Russian contention which held that East Berlin henceforth is to be regarded as part of the East German Communist Republic. Although the Western Allies sent notes simultaneously they were not identical, the State Department said.

The United States protest also dealt with the detention of four Americans, including two congressmen, in East Berlin last Sunday. The United States called this incident "unwarranted" and "grossly discourteous."

The American note delivered today to Georgi Pushkin, Russian ambassador to East Germany, declared the United States continues to hold Russia responsible for the welfare of all U.S. citizens traveling in East Germany.

The statement to Pushkin was delivered by U.S. Ambassador James B. Conant. The State Department made it public tonight.

Conant's action followed the four-hour detention in East Berlin of two American congressmen, the wife of one of them and their military escort. Protests by U.S. military officials were rejected by the Soviet commandant in East Berlin.

Egypt-Israeli Clash Reported

JERUSALEM, Dec. 1 (AP)—Heavy shooting developed on the Gaza frontier today. Egyptian and Israel troops exchanged fire in the Kissufim area in a battle lasting until nightfall.

Each side blamed the other.

Israeli officials said Egyptian troops within the Gaza strip started it by opening up on Israeli outposts.

The time of the outbreak was not specified.

In Cairo, an Egyptian spokesman said the Israelis began the fight by blasting at two Egyptian posts near Deir el Balah, south of Gaza town, with mortars and automatic weapons. He reported two Egyptian soldiers were wounded seriously.

There was no announcement of Israeli casualties.

Egypt lodged a strong complaint with the Egyptian-Israeli Armistice Commission.

U.N. observers headed to the scene to investigate.

South Will Have Louder Voice At GOP Convention

CHICAGO, Dec. 1 (AP)—The South will have a bigger voice next year in selecting the Republican nominees for president and vice president.

The GOP National Committee adopted an apportionment plan today boosting the total of delegates to the 1956 convention from the 1,206 in 1952 to 1,323.

Of the 117 net gain, 13 Southern and border states picked up a total of 96 delegates.

Texas, which went for President Eisenhower in 1952, had its delegation increased from 38 to 54. The Southern state now is topped in delegate strength only by California, Illinois, New York, Ohio and Pennsylvania.

The rules for determining the number of 1956 delegates and the same number of alternates were adopted by the 1952 convention. Among other conditions, they provided for "bonus" delegates if a state went Republican for president or elected a GOP senator or governor or gave strong support to a GOP congressman.

Sixteen states, Alaska and Hawaii get bigger delegations under the apportionment announced today. The states, the size of their 1956 delegations and the 1952 figure include:

Tennessee 28-20; and Virginia 30-23.

The other states and territories maintained their 1952 delegation strength including:

Maryland 24; West Virginia 16; District of Columbia 6.

Conference Divided On Using U.S. Funds For Teachers' Pay

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 (AP)—The White House conference on education was recorded tonight as favoring increased federal aid to schools, and an administration spokesman predicted early action.

Secretary of Welfare Folsom said:

"I am confident that in the weeks ahead this administration will present to the Congress a broadened and improved program of federal assistance to help erase the classroom deficit."

Folsom, who had talked earlier in the day with President Eisenhower at Gettysburg, made the prediction in a speech prepared for the closing session of the four-day White House conference. He gave no details.

One of the final actions of the conference, attended by 1,800 delegates, was the submission of a report saying the delegates were 2-1 in favor of increased federal aid to schools.

Aid On Need Basis

The report said a majority of the delegates, however, believed federal funds should go to states "only on a basis of demonstrated needs."

The summary conference report, which was sifted out of the views of the participating delegates, concluded that the federal government "should increase its financial participation in public education."

Of those backing the idea of federal aid to education, it said, an "overwhelming majority" approved the use of federal tax money to help build schools.

On the question of using federal money to operate schools—involving such things as paying teacher salaries and buying textbooks—the report said the delegates "divided almost evenly."

Eisenhower himself called the conference and Congress approved its being held. The next step is for a 34-member White House Committee on Education to report to the President in January or February on what it thinks should be done.

Committee To Weigh Reports

This committee will reach its own conclusions after studying its own research work, the reports of this conference and similar reports from all 48 states and 5 territories.

Conference Chairman Neil McElroy told reporters earlier this week that the committee would "feel free," if it desired, to differ with the conclusions reached at this conference.

In the past a major obstacle to federal aid for schools has been on the racial segregation issue. Another issue has been whether any tax money should go for benefits to church or other nonpublic schools.

Tonight's conference report said one delegate group in ten recommended that federal aid should not go to any schools practicing segregation. It said the large majority of delegates who participated opposed federal aid to nonpublic schools.

AFL Convention Votes Merger

NEW YORK, Dec. 1 (AP)—Merger of the AFL and CIO became practically an accomplished fact today. The AFL voted its final unanimous approval and the CIO is due to ratify the merger tomorrow.

The consolidation brings together unions of the American Federation of Labor and those of the Congress of Industrial Organizations to form a single 16-million-member union group.

The new organization will be known formally as the American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organizations (AFL-CIO).

George Meany, one-time New York plumber who heads the AFL and is due to become president of the merged AFL-CIO, pledged in a speech to AFL convention delegates that the new organization would be devoted to improving the lot of workers in the nation as a whole.

CIO President Walter Reuther told a separate CIO convention, meanwhile, that his organization during its brief history has helped win "a full measure of human dignity for the worker."

Reuther said the merged organization must not rely on power alone but most operate with "a sense of dedication and social responsibility."

Bonn Rules Out Deal Involving Freedom Risk

BONN, Germany, Dec. 1 (AP)—Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano pledged today the Germans never will sacrifice their freedom and friendship with the West in a deal with Russia.

In a speech before the Bundestag (lower house), he served notice, also, that the Germans will not passively accept the uncompromising Russian "no" to German reunification.

The Adenauer government "knows very well that the fate of the German people would be sealed if it tried to exchange the confidence and friendship of its allies for the sympathy of the Soviet Union," he declared.

"Nor will the German people, I am convinced, be induced by any threat or temptation to veer from this straight course," Von Brentano added.

"The German people are not prepared to strike any deal jeopardizing their freedom."

He said that in making such a deal Germany "would not only betray her own future but also violate the freedom of other nations by exposing them to deadly danger."

Von Brentano's speech was the government's answer to Russian pressure for the two parts of Germany to get together as equals to create a neutralized and communized reunited Germany.

Car Output Reflects Chrysler Comeback

DETROIT, Dec. 1 (AP)—The auto industry's "big three" of General Motors, Ford and Chrysler built 6,946,414 passenger cars in their U. S. plants in this year's first 11 months.

Figures announced today gave General Motors 3,652,748; Ford 2,052,361 and Chrysler 1,241,305. In the same 1954 period the figures were 2,557,187; 1,510,543 and 648,089 respectively. The big gain for Chrysler reflects the tremendous comeback push by that producer in the 1955 model year.

Senators Told GM Urged False Car Registrations To "Aid" Chevrolet Sales

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 (AP)—Two Senate witnesses testified today General Motors Corp. representatives asked them to make false car registrations to help Chevrolet maintain its national sales pace.

The testimony, before the Senate Antimonopoly subcommittee studying GM operations, came from:

1. Sumpter Priddy of Waverly, Va., southeast of Richmond. He said he went along with the requests he cited but despite this and other efforts to please GM executives, was unable to get the Waverly Chevrolet dealership his father-in-law had held until his death last year.

2. M. L. Ward of Albany, Ga., a former Chevrolet dealer, who said he did not like "bogus registrations, but we were all constantly asked to do it."

Both Priddy and Ward said the arrangement was for the dealer to register, as sold, all the cars on his showroom floor and those scheduled for later delivery to the agency.

Priddy said GM representatives said this was necessary "because Chevrolet was on the spot and the competition was doing the same thing." Priddy said he used the name of his wife, his mechanics and a grease monkey to record fictitious sales.

President Harlow Curtice and other GM executives are to testify tomorrow. They drew a public rebuke from Chairman O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) late today for releasing Curtice's prepared testimony to newsmen before giving it to the subcommittee.

The GM officials supplied a 97-page Curtice statement, and a summary, for release at 10 a.m. EST tomorrow. This is a frequent practice at congressional hearings, although most such statements are submitted to the committee concerned as well as to newsmen.

Renewal Of WE Talks Proposed

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 1 (AP)—Federal Mediation Commissioner John R. Murray today asked for a resumption of negotiations here next Monday between the striking CIO International Union of Electrical Workers and Westinghouse Electric Corp.

Murray acted a few hours after Gwilym A. Price, president of Westinghouse, announced that salaries of executive and technical personnel will be cut up to 50 per cent for the duration of the strike.

Noting that talks had been broken off earlier this week in New York, Price declared no progress is being made toward ending the bitter contract dispute and said:

"We are settling down for a long strike."

Islam Leader Declares Millions Of Christians Qualify As Moslems

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

NEW YORK, Dec. 1 (AP)—Even if you call yourself a Christian, you also may qualify as a good Moslem.

"Millions of Christians in this country are true Moslems," said Sheikh Daoud Ahmed Faisel, spiritual leader of the Islamic Mission of America. "They just don't know it."

That may sound incongruous to some people, steeped in grade-school notions of the bloody Middle Ages Crusades against so-called "infidels" of Mohammed, but it is the brotherly attitude of Mohammed's followers today.

Basically, it always has been.

"The average American simply knows nothing about Islam," Sheikh Faisel said. "It is the religion of Christians and Jews and all who believe in one true God and who have surrendered to his will and guidance of his laws."

But in the United States, he said, there has been little recognition of the Jewish-Christian roots of Islam, or that Abraham, Jesus and Mohammed are all seen equally as prophets of the faith.

"Prejudice, egotism and ignorance have robbed many of the truth about Islam," the Moroccan-born imam said. "Some sneer and joke and mock, because of greed for power, fear of exposure, or the evil idea they are better than everyone else."

In North and South America, the only two major continents to which Islam has not spread in vast numbers and influence, Sheikh Faisel's mission as the representative organ for Moslems has set these objectives:

"The propagation of Islam, the true faith . . . the defense of the faithful . . . the reestablishment of peace, love, good will and human brotherhood through relief in the oneness of the one true God as revealed in Islam."

Practicing Moslems constitute only a small minority in this country—about 100,000 by Sheikh Faisel's estimate—but he believes the spirit of Islam is moving rapidly toward wider acceptance.

"Within the next few years, I see it coming," he said. "This is the best educated nation on earth, and people are willing to see the truth. Eventually Islam will be the governing basis of America."

There are fairly large Moslem communities in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Chicago, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Sacramento, Phoenix, Washington, D.C., New York City, Detroit and Dearborn, Mich.

Moslem societies, clubs and academies are scattered throughout this region. The finest mosques are in Sacramento, Dearborn—and a new one in Washington.

Senate Cloakroom

by Sen. J. Glenn Beall

Several off-beat items which arrived at my desk this week might be of interest to those of you who, like myself, get a certain curious kick out of browsing through other people's communications.

From my secretary, for instance, I got a note saying that a "ham" radio operator in Washington County had contacted our office by broadcasting to the Pentagon and asking that his dispatch be relayed to us by telephone.

Another message—this one from Southern Maryland—came to me in the form of a 1,200-foot tape recording prepared by a man whose business card said he does "free-lance warfare research."

Wants Taxes

A third man informed me of his sentiments in a mimeographed sheet headed "Down with the Government!"

And a lawyer, who indicated that his income is in the higher brackets, wrote an unusual letter asking for a change in revenue laws so that he and others in his financial class "might pay more taxes."

Such communications are obviously out of the ordinary, but even the unusual contacts I have with my constituents are extremely important in helping me do my job.

Minority Views

If we in this nation are to preserve our government "of the people," all groups—even the smallest minorities — must consider it a duty to make their views known.

It then becomes the solemn duty of those of us in public life to give careful consideration to the various opinions.

Many Bosses

The obligation of lawmakers to give serious thought to all reasonable proposals arises from the basic fact that in a democracy the citizens are the rulers.

Following that principle one step further, we arrive at an interesting idea which I have always found to be all-important in trying to preserve my sense of values. It is this:

In the business of government, a man acquires, rather than loses, more "bosses" as he is advanced in his field.

The new "bosses," of course, are the additional constituents he is chosen to represent.

Marriage Licenses

Paul Wayne Stair and Eleanor Louise Thomas, both R F D 1, Hyndman, Pa.

Glen Gordon and Norma Pauline Calhoun, both RFD 3, Everett, Pa.

John Russell Parry and Connie Jean Davidson, both Green Spring, W. Va.

John Marshall Kidwell, 618 Brookfield Avenue, and Geraldine Agatha Varner, 16 Pennsylvania Avenue.

Although Australia is 200 times as large as Formosa, each has a population of about eight and one half million.

About one-third of all United States auto drivers are women.

Senate Cloakroom

by Sen. J. Glenn Beall

Several off-beat items which arrived at my desk this week might be of interest to those of you who, like myself, get a certain curious kick out of browsing through other people's communications.

From my secretary, for instance, I got a note saying that a "ham" radio operator in Washington County had contacted our office by broadcasting to the Pentagon and asking that his dispatch be relayed to us by telephone.

Another message—this one from Southern Maryland—came to me in the form of a 1,200-foot tape recording prepared by a man whose business card said he does "free-lance warfare research."

Wants Taxes

A third man informed me of his sentiments in a mimeographed sheet headed "Down with the Government!"

And a lawyer, who indicated that his income is in the higher brackets, wrote an unusual letter asking for a change in revenue laws so that he and others in his financial class "might pay more taxes."

Such communications are obviously out of the ordinary, but even the unusual contacts I have with my constituents are extremely important in helping me do my job.

Minority Views

If we in this nation are to preserve our government "of the people," all groups—even the smallest minorities — must consider it a duty to make their views known.

It then becomes the solemn duty of those of us in public life to give careful consideration to the various opinions.

Many Bosses

The obligation of lawmakers to give serious thought to all reasonable proposals arises from the basic fact that in a democracy the citizens are the rulers.

Following that principle one step further, we arrive at an interesting idea which I have always found to be all-important in trying to preserve my sense of values. It is this:

In the business of government, a man acquires, rather than loses, more "bosses" as he is advanced in his field.

The new "bosses," of course, are the additional constituents he is chosen to represent.

Marriage Licenses

Paul Wayne Stair and Eleanor Louise Thomas, both R F D 1, Hyndman, Pa.

Glen Gordon and Norma Pauline Calhoun, both RFD 3, Everett, Pa.

John Russell Parry and Connie Jean Davidson, both Green Spring, W. Va.

Although Australia is 200 times as large as Formosa, each has a population of about eight and one half million.

About one-third of all United States auto drivers are women.

Britain Willing To Consider Ban On Bomb Tests

LONDON, Dec. 1 (AP) — Prime Minister Eden has announced Britain's readiness to consider Russia's proposal for a worldwide ban on nuclear weapon tests.

But he stalled Laborite demands that he press for a British-American-Russian agreement calling off experimental explosions.

Eden, addressing the House of Commons, left the door open for Russia officially to confirm and clarify a Soviet suggestion which was renewed yesterday by a Moscow radio commentator. The broadcast said the Russians are ready "here and now" to stop testing nuclear weapons "if the other powers possessing such weapons agree to do the same."

Eden gave a clue about some of the things that the British would want to know more about before agreeing to halt further tests:

"Her Majesty's government," he said, "are ready to discuss these matters at any time but I must make it clear that in such discussions regard will have to be paid to the number and nature of the tests which each country has already made, as well as to the number and nature of the tests proposed."

This seemed to suggest that Britain is not eager to accept a blanket ban on all nuclear bomb tests—atomic as well as hydrogen weapon explosions. The Prime Minister said at one point that already it has been suggested that there might be a limit of, say, one explosion a year by each of the powers.

Eden's statement came in response to a question by former Labor Prime Minister Clement Attlee, who had urged him to initiate talks with the United States and Russia on the Moscow radio proposal.

Eden said "It remains the view of Her Majesty's government that a comprehensive disarmament agreement is the only final solution of this problem."

Attlee nevertheless pressed him to seize the chance of a big power accord which he said the Soviet broadcast had provided. The Labor leader called for particular attention to harmful effects which he said radioactive fallout could cause humanity.

Eden retorted, ". . . The Russians have set off the biggest explosion in their power. I do not think this is necessarily the moment when we should forego the right to discuss the position of our own country."

Britain and her Commonwealth partners have slated a new round of atomic tests in Australia next year. They have not yet exploded a hydrogen bomb.

Franco Says France Making Grave Error

MADRID, Spain, Dec. 1 (AP) — Generalissimo Francisco Franco said yesterday France is making a grave error in trying to introduce democratic methods in Morocco.

He told five American newsmen at his palace that independence must be brought to Morocco gradually. "If the steps are hurried they will not be realized," he added.

The main problem, said Franco, who spent 20 years commanding Spanish troops in Morocco, is a lack of unity among Moroccans—divided as they are into middle class, townspeople, workers and peasants.

Titanium screws, used on some U. S. Air Force bombers, save an additional 99 pounds in aircraft weight and cost as much as $1.36 each.

Family Opposed To School Integration May Quit State

TOWSON, Md., Dec. 1 (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Oliver T. Shock said today they probably will move to Florida rather than send their son and daughter to school with Negro children.

Shock, a carpenter, has withheld his 15-year-old son and 12-year-old daughter from Hereford High School in the northern part of Baltimore County since a few negroes were admitted there in September.

The county school board declined to let the Shock children enroll at Towson High School, where integration has not yet started.

Shock has defied a juvenile court order directing him to send the youngsters to the school in their home district.

"My children will not attend an integrated school," Shock said. "I'll go as far as I can go. I intend to stand up for my rights."

Shock proposed boarding his children in a school district where there is no integration but the school board refused the arrangement.

Mrs. Shock said today the family will leave for Florida in the morning on what she described as an exploration.

"We are going down and look the integration situation over," she said. "We also are going to check the living conditions and other matters. My husband is on vacation now. This will be a sort of vacation trip."

Although the deadline for Shock's compliance with the juvenile court order has passed, no further action has been taken against him because of the illness of the judge.

Shock described the school board's rulings as unfair.

"In our district," he explained, "the school board provides transportation for Negro pupils either to Carver High in Towson or Hereford High.

"They have a choice. We do not."

Judge Rules Navy Entitled To Bomb Sight "Know-How"

BALTIMORE, Dec. 1 (AP)—Federal Judge Roszel C. Thomsen ruled today that the government is entitled to all the products of the Jacobs Instrument Co.'s research on a new bomb sight—including the company's "know-how."

But the judge asked counsel for the government and Donald H. Jacobs for help in formulating his decree so that Jacobs will be protected against commercial use of that "know-how" by competitors.

And the judge ruled that the government must pay Jacobs about $20,000 in termination costs and expenses involved in the Navy's contract with the Jacobs firm.

The Navy sued Jacobs in Federal District Court here for recovery of all models, specifications and working drawings of an intricate bombing navigation system Jacobs developed under government contract.

The Navy cancelled the contract before the job was completed on the grounds Jacobs was not producing satisfactory results.

Jacobs contended the cancellation was arbitrary and capricious, and claimed it was part of an effort by certain officials in the Bureau of Ordnance to make him sell his company and its developments to a larger firm.

The largest lake wholly within Canadian boundaries is Great Bear lake in the Northwest Territories. It is approximately 12,000 square miles in area.

Aged Man Dies Of Burns

CLARKSBURG, Md., Dec. 1 (AP)—Walter Cashell, 88, died here today apparently after he ignited his clothes while trying to light a pipe.

Hyattstown Fire Chief Joe W. Price said Cashell ran out of his house and was found standing burning "from his shoes to the top of his head."

Ornithologists claim that birds sing an average of 18 hours daily most of the year.

Proceeds Of Demo Dinner To Be Split

BALTIMORE, Dec. 1 (AP) — The Maryland Democratic Party's 1956 Victory Dinner Committee will meet here tomorrow to divide the proceeds of the $100-a-plate feed last Monday night.

Treasurer J. Newton Brewer Jr., in answer to a query, said it appeared there would be about $75,000 available after expenses.

The committee decided prior to the dinner to split the proceeds three ways—one-third for the 1956 general election in Maryland, one-third for the Democratic National Committee and one-third to pay off the debt of the 1954 Maryland gubernatorial campaign.

More Bids On Tunnel Approach Opened

BALTIMORE, Dec. 1 (AP) — The State Roads Commission opened bids today on two more sections of the Baltimore Harbor Tunnel project, both involving parts of the approach expressway.

Submitting the low bid of $3,020,741 on one section was the Nello L. Teer Co., Durham, N.C. The project runs from near the intersection of Oldham, Ponca and Lombard Streets, to near the intersection of Mapleton place and Pulaski highway.

A bid of $2,767,190 was submitted by the Square Construction Co., Baltimore to build a section from a point on the Gov. Ritchie Highway just south of Ordnance road north about 2.53 miles to just north of Belle Grove road and including a connection to the Glen Burnie bypass.

Black And Decker Will Expand Plant

TOWSON, Md., Dec. 1 (AP)—The Black and Decker Manufacturing Co. announced today that a 3½ million dollar addition to its electric tool plant at Hampstead, Md., would get under way immediately.

The addition will nearly double the plant area at Hampstead. Company President Alonzo G. Decker said the new facility should be ready for occupancy by next october. The Austin Company of Cleveland was awarded the contract for construction.

At a meeting today, the Black and Decker board of directors declared the regular quarterly dividend of 25 cents a share, payable Dec. 30 to stockholders of record Dec. 15.

The commonly designated "Irish" potato originally came from the mountains of Chile and Peru.

Safety Pylons Up Auto Deaths

BALTIMORE, Dec. 1 (AP) — The Maryland Public Service Commission took time out on Safe-Driving Day today to warn motorists about Baltimore's safety pylons.

They're supposed to provide protection for pedestrians waiting for streetcars.

The record run up by 44 pylons on Harford road:

Fifty-five collisions between motor vehicles and pylons—2 killed, 44 injured.

One hundred and two collisions of vehicles with pedestrians at pylon locations—six killed.

Said Baltimore's traffic engineering Dept.:

"In 149 collisions, safety zones can be shown as a prime-cause factor. These 149 accidents resulted in eight persons killed and 132 injured."

The pylons are expected to be gone soon.

Egypt Can Try British Tanks Against Red Tanks

LONDON, Dec. 1 (AP) — John Strachey, Laborite war minister, suggested today the Egyptian army now can try out British tanks against Russian tanks and he called this a "preposterous situation."

His statement came in the House of Commons after Lord John Hope, foreign undersecretary, reported Britain had not suspended deliveries of Centurion tanks under agreed contracts with Egypt.

Hope refused to confirm published reports that Britain had sold the Egyptians 38 or 60 Centurions. He said it was not customary to go into numbers.

Egypt recently contracted for heavy arms purchases from the Soviet bloc.

A responsible source said the British contracts to send Egypt tanks already had been fulfilled but added he did not know how many tanks were sent.

Church Group Wants Surplus Sent Overseas

OMAHA, Dec. 1 (AP) — The National Council of Churches General Board yesterday adopted a resolution urging 144,000 member churches to bring pressure against the U. S. Department of Agriculture for release of surplus grain for overseas needy.

The action came after R. Norris Wilson, director of the National Council's relief arm, told the board's quarterly meeting efforts to free Commodity Credit Corporation wheat and corn under terms of a 1954 law had been unsuccessful.

Wilson said that after appealing to the Republican National Committee he had been able to lay the matter directly before Secretary Benson, who showed interest and promised to study the situation. However, others in Benson's department had insisted that since the needs of the nation's own needy had not been met, the grain could not be released for use abroad, he said.

Wilson told the council the grain isn't being released in this country either. He said it had been suggested that, "If none was being released domestically, the total could be released to us."

Wilson quoted this reply from Dr. Earl Butts, assistant secretary of agriculture:

"If we were to make the grain available for overseas use without using it in America, we'd have a hue and cry at our back from all over the country."

"Let's have a hue and cry because they have not released it," Wilson urged.

The Department of Agriculture has authority to release surplus commodities to nonprofit voluntary agencies for use in assistance of needy outside the United States after certain other needs are met.

The Church World service, of which Wilson is director, and agencies of other church groups have been distributing other surplus commodities abroad.

Egypt Can Try British Tanks Against Red Tanks

LONDON, Dec. 1 (AP) — John Strachey, Laborite war minister, suggested today the Egyptian army now can try out British tanks against Russian tanks and he called this a "preposterous situation."

His statement came in the House of Commons after Lord John Hope, foreign undersecretary, reported Britain had not suspended deliveries of Centurion tanks under agreed contracts with Egypt.

Hope refused to confirm published reports that Britain had sold the Egyptians 38 or 60 Centurions. He said it was not customary to go into numbers.

Egypt recently contracted for heavy arms purchases from the Soviet bloc.

A responsible source said the British contracts to send Egypt tanks already had been fulfilled but added he did not know how many tanks were sent.

Church Group Wants Surplus Sent Overseas

OMAHA, Dec. 1 (AP) — The National Council of Churches General Board yesterday adopted a resolution urging 144,000 member churches to bring pressure against the U. S. Department of Agriculture for release of surplus grain for overseas needy.

The action came after R. Norris Wilson, director of the National Council's relief arm, told the board's quarterly meeting efforts to free Commodity Credit Corporation wheat and corn under terms of a 1954 law had been unsuccessful.

Wilson said that after appealing to the Republican National Committee he had been able to lay the matter directly before Secretary Benson, who showed interest and promised to study the situation. However, others in Benson's department had insisted that since the needs of the nation's own needy had not been met, the grain could not be released for use abroad, he said.

Wilson told the council the grain isn't being released in this country either. He said it had been suggested that, "If none was being released domestically, the total could be released to us."

Wilson quoted this reply from Dr. Earl Butts, assistant secretary of agriculture:

"If we were to make the grain available for overseas use without using it in America, we'd have a hue and cry at our back from all over the country."

"Let's have a hue and cry because they have not released it," Wilson urged.

The Department of Agriculture has authority to release surplus commodities to nonprofit voluntary agencies for use in assistance of needy outside the United States after certain other needs are met.

The Church World service, of which Wilson is director, and agencies of other church groups have been distributing other surplus commodities abroad.

Emotional Illness Blamed On 'Simon Legree' Bosses

BOSTON, Dec. 1 (AP)—New bosses constantly demanding more production and never giving praise were blamed for a large proportion of emotional illness in a survey of 91 cases supposed to be "overwork" stress, a psychiatrist told the American Medical Assn. today.

Dr. Jackson A. Smith found similar complaints coming from persons in such varied occupations as vice president, office secretary, or railroad section hand. He suggested the lowered morale and efficiency apparently would be a matter of economic concern to employers.

Reporting at the clinical meeting of the American Medical Assn. here, Dr. Smith, professor of neurology and psychiatry at the University of Nebraska College of Medicine, found that work, itself, apparently caused only seven of the 91 cases studied.

He said that unwise supervision, observation of a severe illness in another employe, an already-existing state of tension, or a physical injury were the precipitating factors among the remaining 84 patients.

Disagreement with immediate supervisors caused 49 patients to become emotionally ill, he reported. The trouble usually began, he said, with the hiring of a new supervisor who "believed the most efficient method of obtaining production was to constantly demand and never praise."

At first, the patients reported physical complaints, he said. But after repeated physical examination and laboratory tests which showed nothing, psychiatric aid was sought.

It then became apparent that the patients were apprehensive, fearful, and constantly concerned about their mental status and physical complaints, Dr. Smith said.

Dog That Saved Boy Gets Medal

GADSDEN, Ala., Dec. 1 (AP) — Frank, a 4-year-old hound dog, will get a medal for saving the life of his master, Tommy Richards, 4.

Tommy was lost in dense woods for more than 10 hours this week, and was found by rescuers Tuesday night in subfreezing weather, with Frank crouching beside the child. Frank's baying led rescuers to the boy. And Frank's warm body kept the child from freezing.

Woody Woodsmall of Gadsden, one of six searchers who found Tommy, said, "The dog was the real hero. The grass and underbrush was so thick where Tommy was asleep, that we could have walked within two feet of him and not found him if Frank hadn't been howling."

Frank will get his medal Friday in special ceremonies arranged by radio station WGAD, Gadsden, which took a major part in organizing and directing the search for Tommy.

Tommy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Richards of the nearby Tidmore Bend community. The boy was kept in a hospital overnight for observation, but returned home today well and happy.

Washington Soldier Convicted Of Murder

KAISERSLAUTERN, Germany, Dec. 1 (AP) — Specialist 3.C Aubrey convicted yesterday of fatally stabbing a German in a street fight here Oct. 7 and sentenced 17 years at hard labor.

Kelley was found guilty of a count of unpremeditated murder in the knife slaying of Johann Elbers, 47. Elbers died five days later.

Witnesses testified Kelley, a Negro, drew a knife after Elbers called him a black pig while the soldier was talking with a German girl.

The sentence, which includes dishonorable discharge and forfeiture of all pay and allowances, is subject to review by higher authorities.

Dies Without Seeing Baby Son He Wanted

DETROIT, Dec. 1 (AP) — Noory Jablway died yesterday without seeing the 2-month-old son he wanted so badly.

The baby was born after Jablway was struck down by a cleaver-wielding robber four months ago in the grocery store where he worked. Jablway, 49, had been in a coma since. His other children are girls 16 months to 4 years old.

"He always wanted a boy," said his wife, "and now he will never know." Police still are looking for the robber.

West Va. Economy Booms

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Dec. 1 (AP)—The West Virginia Chamber of Commerce took stock of the state's booming economy today in terms of 1955 becoming the most prosperous year statistically in history.

As an example, the chamber's Business Index for November said that if coal production maintains its swift pace in the two final months of the year, approximately 150 million tons will be mined in 1955.

Coal output to the end of October was up 22 million tons over the 1954 figures, or 23.9 per cent.

In other fields, the report found natural gas production was up 13 billion cubic feet; lumber output rose by 18 million board fee, and electric energy output was greater in the first 10 months of 1955 by 1,121,000,000 kilowatt hours, or 10.5 per cent.

Too Many Gadgets

KITCHENER, Ont., Dec. 1 (AP) — Magistrate J.R.H. Kirkpatrick says motorists should stop putting useless gadgets on their cars. He spoke out in imposing a $10 fine and costs on a motorist who explained he got into a collision when a spinwheel on his steering gear caught in his overcoat as he tried to make a turn.

Hagerstown Seeks Water Hearing Delay

HAGERSTOWN, Dec. 1 (AP) — The city has asked the Maryland Public Service Commission to put off for 30 to 60 days a hearing on water rate increases the city imposed on county water users.

The Jefferson Heights Assn., which opposed the water rate boost, asked that the Dec. 7 hearing not be put off. It said the city had enough time to prepare for the hearing.

The mayor and council said it needs additional time to collect data on the worth of the Hagerstown water system.

Cop Takes Over, Then Has Wreck

DETROIT, Dec. 1 (AP) — Patrolman John Pedrie, walking a beat, saw Buster L. Goff screech his car around a corner, driving erratically.

Stopping him, Pedrie said, "You have been drinking. Move over and I'll drive to the police station. If you keep on, you'll have an accident."

En route, Pedrie crashed into the rear of a car.

"The brakes didn't work," he told his superiors. "You have to pump them a little," said Goff.

Goff got 10 days in jail for drunk driving. Pedrie is filling out forms necessary before the city can pay $40 damages for the car he hit.

State Board Rules Coal Miner Disabled

A Georges Creek miner who lost his job in 1948 when the mine in which he worked for 37 years shut down has been declared permanently and totally disabled from silicosis contracted in his occupation.

The Medical Board on Occupational Diseases which operates under the State Industrial Accident Commission made the ruling in the case of Roy Stevens, 60, of Grahamtown.

The Medical Board held a hearing in Allegany County Court House on November 28 for Stevens, who was represented by Milton Gerson, local attorney.

Stevens told the board that he worked 37 years for the Big Vein Coal Company of Lonaconing until November or December of 1948.

In the line of his work, he came in contact with dust through hauling coal, shooting rock and placing sand under the rails of cars being hauled to the mine heading, he testified.

He said he felt well physically until April 1951 when he began to have smothering spells and found breathing was difficult.

Stevens stated he was treated for this condition between 1951 and 1955, but no diagnosis was made by the two physicians attending him.

In January he was given stereoscopic X-rays and on March 7 the doctor who read the X-rays said there was noticed minimal simple silicosis.

The board pointed out that that Stevens' disability probably began about April 1951 but he did not know he had silicosis until the doctor told him.

On March 21 he notified Gerson, his attorney, and the employer was informed of his condition, and two days later the claim was filed with the accident commission.

Permanent total disability can bring an award of up to $15,000 under the new laws.

The defendants, the coal company and its insurer, the State Industrial Accident Fund, have 30 days to file an appeal, Gerson noted.

War Souvenirs To Be Displayed At Gas Firm

A display of war souvenirs will be exhibited at the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company today, according to Master Sgt. Manning Smith of the 549th Explosive Ordnance Disposal Unit at Fort George Meade.

Sgt. Smith said yesterday that several residents of Cumberland have turned in old war souvenirs, and that as soon as they are disarmed they are returned to the person, along with a certificate showing they're harmless.

The display of souvenirs includes all types of shells, which have been brought to this country by GIs.

Sgt. Smith is currently conducting classes in Frostburg and Cumberland on how to disarm shells in case of a bombing raid.

At the same time, he is conducting a drive to have residents of the section bring in war souvenirs and have them disarmed. Area residents having such shells are asked to phone Central Fire Station, Smith said.

Owing to the narrow channel connecting it with the ocean, the Mediterranean sea is virtually tideless.

Finan To Deliver Elks Memorial Eulogy

Thomas B. Finan, city attorney and past exalted ruler of the lodge, will deliver the eulogy at memorial services for deceased members of BPO Elks Lodge 63 Sunday at 7:30 p. m. at the Elks Home.

Earl M. Nonnenmann, memorial service chairman, had announced previously that Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris would deliver the address.

Mrs. Kenneth F. Beck will provide music accompaniment for the service. The original Elks Quartet, composed of W. Royce Hodges W. Cletus Hartsock, Kenneth F. Beck and Robert Moreland, will sing.

Opening remarks and the "o'clock toast" will be given by William J. Aumiller, exalted ruler, and lodge officers will give the membership tribute. F. Leslie Robertson, chaplain, will give the invocation and benediction.

The service honoring 14 members who have died since last December is open to members, their families and friends.

On The Line

by Bob Considine

NEW YORK, Dec. 1 (INS) — People . . . places . . . things . . .

Rear Adm. H. G. Rickover, USN, the man who fought the atomic submarine through the shoals of old-line Navy resistance and accumulated ignorance, produced what he called an "unpleasant fact" in a speech the other day. He said:

"In the field of scientific and engineering education our main competitor—Russia—is speedily passing us. The U. S. now has about 800,000 engineers and scientists. Russia, 650,000. In 1954 she graduated more than 50,000 engineers and scientists; we graduated 23,000. Mr. Allen Dulles has stated that between 1950 and 1960 Soviet Russia will have graduated 1,200,000 scientists and engineers, compared with 900,000 in the U. S. in our present program . . ."

One of the reasons Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission gave for brusquely rejecting Commissioner Tom Murray's proposal for an H-bomb test for all the world to see was this: The Bikini tests of 1945 (which were witnessed by two Russian scientists) "appear to have spurred them in their nuclear weapons program."

The Russians had been working on the bomb since 1943 with the help of their own physicists, captured Gearman scientists, and the contributions of Dr. Alan Nunn May, Klaus Fuchs, the Rosenbergs, etc. Biniki couldn't have meant much, one way or the other.

In fact, one of the Red scientists was such a boob that he walked out of a demonstration of the University of California's cyclotron because some joker around the lab had chalked "Big Bertha" on one of the machine's pipes. The Red said, "Ah, I knew it was a war-making device!"

Hollywood recently made what it considers a very interesting discovery: That Texans are quite human. It all came about when Henry Ginsberg, the producer, George Stevens, the director, and Edna Ferber, girl author, decided they'd shoot the works and film Miss Ferber's "Giant" right smack dab in the land where folks were said to be fightin' mad about it.

The company didn't know whether it was going to shoot or get shot when it arrived in Marfa, Tex. But there were no ambushes the first day or so. Emboldened, Ginsberg wired Hollywood to build the picture a "Texas-type" house out there and ship it to Marfa, where there weren't any Texas-type houses. A tense time passed after they imported the Texas-type house into Texas. But still the natives remained quiet.

Pretty soon they came out of hiding. Long lines of air-conditioned Cadillacs appeared on the horizon, and air-conditioned twin-engine private planes and helicopters poked inquisitive noses over hills.

The Hollywood group then learned that the natives weren't interested in beads, in fact, the women seemed to have found a trading post named Neiman-Marcus where such baubles are sold. Anyway, the natives made the intrepid pioneers feel right at home, and although the book was a scalping job here and there they adopted the film. "Big," one said, a Hollywood operative later quoted.

If you're in the neighborhood of New York's Carnegie Hall this Sunday night around 8 o'clock, look in on "Lights On," the seventh annual all-star show for the benefit of the National Council to Combat Blindness. This is one of the few organizations in the world which tries to do something about blindness before it strikes. It is primarily the creation of a fine girl named Mildren Weisenfeld, who went blind as a child from some simple malady as measles, and roamed the world's eye-doctors in search of a cure. She didn't find it, but her work with the council is helping others to escape the fate she courageously bears.

Russian Expedition Sails For Antarctic

MOSCOW, Dec. 1 (AP)—The big Soviet antarctic expedition sailed yesterday from Kaliningrad, formerly the German city of Koenigsberg, to set up three scientific stations on the Queen Mary coast on the Indian Ocean.

The group, headed by Mikhail Somov, geographer and doctor of science, sailed aboard two powerful diesel-electric ships, the Ob and Lena.

Somov said their main base will be named "Smirny" (Peaceful). American and Australian bases will be nearby.

Various countries will cooperate in an international exploration of the antarctic continent in connection with the forthcoming International Geophysical Year. The scientists will seek to increase their knowledge of climate, weather, earthquake, glaciers, geology, solar activity, the sea and upper atmosphere.

In 322 B. C., two great Greek figures died—Aristotle, the philosopher, and Demosthenes, the statesman.

End To Leprosy Seen

TORONTO, Dec. 1 (AP) — A United Church medical missionary from Angola, Portuguese West Africa, reports the end of leprosy's reign of terror is in sight but tuberculosis is sweeping the southern half of Africa. Dr. Walter Strangway, the church's Angola hospital director, said use of the drug diamino diphenyl sulfone could decisively beat leprosy in a year or two.

Labor Violence, On Rise, Still Comparatively Rare

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 (AP)—Government officials who keep tabs on labor affairs say there has been a notable increase in labor violence this year but they add it is still a comparative rarity.

More instances of beatings, shootings, property damage and picket line disturbances seem to have flared up in 1955 than in several years gone by.

Nobody keeps any statistics on labor violence but, officials estimate, it happens in only a small fraction of collective bargaining situations. The Labor Department, for instance, estimates that employers and unions maintain about 125,000 separate contracts.

While violence has diminished considerably from its extent of some years ago, when it was commonplace in many areas, it appears to have definitely been on the increase during most of 1955.

The case which drew most public attention was the shooting outside the Perfect Circle Co. plant at New Castle, Ind., after the company and the CIO United Auto Workers Union became deadlocked in contract negotiations.

Eight strikers and nonstrikers were wounded in bursts of gunfire Oct. 8 outside the small auto piston plant. Indiana Gov. George N. Craig declared martial law and called out the National Guard.

Two other major instances of labor violence earlier in the year came in the two-month strikes on the Louisville & Nashville Railroad and in the Southern Bell Telephone Co.

In the L&N strike, trains were blown up, strikers shot and nonstrikers' homes damaged. One striker was fatally wounded.

The Southern Bell strike was marked by shootings, cable cutting, dynamiting and test flights.

On The Line
by Bob Considine

NEW YORK, Dec. 1 (INS) — People . . . places . . . things . . .

Rear Adm. H. G. Rickover, USN, the man who fought the atomic submarine through the shoals of old-line Navy resistance and accumulated ignorance, produced what he called an "unpleasant fact" in a speech the other day. He said:

"In the field of scientific and engineering education our main competitor—Russia—is speedily passing us. The U. S. now has about 800,000 engineers and scientists. Russia, 650,000. In 1954 she graduated more than 50,000 engineers and scientists; we graduated 23,000. Mr. Allen Dulles has stated that between 1950 and 1960 Soviet Russia will have graduated 1,200,000 scientists and engineers, compared with 900,000 in the U. S. in our present program . . ."

One of the reasons Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission gave for brusquely rejecting Commissioner Tom Murray's proposal for an H-bomb test for all the world to see was this: The Bikini tests of 1945 (which were witnessed by two Russian scientists) "appear to have spurred them in their nuclear weapons program."

The Russians had been working on the bomb since 1943 with the help of their own physicists, captured Gearman scientists, and the contributions of Dr. Alan Nunn May, Klaus Fuchs, the Rosenbergs, etc. Biniki couldn't have meant much, one way or the other.

In fact, one of the Red scientists was such a boob that he walked out of a demonstration of the University of California's cyclotron because some joker around the lab had chalked "Big Bertha" on one of the machine's pipes. The Red said, "Ah, I knew it was a war-making device!"

Hollywood recently made what it considers a very interesting discovery: That Texans are quite human. It all came about when Henry Ginsberg, the producer, George Stevens, the director, and Edna Ferber, girl author, decided they'd shoot the works and film Miss Ferber's "Giant" right smack dab in the land where folks were said to be fightin' mad about it.

The company didn't know whether it was going to shoot or get shot when it arrived in Marfa, Tex. But there were no ambushes the first day or so. Emboldened, Ginsberg wired Hollywood to build the picture a "Texas-type" house out there and ship it to Marfa, where there weren't any Texas-type houses. A tense time passed after they imported the Texas-type house into Texas. But still the natives remained quiet.

Pretty soon they came out of hiding. Long lines of air-conditioned Cadillacs appeared on the horizon, and air-conditioned twin-engine private planes and helicopters poked inquisitive noses over hills.

The Hollywood group then learned that the natives weren't interested in beads, in fact, the women seemed to have found a trading post named Neiman-Marcus where such baubles are sold. Anyway, the natives made the intrepid pioneers feel right at home, and although the book was a scalping job here and there they adopted the film. "Big," one said, a Hollywood operative later quoted.

If you're in the neighborhood of New York's Carnegie Hall this Sunday night around 8 o'clock, look in on "Lights On," the seventh annual all-star show for the benefit of the National Council to Combat Blindness. This is one of the few organizations in the world which tries to do something about blindness before it strikes. It is primarily the creation of a fine girl named Mildren Weisenfeld, who went blind as a child from some simple malady as measles, and roamed the world's eye-doctors in search of a cure. She didn't find it, but her work with the council is helping others to escape the fate she courageously bears.

Russian Expedition Sails For Antarctic

MOSCOW, Dec. 1 (AP)—The big Soviet antarctic expedition sailed yesterday from Kaliningrad, formerly the German city of Koenigsberg, to set up three scientific stations on the Queen Mary coast on the Indian Ocean.

The group, headed by Mikhail Somov, geographer and doctor of science, sailed aboard two powerful diesel-electric ships, the Ob and Lena.

Somov said their main base will be named "Smirny" (Peaceful). American and Australian bases will be nearby.

Various countries will cooperate in an international exploration of the antarctic continent in connection with the forthcoming International Geophysical Year. The scientists will seek to increase their knowledge of climate, weather, earthquake, glaciers, geology, solar activity, the sea and upper atmosphere.

In 322 B. C., two great Greek figures died—Aristotle, the philosopher, and Demosthenes, the statesman.

End To Leprosy Seen

TORONTO, Dec. 1 (AP) — A United Church medical missionary from Angola, Portuguese West Africa, reports the end of leprosy's reign of terror is in sight but tuberculosis is sweeping the southern half of Africa. Dr. Walter Strangway, the church's Angola hospital director, said use of the drug diamino diphenyl sulfone could decisively beat leprosy in a year or two.

Labor Violence, On Rise, Still Comparatively Rare

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 (AP)—Government officials who keep tabs on labor affairs say there has been a notable increase in labor violence this year but they add it is still a comparative rarity.

More instances of beatings, shootings, property damage and picket line disturbances seem to have flared up in 1955 than in several years gone by.

Nobody keeps any statistics on labor violence but, officials estimate, it happens in only a small fraction of collective bargaining situations. The Labor Department, for instance, estimates that employers and unions maintain about 125,000 separate contracts.

While violence has diminished considerably from its extent of some years ago, when it was commonplace in many areas, it appears to have definitely been on the increase during most of 1955.

The case which drew most public attention was the shooting outside the Perfect Circle Co. plant at New Castle, Ind., after the company and the CIO United Auto Workers Union became deadlocked in contract negotiations.

Eight strikers and nonstrikers were wounded in bursts of gunfire Oct. 8 outside the small auto piston plant. Indiana Gov. George N. Craig declared martial law and called out the National Guard.

Two other major instances of labor violence earlier in the year came in the two-month strikes on the Louisville & Nashville Railroad and in the Southern Bell Telephone Co.

In the L&N strike, trains were blown up, strikers shot and nonstrikers' homes damaged. One striker was fatally wounded.

The Southern Bell strike was marked by shootings, cable cutting dynamiting and fist fights.

There should be three strings to your bow for keeping hands looking young — skin care isn't enough.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Three-Part Plan To Keep Hands Young

Your hands can play you false, or they can be gay deceivers. They can look so old no one will believe your actual birthdays, or so young no one will believe them. Just make sure the disbelief is complimentary—and it will be if you plot hand care according to this three-part plan.

1. Keep your hands supple, the muscles flexible, the flesh firm. Stiff and bent fingers can be avoided with massage and stretching. Make it a point to do these things often, especially when your hands feel cramped: Massage each finger, knuckles particularly, then your palms vigorously to strengthen the little-used muscles at the back of the hands. Stretch the fingers of both hands wide apart and hold them tense to a count of fifteen before relaxing them.

2. Keep the skin of your hands soft and lubricated. Wear gloves always outdoors and indoors for protection from too frequent contact with hard water and soap, and damage from washing and cleaning preparations. Gloves of rubber or plastic are effective, or you may prefer the kind made of heavy rubber and lined with jersey which go on and come off easily and wear a long time. Avoid grime, sometimes perhaps with canvas gloves, because scrubbing necessary to remove it has a bad effect. Use hand lotion frequently, and occasionally wear night mits over cream while you sleep.

3. Keep your nails in good condition, not longer than need be for the work you do, but looking smooth and beautiful with polish. If your nails ridge as you grow older, give them this treatment: With polish removed and after soaking, drop a little hot olive oil on each nail and allow it to remain for five minutes. Rinse off the oil and dry the hands. Now, very carefully, file the ridges lightly with the finer side of an emery board. Don't overdo it.

Gen. Collins Says Reds Woo Trade

WEST POINT, N. Y., Dec. 1 (AP)—Gen. J. Lawton Collins said yesterday the Communists are trying to dump weapons and goods in world markets in a new bid for global domination.

The former Army chief of staff, who is now the U.S. member of the NATO Military Standing Group, declared that the United States must continue to give military, economic and political aid to its friends to meet this challenge.

He said the Soviets and their satellites are "wooing" foreign trade, largely through barter, and that their low standard of living enables them to produce some goods cheaper than the free world.

Thus they hope to be able to dump goods and services throughout the world and in this way undermine world markets," Collins said in a speech to the annual Student Conference at the Military Academy.

ON DECEMBER 5, Stevie Damman, missing since Oct. 31, will be four years old, if he is still alive. In their East Meadow, New York, home Airman 2/c Jerry Damman and his wife, Marilyn, show eight-month-old Pamela a picture of her brother, who is feared to have been the victim of kidnapers. Although the FBI entered the case, no tangible clew to the child's whereabouts has been found. The parents made a poignant appeal to "Send Stevie back to us."

WEST POINT, N. Y., Dec. 1 (AP)—Gen. J. Lawton Collins said yesterday the Communists are trying to dump weapons and goods in world markets in a new bid for global domination.

The former Army chief of staff, who is now the U.S. member of the NATO Military Standing Group, declared that the United States must continue to give military, economic and political aid to its friends to meet this challenge.

He said the Soviets and their satellites are "wooing" foreign trade, largely through barter, and that their low standard of living enables them to produce some goods cheaper than the free world.

Thus they hope to be able to dump goods and services throughout the world and in this way undermine world markets," Collins said in a speech to the annual Student Conference at the Military Academy.

ON DECEMBER 5, Stevie Damman, missing since Oct. 31, will be four years old, if he is still alive. In their East Meadow, New York, home Airman 2/c Jerry Damman, and his wife, Marilyn, show eight-month-old Pamela a picture of her brother, who is feared to have been the victim of kidnapers. Although the FBI entered the case, no tangible clew to the child's whereabouts has been found. The parents made a poignant appeal to "Send Stevie back to us."

Council To Act On Economic Program

A bill calling for establishment of a state commission on economic development will be presented at the meeting of the Legislative Council Tuesday.

The Judiciary Committee voted Tuesday in Baltimore to have a bill prepared after approving a report made by a committee appointed last summer to consider its advisability. William C. Walsh, this city, former attorney general of Maryland, presented the report for the committee which also included Del. J. Frank Raley Jr. (D-St. Mary's) and George C. Smith. Raley introduced a bill at the last session of the Legislature calling for such a commission.

The study committee in strongly recommending its establishment, said similar commissions exist in many other states and if Maryland "is to successfully meet the competition throughout the United States in securing new industrial plants, developing the resources of the state and thus providing employment for our citizens and improving the economic condition of the state, it seems to us that there should be as little delay as possible in providing such a commission for Maryland."

Citing Raley's bill as a basis for such legislation, the study committee said the following changes in the bill would be advisable:

Establish a State Department of Economic Development.

Place the department in charge of a commission of seven members representative of all sections of the state to be appointed by the governor. It also suggested the governor designate the chairman with such designation not to exceed four years. Initially, the member would be appointed for one year, two for two years, two for four years and two for six years and thereafter appointments be made for terms of six years. Baltimore City would have two members, Eastern Shore one, Southern Maryland outside Prince George's County one, Western Maryland outside Montgomery County one; Prince George's and Montgomery counties, one, central Maryland (Baltimore, Carroll, Howard and Harford counties), one.

The committee further suggested members serve without compensation other than expenses incurred in attending meetings of the commission.

A director would be provided at a salary of from $12,000 to $15,000 a year. He would be selected by the commission for a term of four years but his tenure would be subject to such reasonable rules and regulations as the commission provides. It further suggests the first state director be excluded from the state merit system to enable the commission to control his selection at least until a satisfactory director has been obtained.

An office of the commission would be established in Baltimore City with a chief clerk, a statistician and at least three other employes, all subject to the state merit system and selected by the commission from lists of qualified persons furnished by the state employment commissioner. Additional personnel, if needed, could be provided later.

The study committee said it did not believe representatives of other state departments should be members of the commission, nor does it believe specific advisory committees from other state agencies should be established by the commission, but, it said, it does recommend the commission have authority to establish advisory groups representing industry, agriculture, labor, seafood interests, railroads and other forms of transportation and utilities, recreation and any other economic field concerning which it may want advice. Other state agencies should be directed to comply with reasonable requests for information or cooperation.

It was suggested from $75,000 to $100,000 be provided for the State Department of Economic Development in the budget. It said many states spend far more for similar work and it seems probable more money will be needed as work of the department develops.

Overall, it suggested an expenditure of $92,500 the first year to be apportioned as follows: Director, $15,000; statistician to prepare economic data, $10,000; chief clerk, $6,000; 3 other office employes, $9,000; travel expense, $8,000; brochures concerning Maryland and its advantages, $15,000; advertising in newspapers and periodicals, $20,000; office rent in Baltimore City, $2,500; office furniture, $2,500; stationery, office supplies, etc., $3,000; and telephone, $1,500.

Rookie Cops To Ride

NEW YORK, Dec. 1 (AP) — A thousand rookie cops will ride this winter until they get their heavy, uniform overcoats. With an eye on the thermometer, the Police Department has assigned them to radio cars. The city has so many new policemen that suppliers have been unable to keep up with the demand for uniforms.

Russian Class Popular

TORONTO, Dec. 1 (AP) — The University of Toronto's department of Slavic studies reports Russian language is one of its most popular subjects because it helps in landing specialized jobs. The department started with 20 students in 1948 and now has 85.

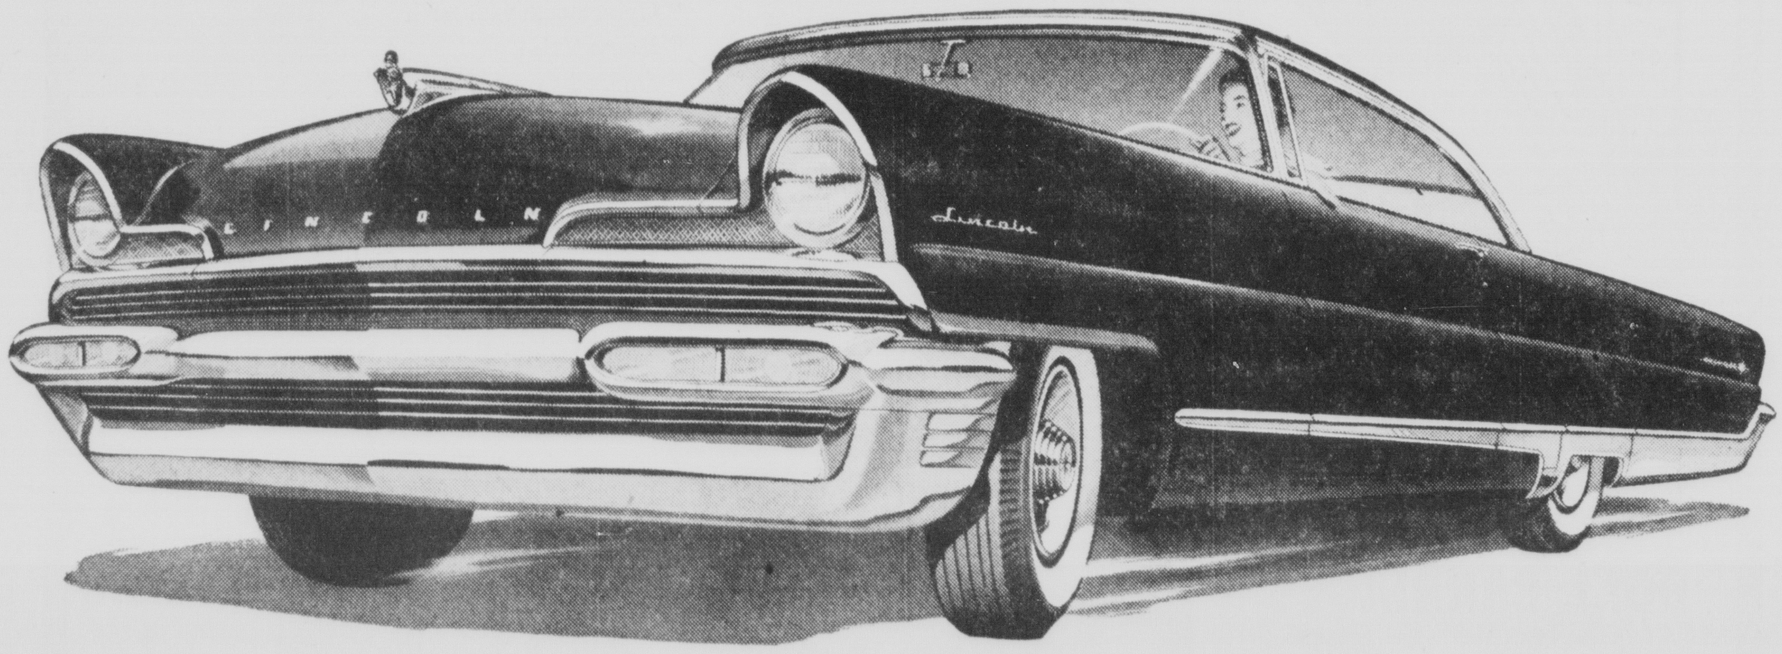
The experts acclaim LINCOLN

NEWSWEEK ... "The 1956 Lincoln is a completely revamped car ... longer, lower, and wider ... with 285 horsepower and styling patterned after the experimental 'Lincoln Futura.' Biggest innovations are safety features, developed after years of crash-testing ... a safety-flex steering wheel, spring-resistant door locks, optional safety belts."

WALL STREET JOURNAL ... "The new 1956 Lincolns meet a smash response... Completely restyled, longer and more powerful ... one of the few makes to feature a major re-do in looks for 1956. Head lamps are hooded. Larger taillights slash forward ... 'Jet-pod' bumper guards house oval-shaped exhausts on both sides."

COLLIER'S ... "Lincoln's attempt to penetrate the big-car market more deeply is based on more than prestige. Lincoln is a big car, yet ... it conveys an impression of small-car maneuverability ... barely five feet high, it has a ground-hugging appearance. Horsepower boosted to 285, and there are new safety devices."

VOGUE ... "Fashion news arriving by car: the Lincoln's body is new, its engine is new, its safety wheel is new, and so are the airplane-type toggle switches. With the exception of airport limousines and the like, this is one of the longest cars in America. Handsome accessory to fashion, too, as it happens."



...and the public agrees!

LINCOLN FOR 1956

Fine car buyers are so enthusiastic about this new Lincoln that there has been, literally, a waiting list for these cars since announcement day. And the demand is still mounting. To be sure of driving the Lincoln of your choice at an early date, come in soon.

Another Lincoln "First" ... The Robot-Top ... The 1956 Lincoln Convertible has the first completely automatic self-locking top—for the quickest, easiest "top-up, top-down" converting ever. No handles or levers to struggle with ... nothing to touch but the control.

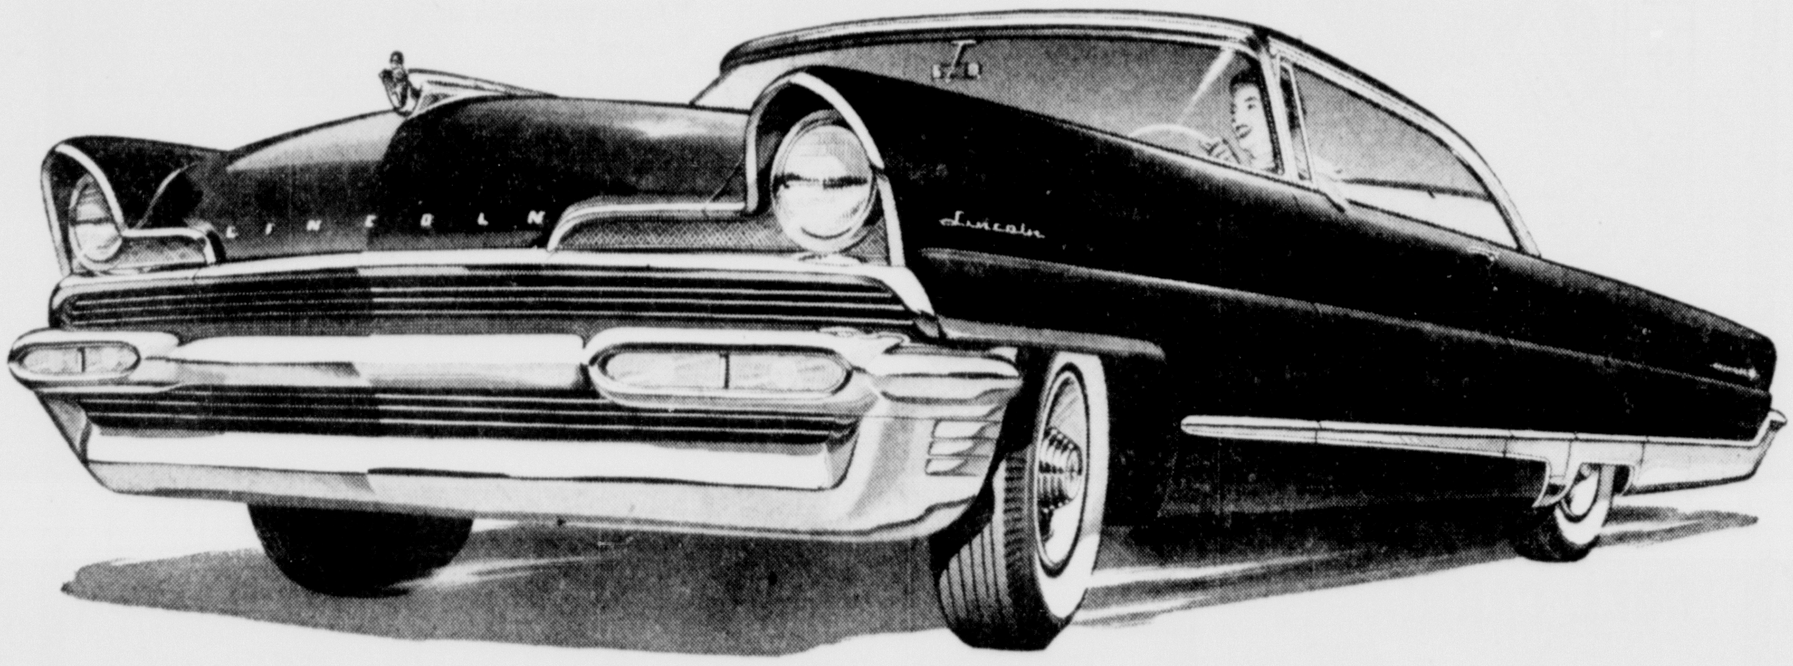
The experts acclaim LINCOLN

NEWSWEEK ... "The 1956 Lincoln is a completely revamped car ... longer, lower, and wider ... with 285 horsepower and styling patterned after the experimental 'Lincoln Futura.' Biggest innovations are safety features, developed after years of crash-testing ... a safety-flex steering wheel, spring-resistant door locks, optional safety belts."

WALL STREET JOURNAL ... "The new 1956 Lincolns meet a smash response... Completely restyled, longer and more powerful ... one of the few makes to feature a major re-do in looks for 1956. Head lamps are hooded. Larger taillights slash forward ... 'Jet-pod' bumper guards house oval-shaped exhausts on both sides."

COLLIER'S ... "Lincoln's attempt to penetrate the big-car market more deeply is based on more than prestige. Lincoln is a big car, yet ... it conveys an impression of small-car maneuverability ... barely five feet high, it has a ground-hugging appearance. Horsepower boosted to 285, and there are new safety devices."

VOGUE ... "Fashion news arriving by car: the Lincoln's body is new, its engine is new, its safety wheel is new, and so are the airplane-type toggle switches. With the exception of airport limousines and the like, this is one of the longest cars in America. Handsome accessory to fashion, too, as it happens."



...and the public agrees!

LINCOLN FOR 1956

Fine car buyers are so enthusiastic about this new Lincoln that there has been, literally, a waiting list for these cars since announcement day. And the demand is still mounting. To be sure of driving the Lincoln of your choice at an early date, come in soon.

Another Lincoln "First" ... The Robot-Top ... The 1956 Lincoln Convertible has the first completely automatic self-locking top—for the quickest, easiest "top-up, top-down" converting ever. No handles or levers to struggle with ... nothing to touch but the control.

There's Adventure Ahead In America

Americans are currently enjoying the highest standard of living the world has ever known. Why? And just how?

Obviously, large population is not the answer. India, Red China, and Soviet Russia all have more inhabitants than the United States. Yet the condition of many millions in all of these countries ranges from miserable to worse.

Great natural resouces is not the answer. There are many parts of the globe that could provide much more than they do in the way of food, clothing, and shelter.

"Americade," the traveling exhibit of the National Association of Manufacturers, offers an answer in easy-to-understand form. It aims to show what capital, management, and labor can do in a country where men are free to think, to devise, and to produce.

"Americade" is billed as a peep into the future. In looking ahead 20 years, it predicates its predictions on the continuance of the American system of free enterprise. Because of this assumption, it is a challenge to thought as well as a stimulus to imagination.

"Americade" doesn't try to sell anything—unless it is the American formula for prosperity. It's meant to inform, and to stir the ambitions of Americans who expect to work under that formula during the next 20 years. So doing, of course, it can help to make that period the most prosperous in the history of the state and nation.

It is intended to point out that there is still plenty of adventure in the American story, even if the plains are fenced in and the open trails are paved with concrete. It should be worth a long look.

Secret Information

Three functions of government are under attack:

1. The admission of aliens to this country under the McCarran-Walter Act;

2. The deportation of aliens who entered illegally or who behaved themselves improperly after legal entrance;

3. The issuance of passports.

The conflict on the first function will be settled in the halls of Congress. It is generally agreed that nothing will be done about it during the next session of Congress, but like the Taft-Hartley Act, the McCarran-Walter Act is an excellent means for the politicians to project themselves before the public. Wherever the population consists of first or second generation Americans, it is possible to stir considerable emotionalism against the quota system which benefits some immigrants while restraining others. Although several suggestions have been made to improve this law, no one has yet come up with a workable suggestion. Someday someone will and perhaps immigration will be taken out of politics where it should not be.

The reason nobody comes up with a workable suggestion is that the quota system was evolved to restrict immigration methodically. Those who oppose it really favor unrestricted immigration which, under present conditions, is impossible, although there has been a loosening of the system during the Eisenhower administration. It is easier to get in and to stay in.

The other two functions are being fought out in the courts. The passport administration, in particular, is being battered in the courts which are reducing that office to a mere agency of issuance without any restraints as to whom a passport may be issued. The federal courts, particularly in accordance with a recent decision of Judge Luther W. Youngdahl, in effect make the passport office an adjunct of the judicial process instead of an administrative function of the executive.

This is a vexed constitutional problem which will have to be settled by the Supreme Court. At issue is the information upon which the passport office bases its decisions for withholding a passport from an American citizen. The courts want the information; the administration cannot disclose the sources of its information or it will have no sources. In a word, what the Supreme Court will have to decide is whether the executive may devise its own means to discover spies, saboteurs, subversives or whether it may employ no methods at all.

District Court Judge James W. Morris last July, in an immigration case, stated the problem as follows:

"To say that these plaintiffs should be deported, which also means in effect the deportation of such American children (because their parents will be deported), upon the basis of 'confidential information' which may be no more than anonymous hearsay rumors, or even by unexplained membership in some organizations listed by the attorney general as subversive, is to deny that the government is competent to function in such fashion as to give everyone with which the government deals the right to know upon what basis such action is taken."

In cases involving espionage, sabotage or subversion, it is impossible to get leads for investigation except from persons who had, in some manner, been close to those engaged in these activities. The motives of the informants are many and sometimes are not honorable. Unless the lead comes from such persons, there is not likely to be a lead except accidentally. This is a practical application of police practices. Neither Judge Morris nor Judge Youngdahl can develop a system for gathering such data as is necessary unless they employ informants, tipsters and even gossip. It also takes an able evaluator of such data to distinguish the probable from the improbable. Sometimes the leads must be followed only to eliminate them, but without leads investigators cannot work.

So what these decisions amount to is that investigation is to be eliminated. Immigration agents or the passport office would have no information to go on. They would have to issue a passport to Ethel and Julius Rosenberg if they were still alive. Presently most of the cases involve Communists or spies and the courts imply that they have as many rights as anybody. Congress could say, no. The Supreme can say, no. And the sooner this question is settled, the better it will be for all concerned.

The notion that a government is not, as a function of administration, to determine who is entitled to a passport, is not tenable. But that is what the courts tend to hold.

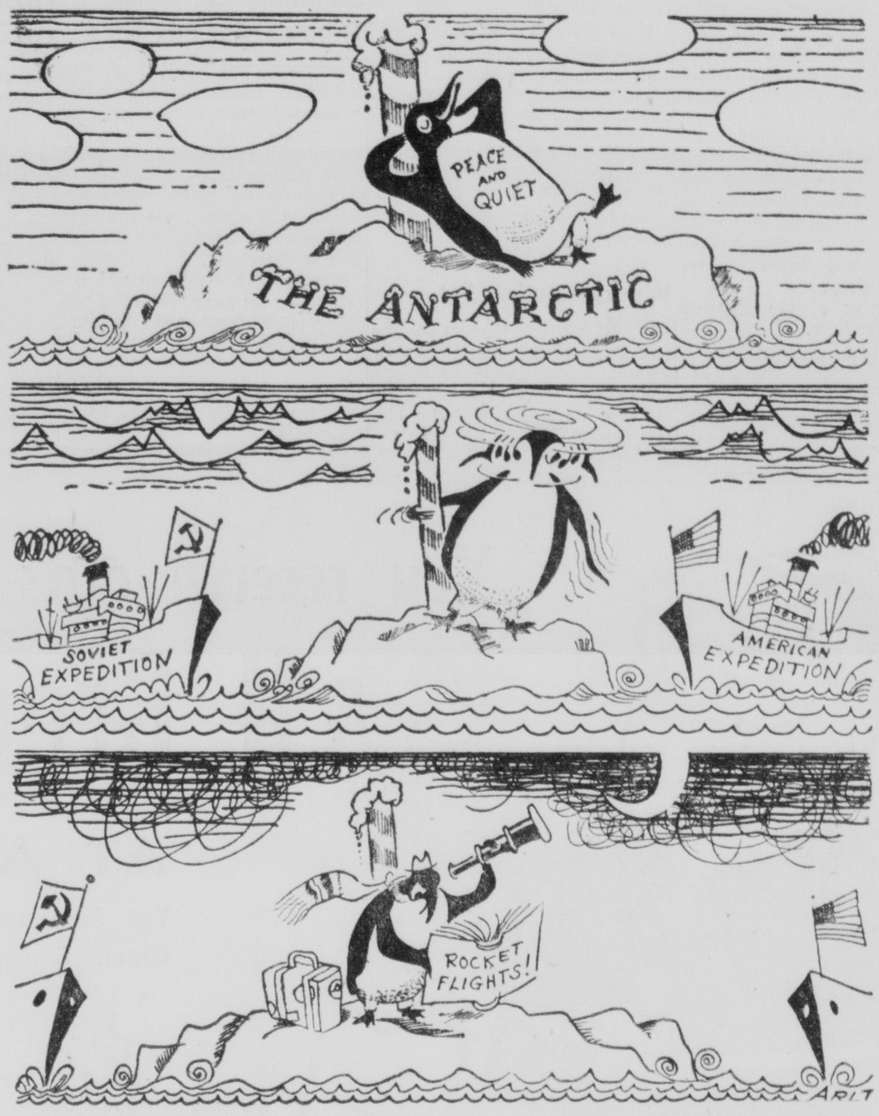
Paradise Lost?



Dr. Scheele Is Expected To Lose Post As Surgeon-General Of U. S.

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — It isn't supposed to be known outside the White House, but Assistant President Sherman Adams has decided to ditch the embattled surgeon-general and scapegoat of the Salk snafu, Dr. Leonard Scheele.

Adams already has Scheele's successor in mind — Dr. Jack Masur, chief of public Health's medical services.

Dr. Scheele became a front-page figure during the controversy over the Salk anti-polio vaccine. Oveta Culp Hobby, then secretary of health, education and welfare, tried to pin the blame on Scheele for the bad batches of vaccine that hit the public.

While the Public Health Service was responsible for testing the vaccine, the fact is that Scheele had urged Mrs. Hobby to begin preparing months before. At the last minute she was responsible for rushing the Salk vaccine to the public and actually got sore when newsreels and photographers were not able to take pictures of her on schedule because Scheele urged more time.

Before the controversy died down, however, Scheele's name was dragged through the headlines, and now he'll be dropped as Public Health chief when his term expires in March.

Meanwhile, Scheele has got wind that he may lose his job, and is doing his best to ingratiate himself with the Republicans. For he attended a ceremony in Kansas City to watch some subordinates receive the annual Lasker Foundation awards for outstanding medical service.

Ex-President Truman was invited by the foundation to make a non-political speech and Scheele was so nervous about appearing on the same platform with Truman that he ducked out of the ceremony before his subordinates were honored.

If this was supposed to make him a hero to the new secretary of health, education and welfare, it backfired. Secretary Marion Folsom, when he heard about Scheele's hasty exit, was not pleased.

No Tax Cuts

If you're trying to figure out your tax cuts for the end of this year and wondering whether taxes will be lower next year, you can write it down as almost certain that there will be no change.

Congress is sure to talk a lot and perhaps vote for a tax cut, but President Eisenhower has given a very private but definite assurance to secretary of the Treasury Humphrey that there will be no tax cut. In brief, Ike has promised to veto any tax reduction voted by Congress.

Humphrey's great ambition is to get the budget balanced, and he expects to pull the Treasury out of the red by June 30. Only after this happens will Humphrey consider cutting personal income taxes which will come ahead of corporate or excise tax reductions.

Franking Abuse

Propagandists for school segregation who are mailing out speeches by Senator Eastland of Mississippi may get in trouble with the Justice Department.

It's against the law for someone else to use a congressman's frank, and he has no power to transfer it. Justice Department officials are looking over 39 U. S. Code, Sec. 335, and 18 U. S. Code, Sec. 1718, which state that a senator cannot "lend said frank or permit its use by any committee, organization, or association, or permit its use by any person for the benefit or use of any committee, organization, or association."

Sec. 1718 further provides a fine of $300 for "anyone who uses said frank without authorization."

Various groups in Maryland, Virginia, and other states have been borrowing envelopes from Senator Eastland's office, stuffing the franked envelopes with copies of his speech attacking the Supreme Court, and mailing them out wholesale.

Conflict Of Interest

In Washington, as among magicians, you frequently have to look behind the scenes to see what's going on.

Recently, Senator Bricker of Ohio, voted one of the handsomest men in the Senate but also tabbed by the press gallery as the 96th senator—lowest on the list when it comes to ability—wrote a letter opposing the investigation by Senator Sparkman's Small Business Committee into the trucking industry and railroad competition.

Bricker proposed that his own Senate Interstate Commerce Committee investigate this matter instead. Bricker claimed that only the Interstate Commerce Committee, of which he is ranking Republican member, has the authority to probe the controversial question of truckers, railroads, and discrimination against small truckers.

Other senators who got Senator Bricker's squawk, however, paid scant attention.

They knew, though they didn't say so publicly, that Bricker's law firm in Columbus, Ohio, is paid an annual fee of between $30,000 and $40,000 by the Pennsylvania Railroad. They also knew that this fee came to Bricker's law office only after the senator became a member of the powerful Interstate Commerce Committee where he could exercise a friendly vote for or against the railroads.

Washington Pipeline

Postmaster General Summerfield of Michigan, the big Chevrolet dealer, brought pressure to get Tom McIntyre fired from the staff of Sen. Charles Potter of Michigan. General Motors partisans accused McIntyre of being on Ford's payroll. Untrue. . . . Senate Republican Leader Bill Knowland has told friends he definitely will try for the GOP presidential nomination if Ike drops out. He'll fight the hard way for the nomination in the state primaries.

Time, Patience, Moral Courage Can Win Cold War

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Defeatism and appeasement, with their tragic indifference to morality and idealism, may well have run their course in the debate over American foreign policy.

For the choice between the alternative courses of action now is becoming clear as the voters in both political parties are taking a well-justified interest in what the United States should do in its relation to the rest of the world.

Course number one, which implies that the United States must fight a war with Soviet Russia and her satellites and seek to secure objectives by military power, has been rejected by the thoughtful elements of both parties. There are, of course, reckless and irresponsible spokesmen on the Democratic side who have mischievously misrepresented American policy—as, for example, by insisting that the administration was pledged to "liberate" the satellites by force. This never has been an American policy or promise. Military force is unnecessary because moral force, properly applied, will accomplish the liberation of the captive peoples in due time.

Some Insidious Influences

Course number two, which amounts to appeasement and surrender, has also been rejected by the responsible leaders of the two parties. There are, to be sure, insidious influences seeking to "compromise" or to make "deals" with Soviet Russia and much of the advocacy of this view comes from those shortsighted Europeans who still think it is possible to "deal" with evil governments and unscrupulous leaders. Occasionally some Americans, including a few big business men who think isolationism is less expensive taxwise for them, are in favor of going on bended knees to the Russians and offering them control of Europe in exchange for "letting America alone." But such voices are few, and their champions, thought vocal, have not been persuasive. "Peace at any price" is not popular except among those who still are duped by the Soviet strategy of terror.

Course number three, which might well be described as the truly American course, calls for firmness, patience, and independence and a devotion to moral principle instead of a craven policy of constant concessions to expediency. This course means building up the nation's armament to keep pace with any rival. It means keeping the armed services in a state of alertness and readiness to ward off sudden attack. It means also a willingness to stand on principle and wait out the other side's tactics without flinching. It means a sensible program of economic and military aid on a concentrated basis.

Democrats Present Paradox

This involves a selection of areas in which it would be worth while to have allies and to give military aid. It doesn't mean the spending of billions for the sake of spending. It doesn't mean covering the earth with American dollars, since the people of the United States couldn't afford such a policy even if it were helpful in buying support in backward areas of the world.

But, basically, the choice America will have to make is between moral force and economic force, on the one hand, and military force on the other. Misguided Democrats, who seem to enjoy blaming the United States for Soviet aggression, present a paradox. Thus, they favor measures that are soft on the problem of Communist infiltration inside America. Conversely, they favor—or try to make people believe they favor—a tough course in dealing with the Kremlin. Nothing could help the Republicans more than to thresh out these inconsistent positions in a political battle against a party that belittles its own government, attempts to needle it into war while treating Communists and their sympathizers in this country as heroic examples of "dissent."

The United States has infinitely more resources and more industrial strength than Soviet Russia. The United States has morality on its side, and in the long run this counts with peoples everywhere, including those behind the iron curtain.

America is able also to cut off the shipment of strategic goods to Communist countries and to persuade her allies to do likewise.

America Can Win

America is in a position to use her moral influence to build unity in Europe and to strengthen the Western Alliance. It isn't the Russians who can defeat American objectives. The danger lies in American disunity and submission to "fifth column" tactics which are nowadays so often aided by well-intentioned persons who keep calling for softer treatment of the Communists.

Financial aid is logical for America to give to countries which can provide military help in a crisis, but not to areas where illiteracy and totalitarian tribesmen rule millions of helpless natives. If the Moscow government wants to undertake that burden, the Soviets will find themselves stretching their meagre resources thinly over the Asian continent only to provoke trouble back home where big sacrifices would be required to sustain such expensive programs.

Time and patience and moral courage and a careful husbanding of economic resources can win the "cold war" for the West and thereby bring freedom to the hundreds of millions of oppressed peoples living today under the despotism of the Soviet regime.

Which Team Speaks?

By Joseph and Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

The row about bi-partisanship in foreign policy has thus far involved Adlai Stevenson, Averell Harriman and the Democratic National Committee on one side, and on the other, Senator Walter George, Harold Stassen, John Foster Dulles and the President himself.

In short, this is already a very majestic row indeed. But it is quite certain to continue and to grow worse unless the Eisenhower administration decides to resolve the glaring contradiction between the rosy picture of affairs that is given to the public, and the real state of affairs in the world.

It is not criticism of the administration; it is a simple statement of fact, to say that the present state of affairs in the world is both perilous and ominous. All you have to do is make what the diplomats call a "tour of the horizon" in order to see that this is so.

Red Influence Spreading

The same papers that carried the President's call for a return to bi-partisanship also carried on-the-spot reports that Afghanistan is on the way to becoming a Soviet satellite, and that Burma, which used to be one of the most hopeful countries in Asia, is now being deeply penetrated by Soviet economic influence.

The position in the Formosa Strait is uglier than ever. The position in Indochina is a little better than six months ago, but still dangerous in the extreme. The position in Malaya, where a Communist take-over in Singapore is now a serious possibility, has grown worse than anyone could have foreseen. Even in Thailand, once so strongly allied to this country, a strong trend towards neutralism has lately been reported on good authority.

In the Middle East, meanwhile, the Soviet arms sales to Egypt and the other Arab states are only the opening gambit in a campaign to expel Western influence from this whole strategically vital area. Secretary of State Dulles himself has privately characterized the Soviet drive into the Middle East as an event potentially "more serious" than the original aggression in Korea.

In Germany, there is increasing danger that the grand nightmare of Western diplomacy will become reality in the fairly near future. As high an authority as George F. Kennan has already predicted that the Germans will finally abandon their alliance with the West, in order to buy re-unification of their country from the Soviets.

Soviet Catching Up

In Japan, a similar reversal of alliances will clearly become probable, if further Communist victories in Southeast Asia convince the Japanese that the bandwagon is traveling in the Communist direction.

Add to all this, finally, the state of affairs most recently symbolized by the new Soviet H-bomb test. Remember that in all critical categories of arms, the Soviets are now catching up to this country. Remember further that in certain important categories, such as jet fighters and long range guided missles, the Soviets have actually drawn ahead. Consider the total impact of this change in the weapon balance when added to the threatened changes in the world strategic balance listed above. The addition is not encouraging.

Furthermore, besides stimulating Messrs. Stevenson and Harriman to view with alarm, this same melancholy addition had already another result that may prove even more significant. In effect, it has caused the Eisenhower team to split into two teams.

The first team is still composed of those who are not yet convinced of the need to take urgent measures to halt the deterioration of the world situation. There has been some exaggeration in the recent talk about the "Four H Club," which comprises Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey, Under Secretary of State Herbert Hoover Jr., Foreign Aid Administrator John Hollister and Budget Director Rowland Hughes. Neither these men nor their allies, such as Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson, are so complacent or so obstinately attached to a business-as-usual policy as they are often charged with being.

Issue Not Decided

But the viewpoint of the first team nonetheless differs very widely from that of the second team. At present the second team comprises an astonishingly large number of men on the higher staff levels of policy-making in both the State and Defense Departments, and even the White House itself. The second team of the Eisenhower administration adds up the world situation just about as it has been added up in this report. And the second team is already convinced—very passionately convinced—that most urgent measures are now needed if the worst sort of trouble is to be avoided.

Thus far, several key figures of whom Secretary Dulles is by far the most significant, have not finally chosen which team they will play on. The President, above all, has not yet decideo the issue between his two teams. But since there are so many viewers-with-alarm in the most high and secret places of the administration, it seems a bit odd to charge a break in bi-partisanship to those who refuse to repeat, like happy parrots that "every day in every way, everything is getting better and better."

Test To Predict Heart Attack Is Under Study

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Deilen

A new blood test that might help physicians predict an impending heart attack or stroke was reported recently in the Journal of Laboratory and Clinical Medicine by Dr. John N. Shadid of Washington, D. C. Although more than 1,000 individuals have been investigated along this line to determine the usefulness of the test, the study is far from complete.

The test measures certain blood factors that play a role in the clotting of blood. The initial survey was done on a group of 237 healthy young men and women, with an average age of 30. Samples of blood were taken during different seasons of the year and under various conditions of everyday living including the stresses of minor illnesses, frustrations, fatigue, tension, hard work, cold, heat, and hunger.

When the results were charted on a graph the average reading for women was five points and for men, two points below the baseline (minus five and minus two respectively). The figures rose during periods of stress and, in many instances, went above the baseline on the positive side of the graph.

Higher readings also were obtained in women during the first day of menstruation. Women who had gone through the menopause had readings similar to those of men. These normal findings are significant as more younger men have heart attacks and stroke than do women in the same age group. After the menopause, however, the ratio is the same.

A group of patients who were hospitalized for a variety of reasons were then tested. One hundred and seventy-two were heart patients. Those who suffered a coronary occlusion had a reading of plus seven or more; with recovery, it fell to normal.

Tests also were done on a series of 60 patients in whom a recent heart attack was suspected. Simultaneous electro-cardiagrams and blood tests were made and those who showed changes in the electrocardiograms, denoting coronary thrombosis, also were found to have readings above plus seven. Heart attacks never materialized in those with readings below seven.

Another group of 128 who, through past experiences, were candidates for blood clots were studied. Daily blood tests were made on these individuals following a period of stress such as is associated with accident or operation. The highest readings (above plus seven) were obtained in those who developed complications such as phlebitis.

When the data were analyzed, it was decided that all the patients who developed blood clots, including coronary thrombosis, had readings at some time during their illness of plus seven or more. These individuals were considered hyper-reactors to stress and mortality was highest in this group.

MEAT SELECTION

F. B. writes: I eat steak, roast beef, and chicken only as I do not care for other meats, is there anything wrong with this selection?

REPLY

No, as beef and chicken are popular and nutritious. A wider selection would offer more variety but from the standpoint of health, you need not change your menus.

REACTION TO BEER

C. W. writes: What makes my big toes swell when I drink beer?

REPLY

If you are not a victim of gout, you may have an allergy to one of the ingredients in beer or to the brass on the footrail.

STERILE COUPLE

Mrs. M. N. writes: My husband and I have been married 15 years and haven't had a child. Is there any chance of my becoming pregnant?

REPLY

Yes. We have a leaflet on infertility that may be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope. It is not complete but should afford enough information to get started in the right direction.

NOT SEASONAL

R. writes: Is it true that pork should not be eaten in the summer time?

REPLY

There is no closed season for pork, provided it is kept well refrigerated and cooked thoroughly.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Deilan will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me!

By Bennett Cerf

Frank Case, amiable boniface of the Algonquin Hotel, told the story of the day the late DeWolf Hopper protested to him that nowhere in New York could he find his favorite dessert, brown betty, on the menu. "I'd have it here for you," Case said, "if I thought there would be a reasonable demand for it." "You put it on your menu tomorrow night," proposed Hopper, "and I'll see to it personally that the demand develops."

The next night brown betty was duly added to the Algonquin bill of fare, and Hopper, much gratified, made a personal tour of every table in the dining room. "I am DeWolfe Hopper," he announced to the surprised patrons, "and I personally urge you to sample the brown betty this evening. It's delicious!"

Hopper then repaired to his own table, toyed with a beefsteak, and summoned his waiter. "Now," he said, rubbing his hands in anticipation. "I'll have a double order of brown betty."

"I'm very sorry, sir," said the waiter. "It's all gone."

District Court Judge James W. Morris last July, in an immigration case, stated the problem as follows:

"To say that these plaintiffs should be deported, which also means in effect the deportation of such American children (because their parents will be deported), upon the basis of 'confidential information' which may be no more than anonymous hearsay rumors, or even by unexplained membership in some organizations listed by the attorney general as subversive, is to deny that the government is competent to function in such fashion as to give everyone with which the government deals the right to know upon what basis such action is taken."

In cases involving espionage, sabotage or subversion, it is impossible to get leads for investigation except from persons who had, in some manner, been close to those engaged in these activities. The motives of the informants are many and sometimes are not honorable. Unless the lead comes from such persons, there is not likely to be a lead except accidentally. This is a practical application of police practices. Neither Judge Morris nor Judge Youngdahl can develop a system for gathering such data as is necessary unless they employ informants, tipsters and even gossip. It also takes an able evaluator of such data to distinguish the probable from the improbable. Sometimes the leads must be followed only to eliminate them, but without leads investigators cannot work.

So what these decisions amount to is that investigation is to be eliminated. Immigration agents or the passport office would have no information to go on. They would have to issue a passport to Ethel and Julius Rosenberg if they were still alive. Presently most of the cases involve Communists or spies and the courts imply that they have as many rights as anybody. Congress could say, no. The Supreme can say, no. And the sooner this question is settled, the better it will be for all concerned.

The notion that a government is not, as a function of administration, to determine who is entitled to a passport, is not tenable. But that is what the courts tend to hold.

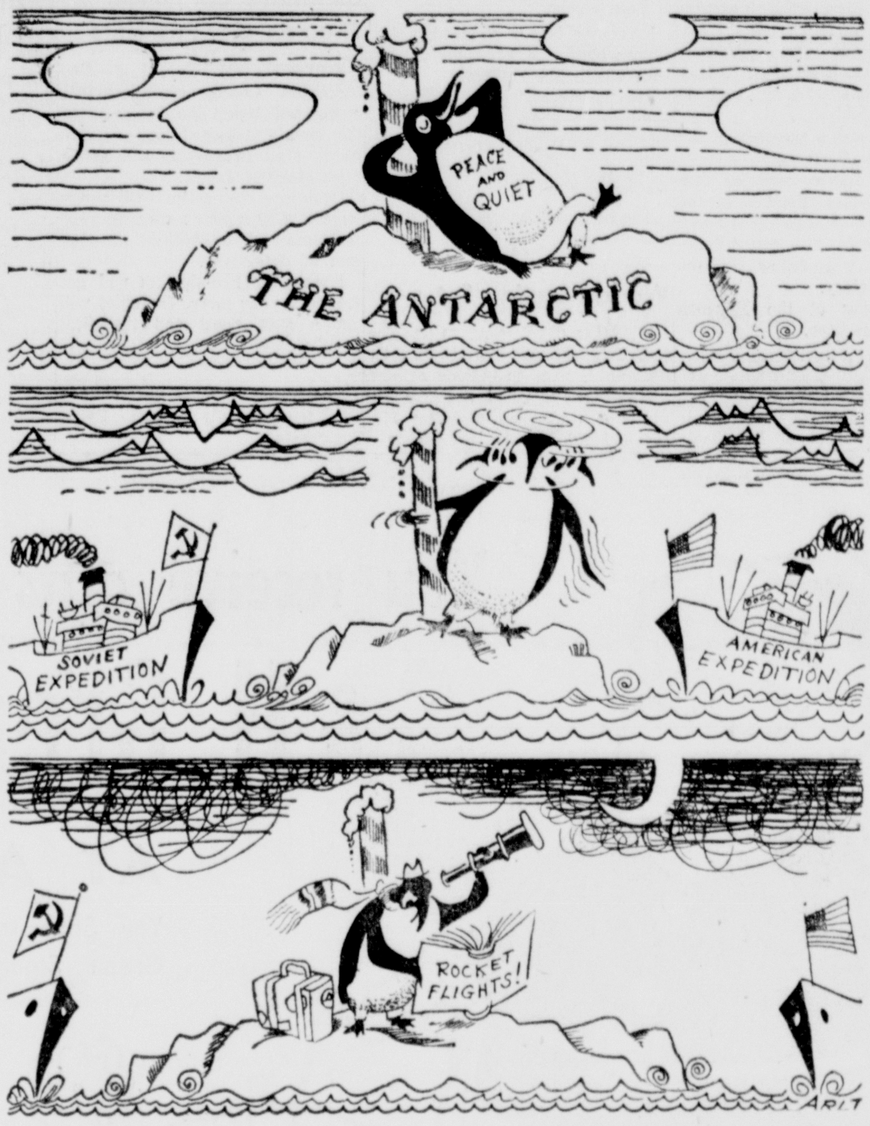
Paradise Lost?



Dr. Scheele Is Expected To Lose Post As Surgeon-General Of U. S.

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — It isn't supposed to be known outside the White House, but Assistant President Sherman Adams has decided to ditch the embattled surgeon-general and scapegoat of the Salk snafu, Dr. Leonard Scheele.

Adams already has Scheele's successor in mind — Dr. Jack Masur, chief of public Health's medical services.

Dr. Scheele became a front-page figure during the controversy over the Salk anti-polio vaccine. Oveta Culp Hobby, then secretary of health, education and welfare, tried to pin the blame on Scheele for the bad batches of vaccine that hit the public.

While the Public Health Service was responsible for testing the vaccine, the fact is that Scheele had urged Mrs. Hobby to begin preparing months before. At the last minute she was responsible for rushing the Salk vaccine to the public and actually got sore when newsreels and photographers were not able to take pictures of her on schedule because Scheele urged more time.

Before the controversy died down, however, Scheele's name was dragged through the headlines, and now he'll be dropped as Public Health chief when his term expires in March.

Meanwhile, Scheele has got wind that he may lose his job, and is doing his best to ingratiate himself with the Republicans. For he attended a ceremony in Kansas City to watch some subordinates receive the annual Lasker Foundation awards for outstanding medical service.

Ex-President Truman was invited by the foundation to make a non-political speech and Scheele was so nervous about appearing on the same platform with Truman that he ducked out of the ceremony before his subordinates were honored.

If this was supposed to make him a hero to the new secretary of health, education and welfare, it backfired. Secretary Marion Folsom, when he heard about Scheele's hasty exit, was not pleased.

No Tax Cuts

If you're trying to figure out your tax cuts for the end of this year and wondering whether taxes will be lower next year, you can write it down as almost certain that there will be no change.

Congress is sure to talk a lot and perhaps vote for a tax cut, but President Eisenhower has given a very private but definite assurance to secretary of the Treasury Humphrey that there will be no tax cut. In brief, Ike has promised to veto any tax reduction voted by Congress.

Humphrey's great ambition is to get the budget balanced, and he expects to pull the Treasury out of the red by June 30. Only after this happens will Humphrey consider cutting personal income taxes which will come ahead of corporate or excise tax reductions.

Franking Abuse

Propagandists for school segregation who are mailing out speeches by Senator Eastland of Mississippi may get in trouble with the Justice Department.

It's against the law for someone else to use a congressman's frank, and he has no power to transfer it. Justice Department officials are looking over 39 U. S. Code, Sec. 335, and 18 U. S. Code, Sec. 1718, which state that a senator cannot "lend said frank or permit its use by any committee, organization, or association, or permit its use by any person for the benefit or use of any committee, organization, or association."

Sec. 1718 further provides a fine of $300 for "anyone who uses said frank without authorization."

Various groups in Maryland, Virginia, and other states have been borrowing envelopes from Senator Eastland's office, stuffing the franked envelopes with copies of his speech attacking the Supreme Court, and mailing them out wholesale.

Conflict Of Interest

In Washington, as among magicians, you frequently have to look behind the scenes to see what's going on.

Recently, Senator Bricker of Ohio, voted one of the handsomest men in the Senate but also tabbed by the press gallery as the 96th senator—lowest on the list when it comes to ability—wrote a letter opposing the investigation by Senator Sparkman's Small Business Committee into the trucking industry and railroad competition.

Bricker proposed that his own Senate Interstate Commerce Committee investigate this matter instead. Bricker claimed that only the Interstate Commerce Committee, of which he is ranking Republican member, has the authority to probe the controversial question of truckers, railroads, and discrimination against small truckers.

Other senators who got Senator Bricker's squawk, however, paid scant attention.

They knew, though they didn't say so publicly, that Bricker's law firm in Columbus, Ohio, is paid an annual fee of between $30,000 and $40,000 by the Pennsylvania Railroad. They also knew that this fee came to Bricker's law office only after the senator became a member of the powerful Interstate Commerce Committee where he could exercise a friendly vote for or against the railroads.

Washington Pipeline

Postmaster General Summerfield of Michigan, the big Chevrolet dealer, brought pressure to get Tom McIntyre fired from the staff of Sen. Charles Potter of Michigan. General Motors partisans accused McIntyre of being on Ford's payroll. Untrue. . . . Senate Republican Leader Bill Knowland has told friends he definitely will try for the GOP presidential nomination if Ike drops out. He'll fight the hard way for the nomination in the state primaries.

Time, Patience, Moral Courage Can Win Cold War

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Defeatism and appeasement, with their tragic indifference to morality and idealism, may well have run their course in the debate over American foreign policy.

For the choice between the alternative courses of action now is becoming clear as the voters in both political parties are taking a well-justified interest in what the United States should do in its relation to the rest of the world.

Course number one, which implies that the United States must fight a war with Soviet Russia and her satellites and seek to secure objectives by military power, has been rejected by the thoughtful elements of both parties. There are, of course, reckless and irresponsible spokesmen on the Democratic side who have mischievously misrepresented American policy—as, for example, by insisting that the administration was pledged to "liberate" the satellites by force. This never has been an American policy or promise. Military force is unnecessary because moral force, properly applied, will accomplish the liberation of the captive peoples in due time.

Some Insidious Influences

Course number two, which amounts to appeasement and surrender, has also been rejected by the responsible leaders of the two parties. There are, to be sure, insidious influences seeking to "compromise" or to make "deals" with Soviet Russia and much of the advocacy of this view comes from those shortsighted Europeans who still think it is possible to "deal" with evil governments and unscrupulous leaders. Occasionally some Americans, including a few big business men who think isolationism is less expensive taxwise for them, are in favor of going on bended knees to the Russians and offering them control of Europe in exchange for "letting America alone." But such voices are few, and their champions, thought vocal, have not been persuasive. "Peace at any price" is not popular except among those who still are duped by the Soviet strategy of terror.

Course number three, which might well be described as the truly American course, calls for firmness, patience, and independence and a devotion to moral principle instead of a craven policy of constant concessions to expediency. This course means building up the nation's armament to keep pace with any rival. It means keeping the armed services in a state of alertness and readiness to ward off sudden attack. It means also a willingness to stand on principle and wait out the other side's tactics without flinching. It means a sensible program of economic and military aid on a concentrated basis.

Democrats Present Paradox

This involves a selection of areas in which it would be worth while to have allies and to give military aid. It doesn't mean the spending of billions for the sake of spending. It doesn't mean covering the earth with American dollars, since the people of the United States couldn't afford such a policy even if it were helpful in buying support in backward areas of the world.

But, basically, the choice America will have to make is between moral force and economic force, on the one hand, and military force on the other. Misguided Democrats, who seem to enjoy blaming the United States for Soviet aggression, present a paradox. Thus, they favor measures that are soft on the problem of Communist infiltration inside America. Conversely, they favor—or try to make people believe they favor—a tough course in dealing with the Kremlin. Nothing could help the Republicans more than to thresh out these inconsistent positions in a political battle against a party that belittles its own government, attempts to needle it into war while treating Communists and their sympathizers in this country as heroic examples of "dissent."

The United States has infinitely more resources and more industrial strength than Soviet Russia. The United States has morality on its side, and in the long run this counts with peoples everywhere, including those behind the iron curtain.

America is able also to cut off the shipment of strategic goods to Communist countries and to persuade her allies to do likewise.

America Can Win

America is in a position to use her moral influence to build unity in Europe and to strengthen the Western Alliance. It isn't the Russians who can defeat American objectives. The danger lies in American disunity and submission to "fifth column" tactics which are nowadays so often aided by well-intentioned persons who keep calling for softer treatment of the Communists.

Financial aid is logical for America to give to countries which can provide military help in a crisis, but not to areas where illiteracy and totalitarian tribesmen rule millions of helpless natives. If the Moscow government wants to undertake that burden, the Soviets will find themselves stretching their meagre resources thinly over the Asian continent only to provoke trouble back home where big sacrifices would be required to sustain such expensive programs.

Time and patience and moral courage and a careful husbanding of economic resources can win the "cold war" for the West and thereby bring freedom to the hundreds of millions of oppressed peoples living today under the despotism of the Soviet regime.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Heavier-than-air meeting of Ike's cabinet brings up another international problem. What will happen if a bigamist ever gets hold of a helicopter?

This is what you might call the flying kitchen cabinet. Government by egg-beater.

Democrats have something to think about if that fellow Bell of Buffalo is right. Government electroniceers are playing around with the trans-spatial pull. That means they're going to repeal the law of gravity.

No more mysterious than how society dowagers keep those strapless and backless waists up.

How many missions does the cabinet have to make before it gets desk-duty?

And can it use a good tail-gunner?

Which Team Speaks?

By Joseph and Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

The row about bi-partisanship in foreign policy has thus far involved Adlai Stevenson, Averell Harriman and the Democratic National Committee on one side, and on the other, Senator Walter George, Harold Stassen, John Foster Dulles and the President himself.

In short, this is already a very majestic row indeed. But it is quite certain to continue and to grow worse unless the Eisenhower administration decides to resolve the glaring contradiction between the rosy picture of affairs that is given to the public, and the real state of affairs in the world.

It is not criticism of the administration; it is a simple statement of fact, to say that the present state of affairs ir the world is both perilous and ominous. All you have to do is make what the diplomats call a "tour of the horizon" in order to see that this is so.

Red Influence Spreading

The same papers that carried the President's call for a return to bi-partisanship also carried on-the-spot reports that Afghanistan is on the way to becoming a Soviet satellite, and that Burma, which used to be one of the most hopeful countries in Asia, is now being deeply penetrated by Soviet economic influence.

The position in the Formosa Strait is uglier than ever. The position in Indochina is a little better than six months ago, but still dangerous in the extreme. The position in Malaya, where a Communist take-over in Singapore is now a serious possibility, has grown worse than anyone could have foreseen. Even in Thailand, once so strongly allied to this country, a strong trend towards neutralism has lately been reported on good authority.

In the Middle East, meanwhile, the Soviet arms sales to Egypt and the other Arab states are only the opening gambit in a campaign to expel Western influence from this whole strategically vital area. Secretary of State Dulles himself has privately characterized the Soviet drive into the Middle East as an event potentially "more serious" than the original aggression in Korea.

In Germany, there is increasing danger that the grand nightmare of Western diplomacy will become reality in the fairly near future. As high an authority as George F. Kennan has already predicted that the Germans will finally abandon their alliance with the West, in order to buy re-unification of their country from the Soviets.

Soviet Catching Up

In Japan, a similar reversal of alliances will clearly become probable, if further Communist victories in Southeast Asia convince the Japanese that the bandwagon is traveling in the Communist direction.

Add to all this, finally, the state of affairs most recently symbolized by the new Soviet H-bomb test. Remember that in all critical categories of arms, the Soviets are now catching up to this country. Remember further that in certain important categories, such as jet fighters and long range guided missles, the Soviets have actually drawn ahead. Consider the total impact of this change in the weapon balance when added to the threatened changes in the world strategic balance listed above. The addition is not encouraging.

Furthermore, besides stimulating Messrs. Stevenson and Harriman to view with alarm, this same melancholy addition had already another result that may prove even more significant. In effect, it has caused the Eisenhower team to split into two teams.

The first team is still composed of those who are not yet convinced of the need to take urgent measures to halt the deterioration of the world situation. There has been some exaggeration in the recent talk about the "Four H Club," which comprises Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey, Under Secretary of State Herbert Hoover Jr., Foreign Aid Administrator John Hollister and Budget Director Rowland Hughes. Neither these men nor their allies, such as Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson, are so complacent or so obstinately attached to a business-as-usual policy as they are often charged with being.

Issue Not Decided

But the viewpoint of the first team nonetheless differs very widely from that of the second team. At present the second team comprises an astonishingly large number of men on the higher staff levels of policy-making in both the State and Defense Departments, and even the White House itself. The second team of the Eisenhower administration adds up the world situation just about as it has been added up in this report. And the second team is already convinced—very passionately convinced—that most urgent measures are now needed if the worst sort of trouble is to be avoided.

Thus far, several key figures of whom Secretary Dulles is by far the most significant, have not finally chosen which team they will play on. The President, above all, has not yet decided the issue between his two teams. But since there are so many viewers-with-alarm in the most high and secret places of the administration, it seems a bit odd to charge a break in bi-partisanship to those who refuse to repeat, like happy parrots that "every day in every way, everything is getting better and better."

Test To Predict Heart Attack Is Under Study

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Deilen

A new blood test that might help physicians predict an impending heart attack or stroke was reported recently in the Journal of Laboratory and Clinical Medicine by Dr. John N. Shadid of Washington, D. C. Although more than 1,000 individuals have been investigated along this line to determine the usefulness of the test, the study is far from complete.

The test measures certain blood factors that play a role in the clotting of blood. The initial survey was done on a group of 237 healthy young men and women, with an average age of 30. Samples of blood were taken during different seasons of the year and under various conditions of everyday living including the stresses of minor illnesses, frustrations, fatigue, tension, hard work, cold, heat, and hunger.

When the results were charted on a graph the average reading for women was five points and for men, two points below the baseline (minus five and minus two respectively). The figures rose during periods of stress and, in many instances, went above the baseline on the positive side of the graph.

Higher readings also were obtained in women during the first day of menstruation. Women who had gone through the menopause had readings similar to those of men. These normal findings are significant as more younger men have heart attacks and stroke than do women in the same age group. After the menopause, however, the ratio is the same.

A group of patients who were hospitalized for a variety of reasons were then tested. One hundred and seventy-two were heart patients. Those who suffered a coronary occlusion had a reading of plus seven or more; with recovery, it fell to normal.

Tests also were done on a series of 60 patients in whom a recent heart attack was suspected. Simultaneous electro-cardiagrams and blood tests were made and those who showed changes in the electrocardiograms, denoting coronary thrombosis, also were found to have readings above plus seven. Heart attacks never materialized in those with readings below seven.

Another group of 128 who, through past experiences, were candidates for blood clots were studied. Daily blood tests were made on these individuals following a period of stress such as is associated with accident or operation. The highest readings (above plus seven) were obtained in those who developed complications such as phlebitis.

When the data were analyzed, it was decided that all the patients who developed blood clots, including coronary thrombosis, had readings at some time during their illness of plus seven or more. These individuals were considered hyper-reactors to stress and mortality was highest in this group.

MEAT SELECTION

F. B. writes: I eat steak, roast beef, and chicken only as I do not care for other meats, is there anything wrong with this selection?

REPLY

No, as beef and chicken are popular and nutritious. A wider selection would offer more variety but from the standpoint of health, you need not change your menus.

REACTION TO BEER

C. W. writes: What makes my big toes swell when I drink beer?

REPLY

If you are not a victim of gout, you may have an allergy to one of the ingredients in beer or to the brass on the footrail.

STERILE COUPLE

Mrs. M. N. writes: My husband and I have been married 15 years and haven't had a child. Is there any chance of my becoming pregnant?

REPLY

Yes. We have a leaflet on infertility that may be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope. It is not complete but should afford enough information to get started in the right direction.

NOT SEASONAL

R. writes: Is it true that pork should not be eaten in the summer time?

REPLY

There is no closed season for pork, provided it is kept well refrigerated and cooked thoroughly.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Deilan will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me!

By Bennett Cerf

Frank Case, amiable boniface of the Algonquin Hotel, told the story of the day the late DeWolf Hopper protested to him that nowhere in New York could he find his favorite dessert, brown betty, on the menu. "I'd have it here for you," Case said, "if I thought there would be a reasonable demand for it." "You put it on your menu tomorrow night," proposed Hopper, "and I'll see to it personally that the demand develops."

The next night brown betty was duly added to the Algonquin bill of fare, and Hopper, much gratified, made a personal tour of every table in the dining room. "I am DeWolfe Hopper," he announced to the surprised patrons, "and I personally urge you to sample the brown betty this evening. It's delicious!"

Hopper then repaired to his own table, toyed with a beefsteak, and summoned his waiter. "Now," he said, rubbing his hands in anticipation. "I'll have a double order of brown betty."

"I'm very sorry, sir," said the waiter. "It's all gone."

Fairchild To Resume Tests Of Dutch Jet

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 (AP)—The Civil Aeronautics Board has authorized Fairchild Engine and Airplane Corp., Hagerstown, Md., to resume demonstration flights of the Dutch-built Fokker S14 jet-powered trainer for the armed forces.

The S14 flight demonstration program, initially authorized by the CAB Oct. 13, was halted a week later when the plane crashed, killing its occupant, Gerben Sonderman, pilot for Prince Bernhard of the Netherlands.

Fairchild To Resume Tests Of Dutch Jet

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 (AP)—The Civil Aeronautics Board has authorized Fairchild Engine and Airplane Corp., Hagerstown, Md., to resume demonstration flights of the Dutch-built Fokker S14 jet-powered trainer for the armed forces.

The CAB said the tiny plane may not perform spins below an altitude of 3,000 feet above the terrain, however.

The S14 flight demonstration program, initially authorized by the CAB Oct. 13, was halted a week later when the plane crashed, killing its occupant, Gerben Sonderman, pilot for Prince Bernhard of the Netherlands.

Holiday Suggestion: Whole Or Half Ham

Holidays are eating times, and the smart homemaker who hopes to enjoy all of the festivities during the gala Thanksgiving-through-Christmas time plans ahead to insure every minute of freedom from food preparation that she can. Fruit cakes and cookies can be prepared months ahead of the holidays, then stored in freezers and in some instances, airtight containers, to await festive service.

But the entrees, the main-stay of the luncheons, family dinners, buffet suppers, and midnight snacks, are not as easily provided weeks in advance, unless, of course, the freezer is well stocked with meats. But without a freezer, what will you choose? Ham, of course!

A canned ham, tucked into the recesses of a modern refrigerator will be ready for eating at almost a minutes' notice. (The unopened can will keep in the home refrigerator several months, and about a week after it has been opened.) A fully-cooked ham won't hold in the refrigerator as long as the canned variety but it too is ready at a moment's notice for slicing thin and frizzling for breakfast, or grilling for hot luncheon sandwiches, or slicing thick and broiling for hearty dinner service.

Fully cooked and canned hams may go directly to the table once they've shed their wrappings but many people like to give the meat a short heating in the oven before serving. Ten minutes per pound at 325°F. will warm the full-flavored meat to eating goodness. Cook-before-eating hams need 18 minutes per pound at 325°F., if whole; 22 minutes per pound, if half. For best results, follow the directions on the ham wrapper.

Glaze the holiday ham colorfully and garnish it simply for festive meals. About half an hour before the end of cooking time, remove the meat from the oven. Score the fat into diamonds and stick a clove into the center of each diamond, if you wish. Rub with brown sugar or cover with one of the following glazes and finish baking at 325°F. until well glazed, basting frequently:

1. Cranberry sauce, the jellied or whole berry kind.
2. Juice from pickled peaches or crabapples.
3. Apricot or citrus marmalade.
4. Pineapple-orange juice or apple cider.
5. Currant, crabapple, or red wine jelly blended with a little hot water.

Save enough of the cooked ham to grind and use in preparing ham patties with sweet sour sauce. If you like, shape the patties and assemble the sauce ingredients early in the morning, then cook croquettes and reheat sauce just before serving.

Ham Patties And Sweet Sour Sauce

4 cups ground cooked ham; 1 cup fresh bread crumbs; 2 tablespoons milk; 2 eggs, beaten; ¼ teaspoon pepper; 1 teaspoon dry mustard.

Sauce

⅓ cup brown sugar; 2 tablespoons flour; 1 teaspoon dry mustard; ⅔ cup water; 2 tablespoons vinegar; ⅓ cup dark corn sirup; 6 whole cloves.

Combine all ingredients for patties. Shape into rounds ½ inch thick; chill. Fry patties in 1-inch deep hot fat until browned and crispy. Drain and serve with hot sauce. To prepare sauce, combine all ingredients and cook until mixture is smooth and thickened.

Cranberry Cache

Freezing cranberries for all those festive winter dinners is easy, according to a freezer home economist. Just wash, sort and package the tasty red berries and pop them in the freezer. Or freeze them in the cellophane bags they're sold in.

Painting The Town

A home economist advises you to do your squash up "brown" by basting it during cooking with brown sugar, dissolved in undiluted, frozen orange juice.

Swedish Tea Ring

Slices of warm Swedish Tea Ring teamed with hot spiced tea or coffee lend a festive air to holiday entertaining.

Make your holiday baking a "foreign affair" with a Swedish Tea Ring.

This sweet yeast dough coffee cake is filled with spicy cinnamon sugar and topped with confectioners' sugar icing after baking. "Fancy" this bread further by arranging chopped nuts and Christmas-like candied cherries and citron or angelica over the icing.

Serve Swedish Tea Ring on Christmas morning as a special family treat. Or, feature fresh, warm slices anytime during the holidays when you're serving coffee or spiced tea to guests. Home-baked products add a note of hospitality.

Your baker's coffee rings, cookies and pastries for the Christmas season also ring an inviting note. So, when you want to serve something sweet and festive but haven't the time to "do-it-yourself," take a look at your baker's shelves.

Baked goods you buy, like those you make yourself, contain enriched flour for added nutritional value. Enriched flour provides extra amounts of three essential B vitamins and food iron at no extra cost.

SWEDISH TEA RING

1 package yeast, compressed or dry
¼ cup water (lukewarm for compressed yeast, warm for dry)
½ cup milk
¼ cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons shortening
1 egg
3 cups sifted enriched flour (about)
Melted butter or margarine
Cinnamon sugar
Confectioners' sugar icing

Soften yeast in water. Scald milk. Add sugar, salt and shortening. Cool to lukewarm. Stir in 1 cup flour. Add softened yeast and egg. Beat well. Add enough more flour to make a soft dough. Turn out on lightly floured board or pastry cloth and knead until smooth and satiny. Place in greased bowl, cover and let rise until doubled (about 1½ hours). Punch down. Cover and let rest 10 minutes. Roll out to rectangular sheet about 12 inches long and 6 inches wide. Brush with melted butter or margarine, and sprinkle with cinnamon sugar. Roll up like jelly-roll and seal edge firmly. Shape into ring on greased baking sheet, pressing ends together to seal. With scissors, cut through roll almost to center, in slices 1 inch apart. Turn each slice slightly on its side. Let rise until doubled. Bake in moderate oven (375°F.) 25 to 30 minutes. When cool, frost with confectioners' sugar icing. Makes 1 tea ring.

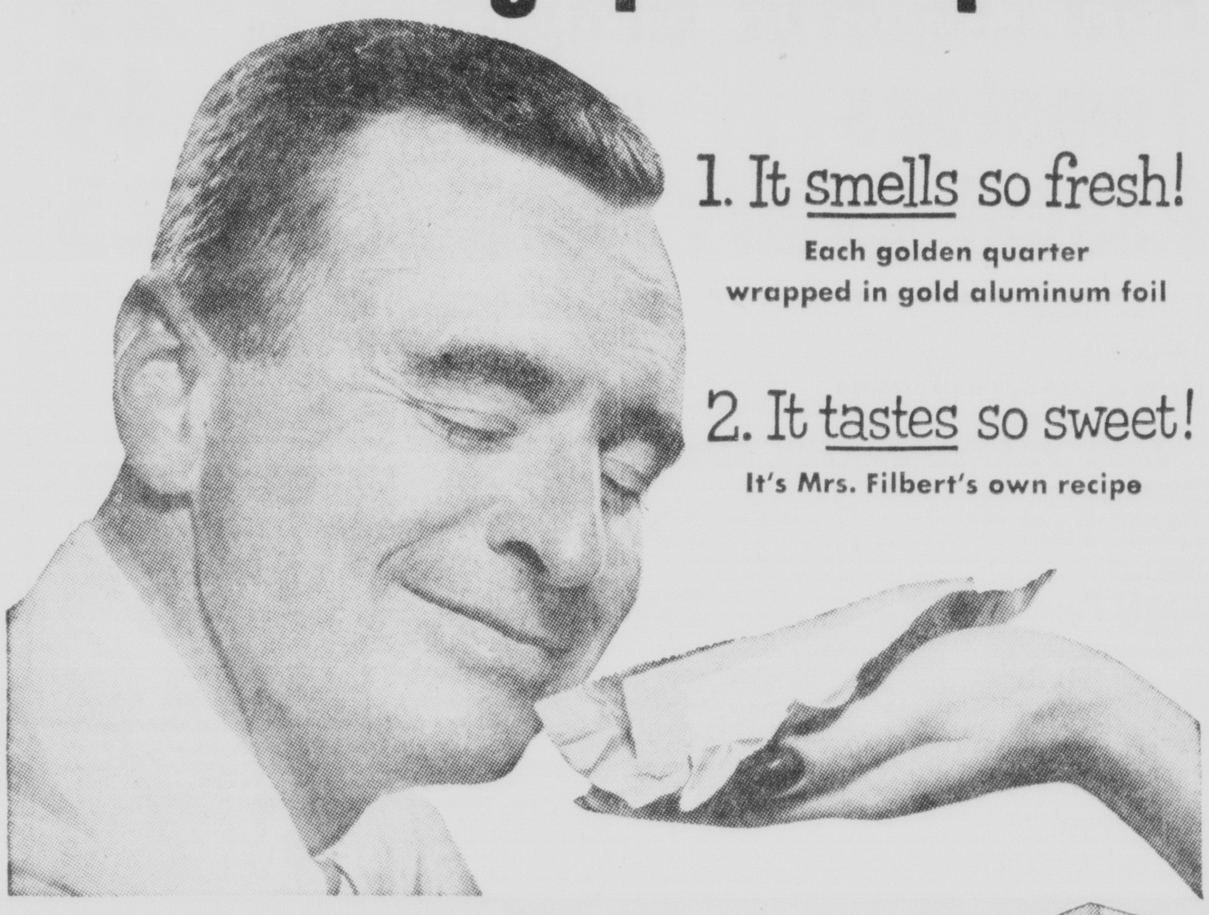
You can't tell Mrs. Filbert's from the high-priced spread



1. It smells so fresh!
Each golden quarter wrapped in gold aluminum foil

2. It tastes so sweet!
It's Mrs. Filbert's own recipe

It takes a woman to zip her margarine onto your table so fast it tastes fresher than even most expensive spreads!

Ask your husband to smell that just-made freshness. Then—compare the mild, sweet flavor of Mrs. Filbert's Margarine with the high-priced spread. Good as the expensive spread is, see if you don't both agree that Mrs. Filbert's tastes every bit as delicious—and fresh!

Fresh! with freshest ingredients, flavor-sealing gold aluminum foil around each quarter on the inside, a protective wrap outside. But above all—fresh because no other spread gets to you faster!

More vitamins! 4 times as much sunshine vitamin D as in the expensive spread! Plus at least 15,000 units of vitamin A in every pound.

Milder, sweeter—naturally! It's a woman's recipe. Spread Mrs. Filbert's really fresh flavor tonight. Goes on smo-o-oth, even cold. You'll never go back to the high-priced spread!

Only a woman could make it taste so good!

XMAS CANDY NOW ON DISPLAY, FINE QUALITY, LOW PRICES

Cider Glazes Chicken

Pan Americans have a chicken dish, most unusual for ease of preparation and outstanding flavor! This is how they do it: Brown 2 packages (1-pound size) frozen chicken thighs, breasts, drumsticks or wings in 2 tablespoons butter or margarine. Add 1 cup apple cider, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon cinnamon, dash black pepper, and 2 whole cloves. Cover and cook over low heat about 45 minutes or until tender. Turn chicken and baste with sauce several times during cooking period. 6 to 8 servings.

Serve Chicken Shortcake

What's more natural than chicken and hot biscuits? Here's a saucy way to put the two together. Bake 1 package (8-ounce size) refrigerator biscuits at 450° F., 8 to 10 minutes or until brown. Heat 1 can (1¼ cups) condensed cream of celery soup, and ⅓ cup milk over low heat stirring occasionally. Add 1 can (5-ounce size) boned chicken, 2 tablespoons minced parsley, and 2 tablespoons diced pimiento. Heat 5 minutes more. Pour soup mixture over hot biscuits. 4 servings.

Make Your Own Festive Holiday Candles

Candle centerpieces you create yourself make such original, smart and gay additions to your holiday decorations. They are handsome on a mantlepiece or set on a mirror, surrounded with greenery, for the table. The shadow block and Christmas tree candle are simply put together by joining plain bars of Gulfwax paraffine, using pared down candle stubs for wicks, tinting with wax crayon and trimming with beads and sequins. Others are first molded in ordinary kitchen containers. Complete step-by-step instructions for these and other festive candles are in a free booklet, "Make Your Own Holiday Candles." Send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the Woman's Editor of this paper for your copy.

Mexican Meat Pie Has Corn Meal Crust

Crispy corn meal mush makes a novel and easy crust topping for this zestfully seasoned maindish. (For a really hot Mexican dish — double the amount of chili powder). Mexican Meat Pie is mixed, baked and served from the same dish! The combination of rice, tomato, kidney beans and ground beef is simply delicious and really stretches the one pound of ground beef.

Mexican Meat Pie

Tossed Vegetable Salad
Hard Rolls
Fresh Fruit

Ingredients:

2 cups water; 1 teaspoon salt; 1 cup uncooked white rice; 1 pound ground beef; 1, No. 303 can tomatoes; 1 teaspoon salt; ⅛ teaspoon black pepper; ¼ teaspoon chili powder; dash of garlic powder; 2 tablespoons grated onions; 1 cup cooked kidney beans; corn meal mush (½ cup corn meal).

Method: Put the water, 1 teaspoon salt and rice in a 7½" x 12" x 2" well greased shallow baking dish or other baking dish which will hold 9 cups of liquid. Arrange the ground beef over the rice. Pour the tomatoes over the meat, breaking up the tomatoes. Sprinkle the 1 teaspoon salt, pepper, chili powder, garlic powder and grated onion over the tomatoes. Top with the kidney beans.

Spread the corn meal mush (made by directions on the corn meal container) over the beans. Place in a pre-heated 350°F. oven for 50 minutes or until most of the liquid is absorbed. Place under the broiler if a browner top is desired. Serve from the baking dish. This recipe makes 8 servings.

Cider Glazes Chicken

Pan Americans have a chicken dish, most unusual for ease of preparation and outstanding flavor! This is how they do it: Brown 2 packages (1-pound size) frozen chicken thighs, breasts, drumsticks or wings in 2 tablespoons butter or margarine. Add 1 cup apple cider, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon cinnamon, dash black pepper, and 2 whole cloves. Cover and cook over low heat about 45 minutes or until tender. Turn chicken and baste with sauce several times during cooking period. 6 to 8 servings.

Serve Chicken Shortcake

What's more natural than chicken and hot biscuits? Here's a saucy way to put the two together. Bake 1 package (8-ounce size) refrigerator biscuits at 450° F., 8 to 10 minutes or until brown. Heat 1 can (1¼ cups) condensed cream of celery soup, and ⅓ cup milk over low heat stirring occasionally. Add 1 can (5-ounce size) boned chicken, 2 tablespoons minced parsley, and 2 tablespoons diced pimiento. Heat 5 minutes more. Pour soup mixture over hot biscuits. 4 servings.

Make Your Own Festive Holiday Candles

Candle centerpieces you create yourself make such original, smart and gay additions to your holiday decorations. They are handsome on a mantlepiece or set on a mirror, surrounded with greenery, for the table. The shadow block and Christmas tree candle are simply put together by joining plain bars of Gulfwax paraffine, using pared down candle stubs for wicks, tinting with wax crayon and trimming with beads and sequins. Others are first molded in ordinary kitchen containers. Complete step-by-step instructions for these and other festive candles are in a free booklet, "Make Your Own Holiday Candles." Send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the Woman's Editor of this paper for your copy.

Mexican Meat Pie Has Corn Meal Crust

Crispy corn meal mush makes a novel and easy crust topping for this zestfully seasoned maindish. (For a really hot Mexican dish — double the amount of chili powder). Mexican Meat Pie is mixed, baked and served from the same dish! The combination of rice, tomato, kidney beans and ground beef is simply delicious and really stretches the one pound of ground beef.

Ingredients:

2 cups water; 1 teaspoon salt; 1 cup uncooked white rice; 1 pound ground beef; 1, No. 303 can tomatoes; 1 teaspoon salt; ⅛ teaspoon black pepper; ¼ teaspoon chili powder; dash of garlic powder; 2 tablespoons grated onions; 1 cup cooked kidney beans; corn meal mush (½ cup corn meal).

Method: Put the water, 1 teaspoon salt and rice in a 7½" x 12" x 2" well greased shallow baking dish or other baking dish which will hold 9 cups of liquid. Arrange the ground beef over the rice. Pour the tomatoes over the meat, breaking up the tomatoes. Sprinkle the 1 teaspoon salt, pepper, chili powder, garlic powder and grated onion over the tomatoes. Top with the kidney beans.

Spread the corn meal mush (made by directions on the corn meal container) over the beans. Place in a pre-heated 350°F. oven for 50 minutes or until most of the liquid is absorbed. Place under the broiler if a browner top is desired. Serve from the baking dish. This recipe makes 8 servings.

THE SWING TO TEA—Tea is a "just right" beverage with meals. Because it aids digestion, it doesn't leave you with a feeling of having eaten too much. A light, tender jelly roll is just right with tea.

The Swing To Tea

There's a definite swing to tea these days, and little wonder! According to a group of scientists, tea aids digestion, beats fatigue, gives a lift and produces "a sensation of comfort and cheerfulness."

Over the years, we've all been subjected to similar remarks from some all-knowing member of the family. Whenever we feel a little off color, someone's sure to say, "What you need is a cup of tea." Well, today, according to these scientists, who conducted a lengthy research for the Biological Sciences Foundation in Washington, we know the reason why. One researcher said, tea is adaptable to most diets since it has no caloric content and is salt-free. "Such wide utility is rarely found in human dietetics," his report said. Another said, "though tea provides a lift through its caffein content, it doesn't have the after effect usually associated with such stimulants."

The Tea Council of the U. S. A. claims that another reason for the increase in tea consumption is that women are learning how to make a good cup of tea—full-bodied with plenty of flavor. Made this way, the male members of the family accept tea with meals, not as a sissy drink, but as a hearty beverage. To make a good pot of tea, the the Tea Council says, (1) always use a teapot because it makes the best tea; (2) be sure the water has come to a full rolling boil; (3) one teaspoonful tea or one teabag per cup is absolutely necessary to get the full benefit, and last, but not least is the brewing time; (4) Be sure to brew tea three minutes to five minutes.

Jelly Roll

¾ cups sifted cake flour; 1 teaspoon baking powder; ¼ teaspoon salt; 4 eggs, separated; ¾ cup sugar; 1 teaspoon vanilla or a few drops of lemon oil; 2 tablespoons water.

Combine sifted cake flour, baking powder and salt and sift again. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry; gradually beat in ½ cup sugar, about 2 tablespoons at a time. Beat egg yolks until thick and light. Add remaining ¼ cup sugar and vanilla, beating until very thick. Gradually add water, stirring constantly. Fold in egg whites. Gradually fold in dry ingredients, sifting 3-4 tablespoons at a time. Turn into a shallow pan about 8 x 16-inches lined with waxed paper. Bake in moderate oven 375°F 15-20 minutes. Sprinkle powdered sugar on a clean dish towel. Loosen cake from sides of pan. Invert on the cloth, remove paper. Trim off browned edges. Roll cake in powdered towel, evenly. Place on cooling rack. When thoroughly cooled, unroll and remove cloth. Spread with jelly which has been held at room temperature for several hours. Roll again. Sprinkle with confectioners' sugar.

Entertain With Pineapple Pie 'N Cheese

Wintertime is the time of year for gracious home entertaining. Whether you plan a large party or a small friendly get-together, you will want to plan easy, yet elegant refreshments.

There's a new canned product on the market, Hawaiian Pineapple Pie Filling, that will make your refreshment problem "easy as pie." This filling is made of crushed Hawaiian pineapple, already sweetened and thickened to pie filling consistency. All you do is turn the contents of the No. 2 can into an unbaked 8-inch pastry shell, cover with a lattice or full top crust (or just crimp the pastry edges leaving the top open). Bake at 425° for 25 minutes. Cool before cutting into wedges.

To serve, garnish each wedge of pie with a "pineapple" cut out of sliced processed American cheese. Looks elegant—tastes wonderful!

Nice 'N Spicy

That's the way most people like their pumpkin pies. A home economist suggests these variations the next time you make a batch of pumpkin pies to store in your freezer: add ⅛ teaspoon ground cloves and ¼ teaspoon nutmeg to each pie crust; in place of the usual water, substitute chilled orange juice for the crust recipe, and, try a graham cracker crust for a real munchy, crunchy flavor.

The "yein," a Burmese dance, is performed on the knees. The action consists of body and arm swaying.

THE SWING TO TEA—Tea is a "just right" beverage with meals. Because it aids digestion, it doesn't leave you with a feeling of having eaten too much. A light, tender jelly roll is just right with tea.

The Swing To Tea

There's a definite swing to tea these days, and little wonder! According to a group of scientists, tea aids digestion, beats fatigue, gives a lift and produces "a sensation of comfort and cheerfulness."

Over the years, we've all been subjected to similar remarks from some all-knowing member of the family. Whenever we feel a little off color, someone's sure to say, "What you need is a cup of tea." Well, today, according to these scientists, who conducted a lengthy research for the Biological Sciences Foundation in Washington, we know the reason why. One researcher said, tea is adaptable to most diets since it has no caloric content and is salt-free. "Such wide utility is rarely found in human dietetics," his report said. Another said, "though tea provides a lift through its caffein content, it doesn't have the after effect usually associated with such stimulants."

The Tea Council of the U. S. A. claims that another reason for the increase in tea consumption is that women are learning how to make a good cup of tea—full-bodied with plenty of flavor. Made this way, the male members of the family accept tea with meals, not as a sissy drink, but as a hearty beverage. To make a good pot of tea, the the Tea Council says, (1) always use a teapot because it makes the best tea; (2) be sure the water has come to a full rolling boil; (3) one teaspoonful tea or one teabag per cup is absolutely necessary to get the full benefit, and last, but not least is the brewing time; (4) Be sure to brew tea three minutes to five minutes.

Jelly Roll

¾ cups sifted cake flour; 1 teaspoon baking powder; ¼ teaspoon salt; 4 eggs, separated; ¾ cup sugar; 1 teaspoon vanilla or a few drops of lemon oil; 2 tablespoons water.

Combine sifted cake flour, baking powder and salt and sift again. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry; gradually beat in ½ cup sugar, about 2 tablespoons at a time. Beat egg yolks until thick and light. Add remaining ¼ cup sugar and vanilla, beating until very thick. Gradually add water, stirring constantly. Fold in egg whites. Gradually fold in dry ingredients, sifting 3-4 tablespoons at a time. Turn into a shallow pan about 8 x 16-inches lined with waxed paper. Bake in moderate oven 375°F 15-20 minutes. Sprinkle powdered sugar on a clean dish towel. Loosen cake from sides of pan. Invert on the cloth, remove paper. Trim off browned edges. Roll cake in powdered towel, evenly. Place on cooling rack. When thoroughly cooled, unroll and remove cloth. Spread with jelly which has been held at room temperature for several hours. Roll again. Sprinkle with confectioners' sugar.

Entertain With Pineapple Pie 'N Cheese

Wintertime is the time of year for gracious home entertaining. Whether you plan a large party or a small friendly get-together, you will want to plan easy, yet elegant refreshments.

There's a new canned product on the market, Hawaiian Pineapple Pie Filling, that will make your refreshment problem "easy as pie." This filling is made of crushed Hawaiian pineapple, already sweetened and thickened to pie filling consistency. All you do is turn the contents of the No. 2 can into an unbaked 8-inch pastry shell, cover with a lattice or full top crust (or just crimp the pastry edges leaving the top open). Bake at 425° for 25 minutes. Cool before cutting into wedges.

To serve, garnish each wedge of pie with a "pineapple" cut out of sliced processed American cheese. Looks elegant—tastes wonderful!

Nice 'N Spicy

That's the way most people like their pumpkin pies. A home economist suggests these variations the next time you make a batch of pumpkin pies to store in your freezer: add ⅛ teaspoon ground cloves and ¼ teaspoon nutmeg to each pie crust; in place of the usual water, substitute chilled orange juice for the crust recipe, and, try a graham cracker crust for a real munchy, crunchy flavor.

The "yein," a Burmese dance, is performed on the knees. The action consists of body and arm swaying.

Frostburg S-D Day Is Termed Full Success

Mayor Praises Cooperation

FROSTBURG—S-D Day in Frostburg met with a complete success said Mayor Perry Myers, Police Commissioner Arthur Thomas and Chief of Police Lloyd Truly when checked last evening. "We are gratified that local citizens drove carefully in observance of the annual safety day," all three commented.

"Frostburg cooperated 100 percent with the observance," said Mayor Myers when checked at 8 p. m.," and we hope our luck will hold the rest of the evening."

In observance of Safety Week, the city issued a proclamation calling upon everyone to drive safely, observe the laws and to have consideration for the other person. Two large banners were strung across the highway at both east and west ends of town.

The Police Department assisted R. W. Andres of the State Department of Labor and Industry, and Lynn Walker, of the Safety Division of the Western Maryland Safety Council, in setting up a window display in Durst's window showing a simulated road with model cars illustrating the most frequent causes of accidents on the highways. The window also displayed the awards won by Frostburg for pedestrian and motor safety through the past years. The display will remain in the window for the balance of the week.

Westernport Expects New Bid On $347,000 Bond Issue

WESTERNPORT—John M. Bunting of the Thackara Grant and Company, Philadelphia, is expected to submit another bid for the purchase of $347,000 worth of bonds being offered by the Town of Westernport at the meeting of Mayor Okey E. Michael and Town Commissioners Monday at 7:30 p. m.

A previous bid of the bonding company to purchase the bonds at 95 per cent on each $1,000 bond at 3¾ per cent interest was approved by the town and the firm.

Since that time, the town has been informed that state law does not permit a community to sell their bonds below par.

Mayor Michael stated at a meeting to the Town Council last evening that Bunting said the agreement stands until they accept or reject the new proposition that will be offered Monday.

The money the town will realize from the sale of the bonds will be used for the construction of a filtration plant on Westernport Hill and the building of a storage water tank on the new Bruce High School grounds to provide water for the school and the residents in that area.

The second and final reading of a parking regulation, known as ordinance 8 and prepared by Horace P. Whitworth, town attorney, passed its second and final reading.

A resolution will be drawn up at the next meeting removing all parking on Church Street since the town has a parking lot on the ground leased from the Western Maryland Railway.

Westernport Expects New Bid On $347,000 Bond Issue

WESTERNPORT—John M. Bunting of the Thackara Grant and Company, Philadelphia, is expected to submit another bid for the purchase of $347,000 worth of bonds being offered by the Town of Westernport at the meeting of Mayor Okey E. Michael and Town Commissioners Monday at 7:30 p. m.

A previous bid of the bonding company to purchase the bonds at 95 per cent on each $1,000 bond at 3¾ per cent interest was approved by the town and the firm.

Since that time, the town has been informed that state law does not permit a community to sell their bonds below par.

Mayor Michael stated at a meeting to the Town Council last evening that Bunting said the agreement stands until they accept or reject the new proposition that will be offered Monday.

The money the town will realize from the sale of the bonds will be used for the construction of a filtration plant on Westernport Hill and the building of a storage water tank on the new Bruce High School grounds to provide water for the school and the residents in that area.

The second and final reading of a parking regulation, known as ordinance 8 and prepared by Horace P. Whitworth, town attorney, passed its second and final reading.

A resolution will be drawn up at the next meeting removing all parking on Church Street since the town has a parking lot on the ground leased from the Western Maryland Railway.

Two Damage Suits Filed In Court

Suit for $50,000 damages was docketed in Circuit Court yesterday by a woman who was injured in a two-car collision on the Bedford Road at the Nave's Crossroads intersection last July 5.

The declaration filed by Edward J. Ryan, attorney for Carrie Deck, 17½ Grand Avenue, states she was a passenger in a car operated by Edgar Allen Kuhn, 507 Eichner Avenue, when a machine driven by James Harley Bennett, 613 Williams Street, collided with the Kuhn vehicle. The two men were named defendants in the case.

It is claimed that the drivers of both cars were negligent and that as a result of the crash between the machines the Kuhn vehicle hit a utility pole.

The plaintiff states she suffered a fractured arm, severe lacerations of the face and shock. She states a total of 15 stitches were required to close the lacerations of her face and that she is permanently scarred. In addition, she says she incurred heavy medical and hospital expenses.

Suit was also docketed yesterday by Mrs. Helen McAteer, 83 Grant Street, Frostburg, against Clarence Shriver, of Barton, for injuries suffered in a crash last September 10 on U. S. Route 40 near the old Toll House.

The declaration states she was injured when a car operated negligently by Shriver struck the car operated by her husband, John McAteer. She is asking for $2,500 damages. Ryan is her attorney.

Fradiska said proceeds of the dance will be used to make Christmas brighter for underprivileged children of the area. Last year enough money was raised to supply Chhistmas treats for 35 youngsters, Fradiska said.

Panthers Earn Lambert Trophy, Navy Is Second

Award Goes Annually To Eastern Champs

NEW YORK, Dec. 1 (INS) — Sugar Bowl contender Pittsburgh tonight was awarded the Lambert Trophy for 1955, emblematic of the eastern college football championship.

The 24-man selection panel of eight coaches, eight newsmen and eight radio-TV commentators chose the Panthers by a narrow margin over Navy, season-long leader in the week-to-week balloting.

Army was ranked third in the east, Syracuse fourth and Yale fifth. Rounding out the top ten were (6) Colgate, (7) Penn State, (8) Princeton, (9) Boston College and (10) Trinity.

Pitt, which meets Georgia Tech at New Orleans with a regular season slate of seven wins and three losses, copped 11 first-place votes to eight for defending champion Navy. Army had four first-place votes and Syracuse, one.

Army's victory over Navy last Saturday prevented the Middies from capturing the 20-year-old award.

Seven National Leaguers Make All-Star Team

Campanella, Snider, Newcombe Selected

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 1 (AP) — Seven National Leaguers, including three from the world champion Brooklyn Dodgers, today were named to the 1955 all-star major league team by the Sporting News.

The national baseball weekly selected the team after a poll of 165 members of the Baseball Writers' Assn. of America.

Named to the team from the Dodgers were catcher Roy Campanella, pitcher Don Newcombe and outfielder Duke Snider.

The newspaper pointed out that three of baseball's biggest names—Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals, Willie Mays of the New York Giants and Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees—were not on this year's squad. Musial had been a member of the team for seven straight years, a record.

The lineup:

First base, Ted Kluszewski, Cincinnati; second, Nelson Fox, Chicago, White Sox; third, Eddie Mathews, Milwaukee; shortstop, Ernie Banks, Chicago Cubs; outfield, Ted Williams, Boston Red Sox, Snider and Al Kaline, Detroit Tigers; catcher, Campanella; pitchers, Robin Roberts, Philadelphia; Newcombe and White Ford, New York Yankees.

Hockey pucks used in the National Hockey League weigh between 5¾ and 6 ounces.

BROOKLYN (AP)—Those who feel the Brooklyn Dodgers won the National League pennant with a shaky pitching staff need only to look at the records. They'll be surprised. The Giants won the flag in 1954 with 45 complete games by pitchers. Brooklyn won this year with 47 complete.

Greenbank-Marlinton Directed To Sever Athletic Relations

The Board of Appeals of the Activities Commission of the West Virginia High School Athletic Association has directed Marlinton and Greenbank high schools to sever athletic relationships for a two-year period, and fined Marlinton high school $50 for violation of the rules because its coach withdrew his team from the field during a football contest.

The board decided the October 28 game was terminated in a manner not conducive to good interscholastic relationships nor in conformity with the rules of the game.

In a similiar hearing, although different factors were involved, the board decided that the Lumberport-Barrackville game was terminated because of matters not connected with the contest and in a manner detrimental to interscholastic relationships. Lumberport officials were directed to give more attention to scheduling, entering into contracts, equalization of competition and assessed a penalty of $25.

Studying reports about the extensive use of Sunday for basketball practice by member schools, the board ruled that such practice is prohibited.

Football practice may begin August 20 in 1956 and the first games may be played on or after September 6.

A new women's bowling record was set in Hawaii when a five-woman team rolled 1037. Lilly Kinzie had 229, Lillian Sato 213, Frances Klien 207, Mildred Omura 206 and Dot Andrade 182.

Panthers Earn Lambert Trophy, Navy Is Second

Award Goes Annually To Eastern Champs

NEW YORK, Dec. 1 (INS) — Sugar Bowl contender Pittsburgh tonight was awarded the Lambert Trophy for 1955, emblematic of the eastern college football championship.

The 24-man selection panel of eight coaches, eight newsmen and eight radio-TV commentators chose the Panthers by a narrow margin over Navy, season-long leader in the week-to-week balloting.

Army was ranked third in the east, Syracuse fourth and Yale fifth. Rounding out the top ten were (6) Colgate, (7) Penn State, (8) Princeton, (9) Boston College and (10) Trinity.

Pitt, which meets Georgia Tech at New Orleans with a regular season slate of seven wins and three losses, copped 11 first-place votes to eight for defending champion Navy. Army had four first-place votes and Syracuse, one.

Army's victory over Navy last Saturday prevented the Middies from capturing the 20-year-old award.

Cassady, Beagle Make AP All-America 2nd Straight Year

Bob Pellegrini Terps' Center, On First Team

Morrall, McDonald, Swink In Backfield; Bosley On 2nd Team

By TED SMITS

NEW YORK, Dec. 1 (AP)—Howard (Hopalong) Cassady, Ohio State's irresistible back, and Ron Beagle, Navy's great end, won All-America recognition for the second straight year on the 1955 Associated Press team.

This was chosen on the recommendation of regional boards covering the entire nation, and was based on complete records from all regular season college football games including those of Nov. 26. Certificates will be presented to all members of the first three teams.

Earl Morrall of Michigan State, the No. 1 regular choice in Monday's professional football draft, heads up a backfield with Cassady that includes two stellar juniors—James Swink of Texas Christian and Tommy McDonald of Oklahoma. Cassady was the No. 2 draft choice.

Glick On Second Team

Gary Glick of Colorado A. and M., the bonus choice in the National Football League, is in the second backfield.

The first team line is composed of Beagle and Howard Schnellenberger of Kentucky at ends; Paul Wiggin of Stanford and Frank D'Agostino of Auburn at tackles; Jim Brown of U.C.L.A. and Pasquale (Pat) Bisceglia of Notre Dame at guards; and Robert Pellegrini of Maryland at center. Pellegrini was the number three choice in the professional draft.

Because the Associated Press All-America is based on the entire season's play, some September and October stars failed to make the grade, due chiefly to injuries. Included on this list are Ron Kramer, Michigan end, and Joe Childress, Auburn back. Tom Maentz, Kramer's teammate, is on the second team.

In the second backfield with Glick, and nearly on a par with the first team, are Bob Davenport, U.C.L.A.; Jon Arnett, Southern California; and Don Schaefer, Notre Dame.

On the second line are Maentz and John Paluck of Pittsburgh at ends; Calvin Jones of Iowa and Bruce Bosley of West Virginia at tackles; Bo Bolinger of Oklahoma and Scott Suber of Mississippi State at guards; and Hugh Pitts of Texas Christian at center.

Ralph Chesnauskas of Army, who made the first All-America at guard last year, sacrificed personal glory for the good of his team. He was used both at tackle and end this season and lost a chance to repeat his 1954 recognition.

Bosley Misses First

Bosley, the Mountaineers' great tackle, was given long and serious consideration for a place on the first team. However, he was finally placed on the second team chiefly because his team's disappointing performances in the Pittsburgh against him.

Third Team

End—Henry Gremminger, Baylor

What Players Did To Earn Berths On All-America Team

NEW YORK, Dec. 1 (AP)—Here is what the eleven players did to win recognition as members of the All-America first team selected by the Associated Press:

Cassady—Despite weighing only 175, he rushed the ball 161 times in 9 games for a net gain of 958 yards, and an average of almost 6 yards. He scored 14 touchdowns, making his four year total of points 222, breaking the 3-year school record of 201 set in 1919 by Ohio State's immortal Chic Harley. Cassady was able to play four years because freshmen were used on the varsity in 1952 due to the Korean War.

Morrall—Master quarterback of Michigan State's complicated multiple offense, and one of the chief reasons for the unexpectedly good showing of the Spartans, Morrall is the nation's leading punter with an average of 42.9 yards, and close to the top in total offense with 1,047 yards made on 115 rushing and passing plays. He attempted 68 passes and completed 42 for a .618 average, and 941 yards.

McDonald—This 170 pound spark of Oklahoma's high geared offense made 702 yards on 103 carries, and completed 17 out of 24 passes for 265 yards during the season. He received 6 passes for 104 yards, ran back 11 punts for 207 yards, and ran back 4 kickoffs for 83 yards.

Swink—In the best tradition of the Southwest, this 19-year-old junior, who weighs 182, carried the ball 157 times during the 10 game season and gained 1,284 yards. He scored 20 touchdowns and made 5 extra points, caught 5 passes for 121 yards, returned 9 kickoffs for 58 yards, and 9 punts for 177 yards.

Beagle—Set a new Academy record by catching 30 passes for an amazing 451 yards and 4 touchdowns. In addition, he was a stalwart on defense.

Schnellenberger — Caught 20 passes for 287 yards and 6 touchdowns. Kentucky's coach, Blanton Collier, said "he was outstanding since he was a marked man in every game and often had two men covering him."

Wiggin—This 222 pound, 6-3 giant in Stanford's line was described by his coach as "the most active, desirous tackle I've ever handled, and may possibly become onf of the greatest of college tackles." Although technically a senior, he has another year of eligibility.

D'Agostino—A first stringer at Auburn for 3 years, whenever his team had to have 2 or 3 yards for first down, the play was always led by him.

Bisceglia—The chief reason for Notre Dame's unexpectedly fine showing this year is the reconstructed Irish line, with Bisceglia the key man. He called the defensive signals, did a great job as line backer, and, says Coach Terry Brennan, "the team naturally benefitted by his leadership."

Brown—This 204 pound guard on UCLA's fine line was termed by Coach Red Sanders as "one of the best all-around linemen in UCLA's history."

Pellegrini—Switched from guard to center, Pellegrini batted down 17 passes, and 7 times knocked the ball out of the passer's hands. In Maryland's 7-0 victory over UCLA, Pellegrini was the rock in Maryland's goal line stand, and caught fullback Doug Peters in midair he bounced to the ground, tearing the ball loose, and recovering the fumble to end UCLA's strongest scoring threat.

The 1955 All-America averages only 178 pounds in the backfield, but the line is a solid 210. Of the 11 men, 3 have another year of eligibility — McDonald, Swink and Wiggin. The biggest man on the first team is D'Agostino at 233, and the smallest is McDonald at 170.

Jeffcoat Decides To Join Redlegs

CHICAGO, Dec. 1 (AP)—Hal Jeffcoat, relief pitcher traded by the Chicago Cubs to Cincinnati Monday, changed his mind about quitting baseball today and said he would fulfill "A moral responsibility" to report to the Redlegs.

Tuesday, Jeffcoat, once a weak-hitting outfielder, announced he would quit baseball rather than give up his Chicago insurance business. Jeffcoat was swapped by the Cubs for catcher Hobie Landrith.

"I have not changed my mind about making insurance my life's work," said the 31-year-old Jeffcoat, who was with the Cubs eight years.

He said that after "long, arduous study and consideration" he felt that "I have a moral responsibility to the Cincinnati fans and baseball and that I should fulfill it."

DETROIT, Dec. 1 (AP)—Forward Bill Ebben, a 6 foot 4 junior from Chicago, scored 32 points tonight as the University of Detroit beat Notre Dame's basketball team in the first time in 25 tries, 77-71.

A crowd of 7,850 saw the supposedly inept Titans, picked to finish last in the Missouri Valley Conference this season, pull one of the season's first big upsets by jarring the Irish for the first time in their series which began in 1911.

Ebben, darting in and out of the new 12 foot foul lane, hit mostly from close up as he led Detroit into a commanding 48-33 lead at half time. He scored 22 points in the first 20 minutes, seven of them in succession.

Dodgers To Play At Jersey City

Shift Seven Games To Roosevelt Park

JERSEY CITY, Dec. 1 (AP) — The Brooklyn Dodgers, dissatisfied with their rickety Ebbets Field home, made the first move to get out of it today when they reached an agreement to play seven National League games and one exhibition in Jersey City's Roosevelt Stadium.

The agreement, which runs for three years with the option of a three-year extension, was revealed today by Mayor Bernard Berry after the details had been ironed out yesterday in a conference between Dodger President Walter O'Malley and the Jersey City Board of Commissioners.

The Dodgers will pay an annual rental of $10,000 and will put the playing field into condition after the city has removed the macadam automobile race track encircling the field.

The first Brooklyn "home" game at Roosevelt Stadium is scheduled for Thursday, April 19, against Philadelphia. That is just two days after the Brooks open at Ebbets Field against the same club. Dates for the other games, all of which will be played at night, will be set later.

The unprecedented move, which will find the world champions playing some of their home games in a city where minor league baseball failed, was first proposed by O'Malley last fall. Besides being old and outmoded, Ebbets Field has convenient parking facilities for only about 700 cars, whereas Jersey City has a 7,000 car parking lot adjoining the stadium. Ebbets Field has 32,111 seats however, while Roosevelt Stadium has only 24,000.

Lakers Beat Knicks

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 1 (AP)—The Minneapolis Lakers rallied in the second half to defeat the New York Knickerbockers 97-90 in the first game of a National Basketball Assn. double header at Convention Hall tonight.

The Philadelphia Warriors met the St. Louis Hawks in the second game.

Aided by some ragged plays by the New Yorker's, the Lakers, trailing by 47-42 at the half, completely outplayed the Knicks, who suffered their sixth defeat in 14 games this season.

Cassady, Beagle Make AP All-America 2nd Straight Year

Bob Pellegrini Terps' Center, On First Team

By TED SMITS

NEW YORK, Dec. 1 (AP)—Howard (Hopalong) Cassady, Ohio State's irresistible back, and Ron Beagle, Navy's great end, won All-America recognition for the second straight year on the 1955 Associated Press team.

This was chosen on the recommendation of regional boards covering the entire nation, and was based on complete records from all regular season college football games including those of Nov. 26. Certificates will be presented to all members of the first three teams.

Earl Morrall of Michigan State, the No. 1 regular choice in Monday's professional football draft, heads up a backfield with Cassady that includes two stellar juniors—James Swink of Texas Christian and Tommy McDonald of Oklahoma. Cassady was the No. 2 draft choice.

Glick On Second Team

Gary Glick of Colorado A. and M., the bonus choice in the National Football League, is in the second backfield.

The first team line is composed of Beagle and Howard Schnellenberger of Kentucky at ends; Paul Wiggin of Stanford and Frank D'Agostino of Auburn at tackles; Jim Brown of U.C.L.A. and Pasquale (Pat) Bisceglia of Notre Dame at guards; and Robert Pellegrini of Maryland at center. Pellegrini was the number three choice in the professional draft.

Because the Associated Press All-America is based on the entire season's play, some September and October stars failed to make the grade, due chiefly to injuries. Included on this list are Ron Kramer, Michigan end, and Joe Childress, Auburn back. Tom Maentz, Kramer's teammate, is on the second team.

In the second backfield with Glick, and nearly on a par with the first team, are Bob Davenport, U.C.L.A.; Jon Arnett, Southern California; and Don Schaefer, Notre Dame.

On the second line are Maentz and John Paluck of Pittsburgh at ends; Calvin Jones of Iowa and Bruce Bosley of West Virginia at tackles; Bo Bolinger of Oklahoma and Scott Suber of Mississippi State at guards; and Hugh Pitts of Texas Christian at center.

Ralph Chesnauskas of Army, who made the first All-America at guard last year, sacrificed personal glory for the good of his team. He was used both at tackle and end this season and lost a chance to repeat his 1954 recognition.

Bosley Misses First

Bosley, the Mountaineers' great tackle, was given long and serious consideration for a place on the first team. However, he was finally placed on the second team chiefly because his team's disappointing performances in the Pittsburgh against him.

The agreement, which runs for three years with the option of a three-year extension, was revealed today by Mayor Bernard Berry after the details had been ironed out yesterday in a conference between Dodger President Walter O'Malley and the Jersey City Board of Commissioners.

The Dodgers will pay an annual rental of $10,000 and will put the playing field into condition after the city has removed the macadam automobile race track encircling the field.

The first Brooklyn "home" game at Roosevelt Stadium is scheduled for Thursday, April 19, against Philadelphia. That is just two days after the Brooks open at Ebbets Field against the same club. Dates for the other games, all of which will be played at night, will be set later.

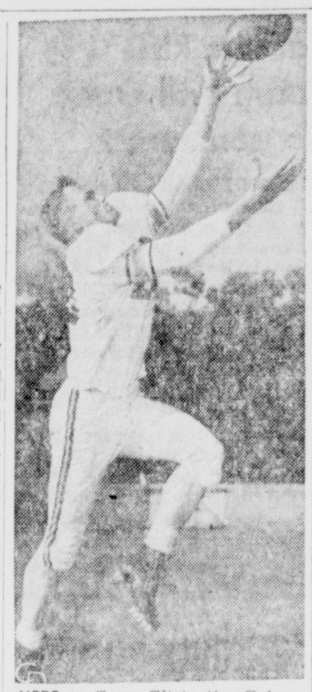
The unprecedented move, which will find the world champions playing some of their home games in a city where minor league baseball failed, was first proposed by O'Malley last fall. Besides being old and outmoded, Ebbets Field has convenient parking facilities for only about 700 cars, whereas Jersey City has a 7,000 car parking lot adjoining the stadium. Ebbets Field has 32,111 seats however, while Roosevelt Stadium has only 24,000.

Lakers Beat Knicks

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 1 (AP)—The Minneapolis Lakers rallied in the second half to defeat the New York Knickerbockers 97-90 in the first game of a National Basketball Assn. double header at Convention Hall tonight.

The Philadelphia Warriors met the St. Louis Hawks in the second game.

Aided by some ragged plays by the New Yorker's, the Lakers, trailing by 47-42 at the half, completely outplayed the Knicks, who suffered their sixth defeat in 14 games this season.



HERE is Gary Glick, the Colorado A.&M. quarterback, who was the surprise "bonus" choice in the National Football league draft in Philadelphia. Glick was picked by the Pittsburgh Steelers. (International)

Parakeet Leads Cheers

MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP) — The Muskegon Heights High Schol football team has a first all of its own. It's a parakeet which gives out with a yell about the school's nickname.

With a little prompting, Pretty Boy, which has never seen a game, will come forth with: "Yea, Tigers, Tigers, Tigers."

Joymaker And Advice Pay $5,932.20 Double At Pimlico

14 Cash Big Payoff Tickets, Sorenson Rides Both Winners

Price Sets Pimlico Record And Is Third Highest In Maryland

BALTIMORE, Dec. 1 (AP)—Twenty-nine persons at Pimlico race track were threatened with heart attacks today. They were clutching daily double tickets worth at least $5,500 for several minutes.

Fourteen finally cashed in a ticket worth $5,932.20 each for the $2 they bet on the first two races.

Going through agony with them were 15 others. They had tickets worth $5,536.80 if a foul claim against the second winner had been allowed. It wasn't.

It was the biggest daily double payoff in Pimlico history, and adding to the unusual affair was Apprentice Jockey Bernie Sorenson, a displaced person from Denmark. It probably is a record double by the same rider.

Sorenson Rides Both

Sorenson drove Joymaker to a neck victory in a photo finish of the first race at odds of $164 to $2. It was the first time since 1953 that Joymaker had been able to win a buck at the races. This was his third race this year.

In the second race, Sorenson was on Advice which hadn't been able to win in 13 tries this year. He won this time by a length at odds of $100.80 to complete the third highest daily double in all Maryland parimutuel betting history.

The third place jockey filed a claim of foul against Sorenson, which was not upheld by the judges. Those 15 who had the second place Know What along with Joymaker therefore lost a chance to clean up.

Jockey Was Acrobat

There was $921,281 in all bet on the daily double and all of the $28 on the winning combination was in $2 tickets.

Sorenson came to this country in 1951 as an acrobat although he had ridden in two races in Copenhagen. While the troupe was at the steel pier in Atlantic City he met the late Al Jensen, a fellow Dane who trained for the Rapahannock Stable.

Jensen offered him a job a month later and he started breaking yearlings at winter quarters in Aiken, S. C. He rode his first race in this country June 14, 1954 and his first winner last fall.

State Record $6,754.50

The record daily double in the U.S. is $10,772.40 returned Aug. 14, 1939 on Joy Bet and Merry Caroline at Washington Park. The Maryland record is $6,754.50 set at Bowie in 1938 and the second highest was $6,626.40 at Bel Air in 1953.

Bill Hartack Rides Triple At Tropical

Nation's Top Jockey Boosts Wins To 397

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 1 (AP)—Jaclyn Stable's Prize Winner, unable to earn a purse in seven races in New Jersey this year, marked his winter campaign with a ridiculously easy triumph in the featured seventh race before 7,919 at Tropical Park today.

The son of Ace Admiral opened up a commanding lead on the backstretch and, under Henry Moreno's urging, whizzed home 3 lengths clear of Mrs. S. Simpson's Black Homburg. It was 3½ lengths back to Tee J.H. Then came Lagoon, Midpassage, the favorite; Royal Review and Henry's Reward. Henry's Reward, which was two lengths in front approaching the clubhouse turn, suffered a hemorrhage rounding into the backstretch and was pulled up by Bobby Ussery.

Prize Winner, which completed a double for Moreno, paid $9.30, $4.20 and $3.50. He turned the mile and a sixteenth in a creditable 1:45. Black Homburg was $4.30 and $3.20. The show price on Tee J.H. was $4.60.

Willie Hartack, the nation's leading jockey, was trying for his fourth winner of the afternoon on Black Homburg. But the gelding was unable to cope with the speed of Prize Winner. Hartack earlier completed a triple with Brazen Step, $3.80; Marline's Boy, $13.70, and Bold Man, $4.20. This gave him 11 for the first four days here, and a total of 397 for the year.

Minors Would Curb Radio-TV Of Major Tilts

Committee To Study Game Of Week Plan

By JACK HAND

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Dec. 1 (AP)—The minor leagues today made their annual move to restrict big league radio and TV broadcasts in the face of an expected rebuff and appealed to the majors for "sympathetic and active cooperation" if they are to continue to work together.

While he announced the radio-TV ban had been passed, Bob Finch, minors' public relations chief, admitted it probably would get nowhere with the majors who will act next week at Chicago.

The latest radio-TV restriction would bar commercial broadcasts of major or minor games on stations outside a club's "home" territory. The "home" territory would be that within 75 miles of the ball park.

Study Game Of Week

The minors also agreed to set up a committee to study the "game of the week" TV project, announced by President Walter O'Malley of the Brooklyn Dodgers at Brooklyn, Monday, involving a "grant in aid" of 1½ million dollars to the minors. Nobody was present to explain any details.

Finch took great pains to explain the minors were making no threats or rabble-rousing speeches against the majors but he emphasized their "grim determination to insist on a fair deal."

The current major-minor agreement, governing relations between the two organizations, expires Jan. 12, 1957, but it must be renewed at the 1956 convention. An eight-man committee, with one representative from each classification in the minors, will be named to negotiate a new agreement.

"The tone of the convention was that we will not write a new agreement unless they (majors) show sympathetic and active cooperation with the minors," said Finch after the closed executive session.

12 Amendments Rejected

The vote on the 21 proposed amendments to the major-minor code and the national association (minors) agreement brought a steady chorus of "no". Only eight passed and 12 were rejected. Two were withdrawn.

In addition to the radio-TV proposal the minors agreed on changes to give better balance to the arbitration committee that decides territorial draft disputes.

Of importance to the majors was adoption of an amendment that would make a returning serviceman count on the active list after 30 days instead of one year as at present. However, the majors were not solidly behind this and might junk it at Chicago.

After the confusion about the American Asociation going into Western League territory last night to take the Wichita territory for Milwaukee's Toledo farm club, the minors decided to study moving up the territorial draft deadline from Dec. 1 to Nov. 1.

Trautman Re-Elected

Terps Lose Grim

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Dec. 1 (AP)—Burr Grim, Maryland's star distance runner, will be out the entire winter and spring track seasons, Coach Jim Kehoe reported today.

Grim won the IC4A mile this year in excellent time of 4:09.9.

14 Cash Big Payoff Tickets, Sorenson Rides Both Winners

Price Sets Pimlico Record And Is Third Highest In Maryland

BALTIMORE, Dec. 1 (AP)—Twenty-nine persons at Pimlico race track were threatened with heart attacks today. They were clutching daily double tickets worth at least $5,500 for several minutes.

Fourteen finally cashed in a ticket worth $5,932.20 each for the $2 they bet on the first two races.

Going through agony with them were 15 others. They had tickets worth $5,536.80 if a foul claim against the second winner had been allowed. It wasn't.

It was the biggest daily double payoff in Pimlico history, and adding to the unusual affair was Apprentice Jockey Bernie Sorenson, a displaced person from Denmark. It probably is a record double by the same rider.

Sorenson Rides Both

Sorenson drove Joymaker to a neck victory in a photo finish of the first race at odds of $164 to $2. It was the first time since 1953 that Joymaker had been able to win a buck at the races. This was his third race this year.

In the second race, Sorenson was on Advice which hadn't been able to win in 13 tries this year. He won this time by a length at odds of $100.80 to complete the third highest daily double in all Maryland parimutuel betting history.

The third place jockey filed a claim of foul against Sorenson, which was not upheld by the judges. Those 15 who had the second place Know What along with Joymaker therefore lost a chance to clean up.

Jockey Was Acrobat

There was $921,281 in all bet on the daily double and all of the $28 on the winning combination was in $2 tickets.

Sorenson came to this country in 1951 as an acrobat although he had ridden in two races in Copenhagen. While the troupe was at the steel pier in Atlantic City he met the late Al Jensen, a fellow Dane who trained for the Rapahannock Stable.

Jensen offered him a job a month later and he started breaking yearlings at winter quarters in Aiken, S. C. He rode his first race in this country June 14, 1954 and his first winner last fall.

State Record $6,754.50

The record daily double in the U.S. is $10,772.40 returned Aug. 14, 1939 on Joy Bet and Merry Caroline at Washington Park. The Maryland record is $6,754.50 set at Bowie in 1938 and the second highest was $6,626.40 at Bel Air in 1953.

Bill Hartack Rides Triple At Tropical

Nation's Top Jockey Boosts Wins To 397

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 1 (AP)—Jaclyn Stable's Prize Winner, unable to earn a purse in seven races in New Jersey this year, marked his winter campaign with a ridiculously easy triumph in the featured seventh race before 7,919 at Tropical Park today.

The son of Ace Admiral opened up a commanding lead on the backstretch and, under Henry Moreno's urging, whizzed home 3 lengths clear of Mrs. S. Simpson's Black Homburg. It was 3½ lengths back to Tee J.H. Then came Lagoon, Midpassage, the favorite; Royal Review and Henry's Reward. Henry's Reward, which was two lengths in front approaching the clubhouse turn, suffered a hemorrhage rounding into the backstretch and was pulled up by Bobby Ussery.

Prize Winner, which completed a double for Moreno, paid $9.30, $4.20 and $3.50. He turned the mile and a sixteenth in a creditable 1:45. Black Homburg was $4.30 and $3.20. The show price on Tee J.H. was $4.60.

Willie Hartack, the nation's leading jockey, was trying for his fourth winner of the afternoon on Black Homburg. But the gelding was unable to cope with the speed of Prize Winner. Hartack earlier completed a triple with Brazen Step, $3.80; Marline's Boy, $13.70, and Bold Man, $4.20. This gave him 11 for the first four days here, and a total of 397 for the year.

Minors Would Curb Radio-TV Of Major Tilts

Committee To Study Game Of Week Plan

By JACK HAND

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Dec. 1 (AP)—The minor leagues today made their annual move to restrict big league radio and TV broadcasts in the face of an expected rebuff and appealed to the majors for "sympathetic and active cooperation" if they are to continue to work together.

While he announced the radio-TV ban had been passed, Bob Finch, minors' public relations chief, admitted it probably would get nowhere with the majors who will act next week at Chicago.

The latest radio-TV restriction would bar commercial broadcasts of major or minor games on stations outside a club's "home" territory. The "home" territory would be that within 75 miles of the ball park.

Study Game Of Week

The minors also agreed to set up a committee to study the "game of the week" TV project, announced by President Walter O'Malley of the Brooklyn Dodgers at Brooklyn, Monday, involving a "grant in aid" of 1½ million dollars to the minors. Nobody was present to explain any details.

Finch took great pains to explain the minors were making no threats or rabble-rousing speeches against the majors but he emphasized their "grim determination to insist on a fair deal."

The current major-minor agreement, governing relations between the two organizations, expires Jan. 12, 1957, but it must be renewed at the 1956 convention. An eight-man committee, with one representative from each classification in the minors, will be named to negotiate a new agreement.

"The tone of the convention was that we will not write a new agreement unless they (majors) show sympathetic and active cooperation with the minors," said Finch after the closed executive session.

12 Amendments Rejected

The vote on the 21 proposed amendments to the major-minor code and the national association (minors) agreement brought a steady chorus of "no". Only eight passed and 12 were rejected. Two were withdrawn.

In addition to the radio-TV proposal the minors agreed on changes to give better balance to the arbitration committee that decides territorial draft disputes.

Of importance to the majors was adoption of an amendment that would make a returning serviceman count on the active list after 30 days instead of one year as at present. However, the majors were not solidly behind this and might junk it at Chicago.

After the confusion about the American Asociation going into Western League territory last night to take the Wichita territory for Milwaukee's Toledo farm club, the minors decided to study moving up the territorial draft deadline from Dec. 1 to Nov. 1.

Trautman Re-Elected

George Trautman, president of the National Assn. of Professional Baseball Leagues (minors) was re-elected for a new five-year term extending through 1961.

The 21-year-old junior from Winchester, Va., has been complaining about his back and has entered University Hospital in Baltimore for observation.

Grim won the IC4A mile this year in excellent time of 4:09.9.

Television And Radio

by John Crosby

Good Talk

Bergen Evans, a veritable repository of odd information, has started a new series of programs for the Westinghouse Broadcasting Company which are called "spoken essays," a fairly apt description. This is the sort of thing that people have tried to get on the air ever since the days of Alexander Woollcott and Will Rogers. No one has done very well at it so Evans is flying in the face of tradition. But it's a good try.

The Evans essays will wander all over the place. Some of the topics: the nature of humor, Machiavelli and his significance ("Actually," says Evans, "he was at heart a democrat"), Mark Twain and his times, phrase origins, the function of a critic (That I must hear), Sinclair Lewis ("Now that Main Street has television . . . Now that George F. Babbitt has grown old and moved to Florida, and his son Theodore or Herbert or Warren J. Babbitt has become a college professor, what remains of old Red Lewis, the man eater?")

Other talks will be on revisions ("There are seven versions of the Gettysburg Address"), the new suburbia ("Never have so many done the same thing under the same circumstances so repeatedly"), and Byron and Hemingway ("Both are interesting examples of men who created a myth and then became caught in their own myth").

Evans first essay "On Being Funny" is a fairly good example of his technique which might be described as the scattergun method. He points out at the outset that humor is the most perishable of commodities. "There is nothing most instructive or more depressing than to look through the bound volumes of old funny magazines. There was a time that all America was convulsed every time anyone said 'twenty-three'. I know a man whose house address was 23, an older man. He told me that it was the burden of his life when he was about 20 to give that number in stores. When he said 23 the clerks just clawed each other on the backs it was so funny. It doesn't seem funny to us."

Social change continuously invalidates humor. Evans reminds us, and goes on to tell a story Stephen Leacock used to use in his lectures. Leacock used to tell about opening a bank account and getting so flustered with all the forms he had to sign that, before he quite knew what he was doing, he wrote out a check for the whole amount, closing out the bank account while he was trying to open it. The story was a great success with lecture audiences until the depression years of 1932 and 1933. Then people quit laughing. They were simply envious of a man who had got his money out of a bank.

"Flivver jokes, prohibition jokes, Hitler-Mussolini jokes, war jokes—sympathetic to the GI and unsympathetic to the brass—deep freeze jokes, mink coat jokes, they come and go. There were jokes about the Mormons; there were jokes about old maids; there were jokes about the mother-in-law. People don't joke about the mother-in-law any more and I'm rather curious as to why not. I suspect in the first place psychology has taught us that the conflicts between parents and the people their children marry are no laughing matter. Then I suspect that mothers-in-law play a larger part in audiences today and never insult the paying customers."

Is anything permanently funny? Evans rather doubts it but suggests that young love has been a subject for humor for ages. Stupidity has been the butt of the witty for just as long. "If I were asked to guess any one thing that is likely to be universally funny, I suspect it would be the fall that awaits for pride or insolence.

"I think everyone knows the story of the woman who, stepping on a man's foot when she got out of an elevator, instead of apologizing, turned to him with a snarl and said: 'Why don't you put your big foot where it belongs' and he said 'Don't tempt me, madam'!"

In short, it's good talk. It's a shame it's only on so few stations—KDKA, Pittsburgh; WBZ-WBZA in Boston; KEX, Portland, Ore.; WOWO, Fort Wayne, Ind.; and KYW, Philadelphia.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

TOO LITTLE ANALYSIS

THE SLAM contract in the hand below was absurdly easy to defeat, but East—an expert!—couldn't find the right defense.

South dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

North: ♠ Q 5 2 ♥ Q J 10 5 ♦ 7 4 3 ♣ 10 5 2
West: ♠ 9 4 3 ♥ 7 2 ♦ 9 6 5 2 ♣ 8 7 4 3
East: ♠ 10 7 6 ♥ A K 9 8 6 4 3 ♦ A ♣ J 9
South: ♠ A K J 8 ♥ — ♦ K Q J 10 8 ♣ A K Q 6

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
2 ♦	Pass	2 NT	3 ♥
3 ♠	Pass	3 NT	Pass
4 ♣	Pass	4 ♦	Pass
6 ♦	Pass	Pass	Pass

In view of the outcome it was just as well that East didn't double six diamonds—there might have been a redouble which would have cost East-West an additional 410 points.

Incidentally, South would have been wise to pass East's three-heart bid around for North's consideration, but it was obviously tempting for South to complete the description of his own holding, to see whether a fit could be found in any of his three suits. In the final analysis, South's slam bid was something of a gamble, since North's bidding had been noncommittal throughout, but it is only fair to concede that South had a hand that induced strong temptation.

West opened the top heart, dummy's ten was put in, and South ruffed East's king with the eight of diamonds. South then laid down the diamond king, and East was in with the blank ace. Without hesitation, East returned a club, and South soon spread his cards.

If East had given closer consideration to the bidding and to South's play of the diamond eight at the first trick, he might have realized that the outstanding defensive chance lay in forcing another trump from the closed hand. There was sound reason to hope that South had started with only a five-card diamond suit, and if that was so, all East had to do was put down the heart ace in order to build a sure trump trick for his partner.

Good Talk

Bergen Evans, a veritable repository of odd information, has started a new series of programs for the Westinghouse Broadcasting Company which are called "spoken essays," a fairly apt description. This is the sort of thing that people have tried to get on the air ever since the days of Alexander Woollcott and Will Rogers. No one has done very well at it so Evans is flying in the face of tradition. But it's a good try.

The Evans essays will wander all over the place. Some of the topics: the nature of humor, Machiavelli and his significance ("Actually," says Evans, "he was at heart a democrat"), Mark Twain and his times, phrase origins, the function of a critic (That I must hear), Sinclair Lewis ("Now that Main Street has television . . . Now that George F. Babbitt has grown old and moved to Florida, and his son Theodore or Herbert or Warren J. Babbitt has become a college professor, what remains of old Red Lewis, the man eater?").

Other talks will be on revisions ("There are seven versions of the Gettysburg Address"), the new suburbia ("Never have so many done the same thing under the same circumstances so repeatedly"), and Byron and Hemingway ("Both are interesting examples of men who created a myth and then became caught in their own myth").

Evans first essay "On Being Funny" is a fairly good example of his technique which might be described as the scattergun method. He points out at the outset that humor is the most perishable of commodities. "There is nothing most instructive or more depressing than to look through the bound volumes of old funny magazines. There was a time that all America was convulsed every time anyone said 'twenty-three'. I know a man whose house address was 23, an older man. He told me that it was the burden of his life when he was about 20 to give that number in stores. When he said 23 the clerks just clawed each other on the backs it was so funny. It doesn't seem funny to us."

Social change continuously invalidates humor. Evans reminds us, and goes on to tell a story Stephen Leacock used to use in his lectures. Leacock used to tell about opening a bank account and getting so flustered with all the forms he had to sign that, before he quite knew what he was doing, he wrote out a check for the whole amount, closing out the bank account while he was trying to open it. The story was a great success with lecture audiences until the depression years of 1932 and 1933. Then people quit laughing. They were simply envious of a man who had got his money out of a bank.

"Flivver jokes, prohibition jokes, Hitler-Mussolini jokes, war jokes—sympathetic to the GI and unsympathetic to the brass—deep freeze jokes, mink coat jokes, they come and go. There were jokes about the Mormons; there were jokes about old maids; there were jokes about the mother-in-law. People don't joke about the mother-in-law any more and I'm rather curious as to why not. I suspect in the first place psychology has taught us that the conflicts between parents and the people their children marry are no laughing matter. Then I suspect that mothers-in-law play a larger part in audiences today and never insult the paying customers."

Is anything permanently funny? Evans rather doubts it but suggests that young love has been a subject for humor for ages. Stupidity has been the butt of the witty for just as long. "If I were asked to guess any one thing that is likely to be universally funny, I suspect it would be the fall that awaits for pride or insolence.

"I think everyone knows the story of the woman who, stepping on a man's foot when she got out of an elevator, instead of apologizing, turned to him with a snarl and said: 'Why don't you put your big foot where it belongs' and he said 'Don't tempt me, madam'!"

In short, it's good talk. It's a shame it's only on so few stations—KDKA, Pittsburgh; WBZ-WBZA in Boston; KEX, Portland, Ore.; WOWO, Fort Wayne, Ind.; and KYW, Philadelphia.

Both sides vulnerable.

North: ♠ Q 5 2, ♥ Q J 10 5, ♦ 7 4 3, ♣ 10 5 2
West: ♠ 9 4 3, ♥ 7 2, ♦ 9 6 5 2, ♣ 8 7 4 3
East: ♠ 10 7 6, ♥ A K 9 8 6 4 3, ♦ A, ♣ J 9
South: ♠ A K J 8, ♥ —, ♦ K Q J 10 8, ♣ A K Q 6

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
2 ♦	Pass	2 NT	3 ♥
3 ♠	Pass	3 NT	Pass
4 ♣	Pass	4 ♦	Pass
6 ♦	Pass	Pass	Pass

In view of the outcome it was just as well that East didn't double six diamonds—there might have been a redouble which would have cost East-West an additional 410 points.

Incidentally, South would have been wise to pass East's three-heart bid around for North's consideration, but it was obviously tempting for South to complete the description of his own holding, to see whether a fit could be found in any of his three suits. In the final analysis, South's slam bid was something of a gamble, since North's bidding had been noncommittal throughout, but it is only fair to concede that South had a hand that induced strong temptation.

West opened the top heart, dummy's ten was put in, and South ruffed East's king with the eight of diamonds. South then laid down the diamond king, and East was in with the blank ace. Without hesitation, East returned a club, and South soon spread his cards.

If East had given closer consideration to the bidding and to South's play of the diamond eight at the first trick, he might have realized that the outstanding defensive chance lay in forcing another trump from the closed hand. There was sound reason to hope that South had started with only a five-card diamond suit, and if that was so, all East had to do was put down the heart ace in order to build a sure trump trick for his partner.

Toys For Tots Drive Continues

"Toys for Tots" containers were distributed in downtown stores yesterday in an effort to collect some new toys for needy children's Christmas.

Miss Jeannette Bonig, executive director of the Associated Charities, which distributes the toys, said the 1955 "Toys for Tots" campaign is progressing rapidly.

Repairs to the 2,500 used or damaged toys collected in October and November by Boy Scouts and local Marine Reservists have almost been completed.

The barrels have been placed in the toy departments of most commercial establishments and in some public buildings by members of the Sixth Special Infantry Company, Marine Corps Reserves.

Miss Bonig expressed the hope that people buying toys would also buy some for needy children and deposits them in the containers.

She stated that while these are prosperous times for the nation as a whole, there are still homes that will be without presents unless the current toy drive is a success.

Those still having toys that they wish to donate should contact the Associated Charities at PA 4-3411 or the Marine Corps Reserve, PA 2-1404 for pickup service.

Toys For Tots Drive Continues

"Toys for Tots" containers were distributed in downtown stores yesterday in an effort to collect some new toys for needy children's Christmas.

Miss Jeannette Bonig, executive director of the Associated Charities, which distributes the toys, said the 1955 "Toys for Tots" campaign is progressing rapidly.

Repairs to the 2,500 used or damaged toys collected in October and November by Boy Scouts and local Marine Reservists have almost been completed.

The barrels have been placed in the toy departments of most commercial establishments and in some public buildings by members of the Sixth Special Infantry Company, Marine Corps Reserves.

Miss Bonig expressed the hope that people buying toys would also buy some for needy children and deposits them in the containers.

She stated that while these are prosperous times for the nation as a whole, there are still homes that will be without presents unless the current toy drive is a success.

Those still having toys that they wish to donate should contact the Associated Charities at PA 4-3411 or the Marine Corps Reserve, PA 2-1404 for pickup service.

Changes In Gas, Oil Legislation Recommended

Report To Be Given At Council Meeting

A report on recommendations for legislation affecting gas and oil in Western Maryland will be submitted to the Legislative Council by a subcommittee of the Judiciary Committee which has been studying proposed legislation.

Del. Fred B. Driscoll (R-Allegany), a member of the subcommittee, said last night the proposed legislation will be given to the Legislative Council during its next meeting, December 6-7, at Baltimore.

Driscoll said a combination of parts of both Senate Bill 470 which was introduced at the last session by Senator Clifford Friend of Garrett County, and Senate Bill 319, which was passed in 1953 and then repealed in 1954, will be recommended in the new legislation.

No Separate Board

Certain changes also were proposed, with the subcommittee agreeing that administration of the program should not be made by a separate board but should come under the jurisdiction of the Department of Geology, Mines and Water Resources.

The committee also proposed that well drillers be required to have licenses and permits to drill in the state, submit complete reports of progress to the department, supply cutting samples, and notify the department of any abandoned wells.

The subcommittee also agreed to leave the control of the spacing of gas and oil wells on leased land under the jurisdiction of the geology department.

Many Leases Here

The Allegany County delegation, said Driscoll, is primarily interested in the legislation because more than 25,000 acres of land are under lease, and because figures from Garrett County well operations show tremendous losses.

Lack of control in the method of spacing of wells and no attempt to conserve natural resources are the primary reasons for failures, Driscoll stated, and the group wants firmer control maintained in the state.

If legislation is passed to aid the development of gas and oil in Western Maryland as well as throughout the remainder of the state, "it must be done in an orderly manner under people who are qualified to handle it," Driscoll stated.

Del. Anthony F. DiDomenico (Balto.-2nd) is chairman of the subcommittee.

2,548 Marriage Licenses Issued

With just one month of 1955 remaining, 2,548 marriage licenses have been issued this year in the office of Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court.

That total is 5.4 per cent higher than the 2,418 reported during the same period a year ago. Only 86 December licenses are needed to match last year's grand total of 2,634.

Figures compiled by Miss Phyllis Copeland, marriage license clerk in Boden's office, show that last month topped November a year ago by six, 208 to 202. The total represents a considerable decline from the year's peak of 319 licenses sold in June and matched in August. However, it is better than the first three months when the total fluctuated between a February low of 154 and 180 in January and March.

In eight of the 11 months, the 1955 license total is higher than for the corresponding month of 1954. The exceptions are March, May and July.

Totals by months with the 1954 figure listed first in each case:

January—150 and 180; February—146 and 154; March—181 and 180; April—220 and 223; May—222 and 221; June—292 and 319; July—309 and 271; August—261 and 319; September—225 and 228 October—210 and 245; November—202 and 208.

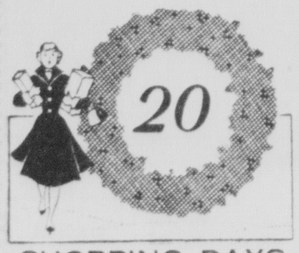
Permit Is Granted For Truck Garage

The Board of Zoning Appeals last night approved an application for a garage and turned down a bid for a paint and repair shop.

Approved was the application of George O. Thrush to build a 33 by 44-foot garage at the rear of property on Ann Place.

The garage will replace an existing building which is too small for the truck which will be housed in the new structure.

Disapproved, when nobody appeared for a hearing, was the application of Harvey W. May to build a 30 by 36 foot structure on Willowbrook Road for a repair and paint shop.



County Farm Expenditures Total $1,164,708 In 1954

Certain specified farm expenditures cost the farmers of Allegany County $1,164,708 in 1954, according to the census of agriculture.

The two chief expenditures listed in the census report are $483,850 for feed for livestock and poultry on 709 farms and $481,964 for hired labor on 249 farms.

Other expenditures cited were $91,494 for gasoline and other petroleum fuel and oil used on 488 of the farms, $60,788 for commercial fertilizer on 378 farms, $32,709 for machine hire on 266 farms and $13,903 for lime and liming materials used on 114 farms.

Farm census figures released by the U. S. Department of Commerce's Bureau of the Census also reveal that during the week of October 24, 1954, the total labor force on the Allegany County farms was 1,328.

Of that total only 460 were hired workers employed on 118 farms. The rest included 598 farm operators, 35 other family workers and 27 unpaid members of the operator's family.

Another section of the farm census report shows that farmers in this county had considerably more facilities and equipment at their disposal in 1954 than they did in 1950. For instance 458 reported telephones in 1954 compared with 240 four years earlier. Some 824 farms had electricity in 1954, 20 more than in 1950.

Also listed in the report are 348 farms with television sets, 554 with piped running water, 10 with electric pig brooders, 136 with power feed grinders, 27 with field forage harvesters and 122 farms with a total of 181 artificial ponds, reservoirs and earth tanks.

Items on which there are comparable figures for 1954 and 1950 included 78 milking machines in 1954, 30 more than four years before; 20 grain combines, up three from 1950; 32 corn pickers, 17 more than were listed in 1950; 51 pick-up hay balers, far above the 23 listed in 1950.

REV. MEREDITH HAINES

Missionaries Discuss Work At Convention

Miss Emabeth Hayes, who has served as a missionary in Colombia, South America, will present the program at 7:30 tonight at First Methodist Church in conjunction with the interdenominational missionary convention now under way there.

Rev. Everett W. Culp, pastor of the church, said that Miss Hayes will show a film on Colombia.

Saturday's activity will begin with a breakfast for men at Nave's dining room at 8 a. m. and breakfast for young people at the church at 9 a. m.

Miss Carol Harding, another missionary who has served in Colombia, will speak at the Saturday night service. She went to Colombia in 1946 and was instrumental in establishing 17 Protestant elementary day schools for the Oriental Missionary Society. This is an important part of the missionary program in Colombia because of the intense opposition to evangelicals in public schools.

A movie, "The Flame," also will be shown Saturday night.

Sunday morning at 10:45 o'clock Rev. Meredith Helsby, who has been serving as dean of the Allahabad Bible Seminary in India, will speak. That afternoon at 2:30 there will be a panorama of missions with five missionaries dressed in native costumes.

Sunday night the convention will close with Rev. Meredith Haines, former member of the faculty of the Tokyo Bible Seminary and later of the Seoul Theological Seminary in Korea, as speaker. A movie, "Souls in Transit," showing mission scenes around the world, also will be shown.

The public is invited to all services.

Ski Club Plans Meeting Sunday

The Western Maryland Ski Club will hold its second meeting of the year Sunday at 2:30 p.m. at Central YMCA here.

The purpose of the meeting is to make final arrangements for transportation to and from the four major skiing areas in the tri-state area, and for distribution of information on skiing conditions.

A general discussion concerning trends in new equipment will be held and subscription purchases to various magazines and bulletins will be discussed.

Plans regarding a trip for members to some of the ski areas of Canada and New England during the first week of February will be considered and reservations accepted. Persons interested in skiing are invited to the meeting.

Local Reservist Named Corporal

Cpl. James B. Madary, USMCR, 115 Decatur Street, was recently promoted from private first class, according to Major Patsy Algieri, commanding officer of the Sixth Special Infantry Company, USMCR.

On December 31, 1953, Cpl. Madary joined the local unit. During this year's summer camp at Camp Lejeune, N. C. he shot the highest score on the rifle range, a 227, which qualified him for the expert medal. A graduate of Fort Hill High School, he is a freshman at State Teachers College in Frostburg.

Speakers Are Named For Youth Rally Here

Rev. Hal Webb, Eastern Regional Youth For Christ evangelist, and Rev. Dale Fleming, pastor of Messiah Baptist Church, Morrisdale, Pa., will conduct the Tri-State Youth For Christ Rally Saturday at 8 p. m. in the Salvation Army Citadel.

Evangelist Webb will be the speaker and Rev. Fleming will conduct the musical program. A cornetist and vocalist, he will present various musical selections, accompanied by his wife at the piano. The public is invited to attend.

Good Progress Noted On PPG Water Line

Good progress is being made on the North Branch water line and virtually all of the pipe needed for the project has been delivered, according to William J. Edwards, commissioner of water and electric light.

By Wednesday night, he said, a total of 2,542 feet of the 18-inch water line had been installed and the line had progressed to a point near where the Mexico Farms road crosses the B&O Railroad tracks.

Wednesday, he added, resulted in the laying of 677 feet of line—the best day since the work was started November 21 by the Cumberland Contracting Company.

"The complete job will include the installation of about 27,000 feet of the spiral welded steel pipe, stretching from the site of the plant to the 36-inch water main at the Fort Hill Reservoir.

Officials said generally good construction weather has enabled the job to progress satisfactorily.

Pipe from the Armco Drainage and Metal Products Company, Middletown, Ohio, has been arriving on schedule.

Officials said 21 carloads of pipe have arrived and that two more are due today. Three or four more carloads will complete the delivery of the $167,715 order.

Missing Pet Doe Returns To Home

Ginger, the pet doe which was missing from her pen at the home of Senior Forest Supervisor Brook Bodkin near McCoole Wednesday morning, is back home now.

Bodkin said his wife discovered the two-and-one-half-year-old female deer on their property late yesterday afternoon with a rope dangling around her neck. She had no rope before. The forest supervisor reported that the rope apparently had been broken by Ginger as she broke away from her captors to return to the safety of her pen.

Rec Board Sets Non-Resident Fee Schedule

Plan Affects 1955 Basketball Leagues

The City Recreation Board last night adopted a fee schedule for non-residents who play in Recreation Department-sponsored basketball leagues.

The fee for adults was set at $5 and the fee for high school students who live outside the city limits, $2.50.

All teams are to put up the usual $10 registration fee and a $10 forfeit fee.

Roster Is Required

The Recreation Board also ruled that each team must submit a roster, giving the names and addresses of all players, certified by the team's manager.

The non-resident fees represent about cost for adults and half the cost of providing the recreation for high school students.

The action was taken after Robert E. Pence, city recreation director, reported on the basketball program which is being organized for the season.

Last year, he said, it cost the City Recreation Department $1,866 to finance the basketball program which included 38 teams in the Men's and High School leagues.

Teams Cost $50

He said the cost was about $50 per team and that each game cost about $4.60, or 23 cents per player per game—based on the use of one referee.

The department now has applications from 10 out-of-town teams.

Last year, with facilities limited, one outside team was admitted and another more distant one was kept out.

Members agreed that the full $5 fee might work a hardship for high school players, and agreed to set the fee at $2.50, which would represent about half of the cost.

Snow Sleet Is Forecast For Area

Snow and sleet were expected in Western Maryland late last night and the weatherman said it probably would change to rain today.

Similar weather conditions were forecast for nearby West Virginia and Virginia. Slowly rising temperatures are expected here and in the district during the afternoon.

Reports from West Virginia State Police at Romney and Pennsylvania State Police at Bedford indicated that no snow had fallen in those sections, although temperatures were near freezing.

Maryland State Police at LaVale said all highways were clear at 10:30 p.m. A noticeable warmup in temperatures was noted here during the afternoon yesterday and was welcomed by residents who had been shivering in below-freezing weather.

Frightened Bunny Seeks Refuge In New Water Line

Flushed from a brush pile by crews working on the line, the rabbit jumped into the trench and sought refuge in the completed section of water line.

Officials said the bunny was stopped in its tracks only a few feet short of the open line and ended up in a stew.

Had the bunny found sanctuary in the pipe, it might have been necessary, officials said, to use a ferret to dislodge the intruder from the line which will furnish water for the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company plant.

The line is boarded up at the end of work each day to prevent unwanted visitors.

The body will arrive in Keyser early Saturday morning and will be brought to the Stein Funeral Home. A graveside service will be conducted at 11 a. m. Saturday in Hillcrest Burial Park with Very Rev. J. Lawrence Kilkenny, pastor of St. Patrick's Catholic Church, in charge.

Bronze Marker Placed By VFW

Henry Hart Post 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars, has placed a bronze marker on the grave of Richard V. Zimmerman in Greenmount Cemetery, according to William L. Ranck, grave registration committeeman.

Mr. Zimmerman, a former resident, was a member of Baltimore Police Post No. 1529, which supplied the marker. He was a brother of Rev. J. F. Zimmerman, this city, who has long been active in veteran affairs.

The placing of grave markers on the resting places of deceased veterans is one of the lesser known services of the VFW, Ranck noted.

It bears the names of Eugene Raymond Morgan, John Edward Bosserman, John Thomas Acuff and Edward Joseph Carey, the four local recruiters, and covers the month of October.

Celanese Begins Production Of Fortisan-36

Celanese Corporation of America began commercial production of Fortisan-36, a new super-strong industrial fiber, Wednesday at its Rome, Ga. plant.

Harold Blancke, president, said evaluation of the new fiber by potential customers in several industries showed Fortisan-36 has properties of great strength, low elongation and dimensional stability which indicate a bright potential for it in such fields as V-belts, power transmission belting, high pressure hose, conveyor belts, truck tires, plastic laminates, filters, paper reinforcement, oil hose and tarpaulins.

"Fortisan-36 is the first synthetic fiber ever to be evaluated and produced for the use of heavy industry rather than the apparel trades," Blancke said.

He said Fortisan-36 demonstrates, much in the same manner as the recent introduction of Arnel has done, that the cellulose molecule has a greater versatility as a building block for producing fibers of highly different characteristics than the industry has yet explored.

Developed especially for industrial applications where heavy deniers are required, Fortisan-36 will be available initially in 800 and 1600 denier continuous filament. Although chemically akin to Fortisan, the regenerated cellulose yarn introduced by Celanese in 1940, Fortisan-36 is made by entirely new and different equipment.

Covering 60,000 square feet of floor space, the Fortisan-36 equipment is installed on three different floor levels to take advantage of gravity flow. The installation is so designed that raw materials can be charged into the system on the third floor and, after mixing filtration, spinning and saponification, emerge on the first floor as a finished product.

In the spinning machines—designed by Celanese—the acetate "dope" (a molasses-like solution) is continuously extruded, saponified, washed, dried and collected on either eight-pound bobbins or parallel tubes. No further processing is required after spinning, the yarn being ready for packaging on beams or cones.

Two Accidents In Area Mar S-D Record

Woman Hospitalized In Garrett County

S-D Day, Safe Driving Day, was not accident-free in Cumberland and area yesterday, with at least two mishaps reported, including one in which a woman was hospitalized.

Locally, a truck and an automobile were involved in a crash at an intersection and broke a fire hydrant.

No one was reported injured in the accident which occurred about 1:30 p. m. at the intersection of Valley and North Centre streets.

A delivery truck, belonging to Kellough's Pharmacy and operated by Kenneth Johnson on Valley Street, was reported to have collided with an auto belonging to McFarland Motors, Frostburg, which was headed west on North Centre Street.

Hydrant Is Broken

After the truck rammed into the right rear of the auto, the car was shoved into a nearby hydrant, which was snapped off at ground level.

City Police said they did not get a call on the crash. A spokesman for the City Water Department said water was not leaking from the broken hydrant, and that it would be replaced today.

Icy road conditions were blamed by Maryland State Police for a two-car crash in Garrett County which sent one person to the hospital.

Admitted to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Oakland, was Althea J. Snyder, 46, of Jennings, who suffered multiple lacerations about her face.

State Police gave this account of the accident which occurred at 11:30 a. m. on the Glendale Road near Deep Creek Lake:

A car driven by Mervin Clay Snyder, 18, of Jennings, was traveling west along the highway. As the car went out of control on an icy section of road, it slid into the path of a vehicle being driven by David Bliss Fike, 51, Hazelton, W. Va.

Police said the probable cause of the accident was speed too great for existing road conditions. Cpl. Sam Conrad of the Maryland State Police investigated.

Minor Mishap Reported

In Frostburg last night two cars were involved in a minor accident which was described as a "crumpled fender" mishap in front of the Elks Home.

A check with West Virginia State Police at Romney late last night indicated that they had no reports on accidents in that sector.

Everything was reported "quiet" in the Bedford, Pa., area and State Police there said there had been no reported accidents on the highways.

Relief Materials Sought Here

A truck from the Church World Service Center at New Windsor will be in Cumberland on Monday to pick up relief materials.

Collection centers are at First Presbyterian Church, Washington Street, and at Living Stone Church of the Brethren, Second and Cedar streets.

A regular collection is made every three months, and includes canned foods, new and used clothing, fats for soap making, and other materials.

Collections are made by the Council of Church Women, local churches and interested church people. Two or three tons of material are usually collected each quarter.

Materials will be received at either of the local collection centers. They are taken to New Windsor, where they will be processed for shipment to areas of need in all parts of the world.

School Pump Fails, Pupils Get Holiday

Pupils at McCoole Elementary School are having some unexpected school holidays because of a breakdown of the system which supplies the school with well water.

The difficulty was discovered Wednesday afternoon. Yesterday there was no school but the teachers and principal, Paul M. Arbogast, reported for duty.

Today Arbogast has scheduled just a half day of school with the school buses to take the children home at 11:30 a. m. in time for lunch at home. The pipe carrying the water from the well to the pump is worn out and is being replaced. Joseph T. Downey, supervisor of maintenance in the county public schools, expects the work to be finished by noon today.

Changes In Gas, Oil Legislation Recommended

Report To Be Given At Council Meeting

A report on recommendations for legislation affecting gas and oil in Western Maryland will be submitted to the Legislative Council by a subcommittee of the Judiciary Committee which has been studying proposed legislation.

Del. Fred B. Driscoll (R-Allegany), a member of the subcommittee, said last night the proposed legislation will be given to the Legislative Council during its next meeting, December 6-7, at Baltimore.

Driscoll said a combination of parts of both Senate Bill 470 which was introduced at the last session by Senator Clifford Friend of Garrett County, and Senate Bill 319, which was passed in 1953 and then repealed in 1954, will be recommended in the new legislation.

No Separate Board

Certain changes also were proposed, with the subcommittee agreeing that administration of the program should not be made by a separate board but should come under the jurisdiction of the Department of Geology, Mines and Water Resources.

The committee also proposed that well drillers be required to have licenses and permits to drill in the state, submit complete reports of progress to the department, supply cutting samples, and notify the department of any abandoned wells.

The subcommittee also agreed to leave the control of the spacing of gas and oil wells on leased land under the jurisdiction of the geology department.

Many Leases Here

The Allegany County delegation, said Driscoll, is primarily interested in the legislation because more than 25,000 acres of land are under lease, and because figures from Garrett County well operations show tremendous losses.

Lack of control in the method of spacing of wells and no attempt to conserve natural resources are the primary reasons for failures, Driscoll stated, and the group wants firmer control maintained in the state.

If legislation is passed to aid the development of gas and oil in Western Maryland as well as throughout the remainder of the state, "it must be done in an orderly manner under people who are qualified to handle it," Driscoll stated.

Del. Anthony F. DiDomenico (Balto.-2nd) is chairman of the subcommittee.

2,548 Marriage Licenses Issued

With just one month of 1955 remaining, 2,548 marriage licenses have been issued this year in the office of Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court.

That total is 5.4 per cent higher than the 2,418 reported during the same period a year ago. Only 86 December licenses are needed to match last year's grand total of 2,634.

Figures compiled by Miss Phyllis Copeland, marriage license clerk in Boden's office, show that last month topped November a year ago by six, 208 to 202. The total represents a considerable decline from the year's peak of 319 licenses sold in June and matched in August. However, it is better than the first three months when the total fluctuated between a February low of 154 and 180 in January and March.

In eight of the 11 months, the 1955 license total is higher than for the corresponding month of 1954. The exceptions are March, May and July.

Totals by months with the 1954 figure listed first in each case:

January—150 and 180; February—146 and 154; March—181 and 180; April—220 and 223; May—222 and 221; June—292 and 319; July—309 and 271; August—261 and 319; September—225 and 228 October—210 and 245; November—202 and 208.

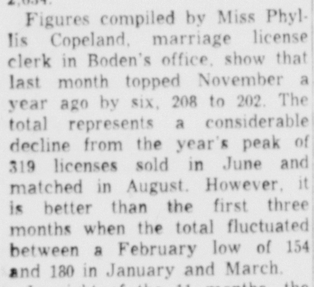
Permit Is Granted For Truck Garage

The Board of Zoning Appeals last night approved an application for a garage and turned down a bid for a paint and repair shop.

Approved was the application of George O. Thrush to build a 33 by 44-foot garage at the rear of property on Ann Place.

The garage will replace an existing building which is too small for the truck which will be housed in the new structure.

Disapproved, when nobody appeared for a hearing, was the application of Harvey W. May to build a 30 by 36 foot structure on Willowbrook Road for a repair and paint shop.



County Farm Expenditures Total $1,164,708 In 1954

Certain specified farm expenditures cost the farmers of Allegany County $1,164,708 in 1954, according to the census of agriculture.

The two chief expenditures listed in the census report are $483,850 for feed for livestock and poultry on 709 farms and $481,964 for hired labor on 249 farms.

Other expenditures cited were $91,494 for gasoline and other petroleum fuel and oil used on 488 of the farms, $60,788 for commercial fertilizer on 378 farms, $32,709 for machine hire on 266 farms and $13,903 for lime and liming materials used on 114 farms.

Farm census figures released by the U. S. Department of Commerce's Bureau of the Census also reveal that during the week of October 24, 1954, the total labor force on the Allegany County farms was 1,328.

Of that total only 460 were hired workers employed on 118 farms. The rest included 598 farm operators, 35 other family workers and 27 unpaid members of the operator's family.

Another section of the farm census report shows that farmers in this county had considerably more facilities and equipment at their disposal in 1954 than they did in 1950. For instance 458 reported telephones in 1954 compared with 240 four years earlier. Some 824 farms had electricity in 1954, 20 more than in 1950.

Also listed in the report are 348 farms with television sets, 554 with piped running water, 10 with electric pig brooders, 136 with power feed grinders, 27 with field forage harvesters and 122 farms with a total of 181 artificial ponds, reservoirs and earth tanks.

Items on which there are comparable figures for 1954 and 1950 included 78 milking machines in 1954, 30 more than four years before; 20 grain combines, up three from 1950; 32 corn pickers, 17 more than were listed in 1950; 51 pick-up hay balers, far above the 23 listed in 1950.

REV. MEREDITH HAINES

Missionaries Discuss Work At Convention

Miss Emabeth Hayes, who has served as a missionary in Colombia, South America, will present the program at 7:30 tonight at First Methodist Church in conjunction with the interdenominational missionary convention now under way there.

Rev. Everett W. Culp, pastor of the church, said that Miss Hayes will show a film on Colombia.

Saturday's activity will begin with a breakfast for men at Nave's dining room at 8 a. m. and breakfast for young people at the church at 9 a. m.

Miss Carol Harding, another missionary who has served in Colombia, will speak at the Saturday night service. She went to Colombia in 1946 and was instrumental in establishing 17 Protestant elementary day schools for the Oriental Missionary Society. This is an important part of the missionary program in Colombia because of the intense opposition to evangelicals in public schools.

A movie, "The Flame," also will be shown Saturday night.

Sunday morning at 10:45 o'clock Rev. Meredith Helsby, who has been serving as dean of the Allahabad Bible Seminary in India, will speak. That afternoon at 2:30 there will be a panorama of missions with five missionaries dressed in native costumes.

Sunday night the convention will close with Rev. Meredith Haines, former member of the faculty of the Tokyo Bible Seminary and later of the Seoul Theological Seminary in Korea, as speaker. A movie, "Souls in Transit," showing mission scenes around the world, also will be shown.

The public is invited to all services.

Ski Club Plans Meeting Sunday

The Western Maryland Ski Club will hold its second meeting of the year Sunday at 2:30 p.m. at Central YMCA here.

The purpose of the meeting is to make final arrangements for transportation to and from the four major skiing areas in the tri-state area, and for distribution of information on skiing conditions.

A general discussion concerning trends in new equipment will be held and subscription purchases to various magazines and bulletins will be discussed.

Plans regarding a trip for members to some of the ski areas of Canada and New England during the first week of February will be considered and reservations accepted. Persons interested in skiing are invited to the meeting.

Cpl. James B. Madary, USMCR, 115 Decatur Street, was recently promoted from private first class, according to Major Patsy Algieri, commanding officer of the Sixth Special Infantry Company, USMCR.

On December 31, 1953, Cpl. Madary joined the local unit. During this year's summer camp at Camp Lejeune, N. C. he shot the highest score on the rifle range, a 227, which qualified him for the expert medal. A graduate of Fort Hill High School, he is a freshman at State Teachers College in Frostburg.

Speakers Are Named For Youth Rally Here

Rev. Hal Webb, Eastern Regional Youth For Christ evangelist, and Rev. Dale Fleming, pastor of Messiah Baptist Church, Morrisdale, Pa., will conduct the Tri-State Youth For Christ Rally Saturday at 8 p. m. in the Salvation Army Citadel.

Good Progress Noted On PPG Water Line

Good progress is being made on the North Branch water line and virtually all of the pipe needed for the project has been delivered, according to William J. Edwards, commissioner of water and electric light.

By Wednesday night, he said, a total of 2,542 feet of the 18-inch water line had been installed and the line had progressed to a point near where the Mexico Farms road crosses the B&O Railroad tracks.

Wednesday, he added, resulted in the laying of 677 feet of line—the best day since the work was started November 21 by the Cumberland Contracting Company.

The complete job will include the installation of about 27,000 feet of the spiral welded steel pipe, stretching from the site of the plant to the 36-inch water main at the Fort Hill Reservoir.

Officials said generally good construction weather has enabled the job to progress satisfactorily.

Pipe from the Armco Drainage and Metal Products Company, Middletown, Ohio, has been arriving on schedule.

Officials said 21 carloads of pipe have arrived and that two more are due today. Three or four more carloads will complete the delivery of the $167,715 order.

Missing Pet Doe Returns To Home

Ginger, the pet doe which was missing from her pen at the home of Senior Forest Supervisor Brook Bodkin near McCoole Wednesday morning, is back home now.

Bodkin said his wife discovered the two-and-one-half-year-old female deer on their property late yesterday afternoon with a rope dangling around her neck. She had no rope before. The forest supervisor reported that the rope apparently had been broken by Ginger as she broke away from her captors to return to the safety of her pen.

Two Talks Planned On Voting Machines

Rec Board Sets Non-Resident Fee Schedule

Plan Affects 1955 Basketball Leagues

The City Recreation Board last night adopted a fee schedule for non-residents who play in Recreation Department-sponsored basketball leagues.

The fee for adults was set at $5 and the fee for high school students who live outside the city limits, $2.50.

All teams are to put up the usual $10 registration fee and a $10 forfeit fee.

Roster Is Required

The Recreation Board also ruled that each team must submit a roster, giving the names and addresses of all players, certified by the team's manager.

The non-resident fees represent about cost for adults and half the cost of providing the recreation for high school students.

The action was taken after Robert E. Pence, city recreation director, reported on the basketball program which is being organized for the season.

Last year, he said, it cost the City Recreation Department $1,866 to finance the basketball program which included 38 teams in the Men's and High School leagues.

Teams Cost $50

He said the cost was about $50 per team and that each game cost about $4.60, or 23 cents per player per game—based on the use of one referee.

The department now has applications from 10 out-of-town teams.

Last year, with facilities limited, one outside team was admitted and another more distant one was kept out.

Members agreed that the full $5 fee might work a hardship for high school players, and agreed to set the fee at $2.50, which would represent about half of the cost.

Snow Sleet Is Forecast For Area

Snow and sleet were expected in Western Maryland late last night and the weatherman said it probably would change to rain today.

Similar weather conditions were forecast for nearby West Virginia and Virginia. Slowly rising temperatures are expected here and in the district during the afternoon.

Reports from West Virginia State Police at Romney and Pennsylvania State Police at Bedford indicated that no snow had fallen in those sections, although temperatures were near freezing.

Maryland State Police at LaVale said all highways were clear at 10:30 p.m. A noticeable warmup in temperatures was noted here during the afternoon yesterday and was welcomed by residents who had been shivering in below-freezing weather.

Ridgeley High Play Tonight

Frightened Bunny Seeks Refuge In New Water Line

Flushed from a brush pile by crews working on the line, the rabbit jumped into the trench and sought refuge in the completed section of water line.

Officials said the bunny was stopped in its tracks only a few feet short of the open line and ended up in a stew.

Had the bunny found sanctuary in the pipe, it might have been necessary, officials said, to use a ferret to dislodge the intruder from the line which will furnish water for the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company plant.

The line is boarded up at the end of work each day to prevent unwanted visitors.

Celanese Begins Production Of Fortisan-36

Celanese Corporation of America began commercial production of Fortisan-36, a new super-strong industrial fiber, Wednesday at its Rome, Ga. plant.

Harold Blancke, president, said evaluation of the new fiber by potential customers in several industries showed Fortisan-36 has properties of great strength, low elongation and dimensional stability which indicate a bright potential for it in such fields as V-belts, power transmission belting, high pressure hose, conveyor belts, truck tires, plastic laminates, filters, paper reinforcement, oil hose and tarpaulins.

"Fortisan-36 is the first synthetic fiber ever to be evaluated and produced for the use of heavy industry rather than the apparel trades," Blancke said.

He said Fortisan-36 demonstrates, much in the same manner as the recent introduction of Arnel has done, that the cellulose molecule has a greater versatility as a building block for producing fibers of highly different characteristics than the industry has yet explored.

Developed especially for industrial applications where heavy deniers are required, Fortisan-36 will be available initially in 800 and 1600 denier continuous filament. Although chemically akin to Fortisan, the regenerated cellulose yarn introduced by Celanese in 1940, Fortisan-36 is made by entirely new and different equipment.

Covering 60,000 square feet of floor space, the Fortisan-36 equipment is installed on three different floor levels to take advantage of gravity flow. The installation is so designed that raw materials can be charged into the system on the third floor and, after mixing filtration, spinning and saponification, emerge on the first floor as a finished product.

In the spinning machines—designed by Celanese—the acetate "dope" (a molasses-like solution) is continuously extruded, saponified, washed, dried and collected on either eight-pound bobbins or parallel tubes. No further processing is required after spinning, the yarn being ready for packaging on beams or cones.

Two Accidents In Area Mar S-D Record

Woman Hospitalized In Garrett County

S-D Day, Safe Driving Day, was not accident-free in Cumberland and area yesterday, with at least two mishaps reported, including one in which a woman was hospitalized.

Locally, a truck and an automobile were involved in a crash at an intersection and broke a fire hydrant.

No one was reported injured in the accident which occurred about 1:30 p. m. at the intersection of Valley and North Centre streets.

A delivery truck, belonging to Kellough's Pharmacy and operated by Kenneth Johnson on Valley Street, was reported to have collided with an auto belonging to McFarland Motors, Frostburg, which was headed west on North Centre Street.

Hydrant Is Broken

After the truck rammed into the right rear of the auto, the car was shoved into a nearby hydrant, which was snapped off at ground level.

City Police said they did not get a call on the crash. A spokesman for the City Water Department said water was not leaking from the broken hydrant, and that it would be replaced today.

Icy road conditions were blamed by Maryland State Police for a two-car crash in Garrett County which sent one person to the hospital.

Admitted to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Oakland, was Althea J. Snyder, 46, of Jennings, who suffered multiple lacerations about her face.

State Police gave this account of the accident which occurred at 11:30 a. m. on the Glendale Road near Deep Creek Lake:

A car driven by Mervin Clay Snyder, 18, of Jennings, was traveling west along the highway. As the car went out of control on an icy section of road, it slid into the path of a vehicle being driven by David Bliss Fike, 51, Hazelton, W. Va.

Police said the probable cause of the accident was speed too great for existing road conditions. Cpl. Sam Conrad of the Maryland State Police investigated.

Minor Mishap Reported

In Frostburg last night two cars were involved in a minor accident which was described as a "crumpled fender" mishap in front of the Elks Home.

A check with West Virginia State Police at Romney late last night indicated that they had no reports on accidents in that sector.

Everything was reported "quiet" in the Bedford, Pa., area and State Police there said there had been no reported accidents on the highways.
